It's really a matter of knowing how, and then, dear sir, then your suit is here. Yes even if you're one of those large, heavy fellows that the only clothing store thinks it is too much trouble to bother for. Stout suits are always found at Jenkins, and as for the students. Suits $30, $35, $40, $45 and $50.

The next morning he sent a messenger to Mrs. Leishman to ask her to send the fan to him and he would write his name in ink. Mrs. Leishman sent the fan, but when it was returned to her the autograph had been carefully effaced and the initials "A. H." set in diamonds substituted in its stead.

Sir William Mulock is expected to return to Canada by September 1st. Sir Frederick Borden and Hon. William Paterson will not return until about the middle of the month.

The 43rd Duke of Cornwall's rifles have been ordered to furnish an arrival in Ottawa. The usual salute of eleven guns will also be given him. The G.O.C. is expected on Saturday.

They also suggest that the speed of looms be reduced, so that one woman can run eight with the same ease that four are run at present.

AN OFFER MADE.

The C.P.R. Company Will Run the Service.

London, July 25.—A dispatch from Montreal to the Times says it is understood that the Canadian Pacific railway company, at the request of the Canadian ministers now in London, has telegraphed an offer to establish and run a weekly fast passenger service, composed of four steamers, with the most modern equipment, and with a speed of twenty knots an hour, between Quebec and Liverpool in the summer, and Halifax and Liverpool in the winter, towing ten or eleven steamers of good speed, fitted with cold storage and all other modern appliances. The exact conditions of the offer are not known, but they, doubtless, figure within the amount asked for by certain English steamship lines, namely, a subsidy of $1,300,000 annually. It will be necessary for the Canadian Pacific company, should a steamship contract be awarded to it, to obtain special arrangements with the minister of railways for the transportation of passengers and freight between St. John and Halifax in the winter, but there is no doubt that this could be easily accomplished.

The Times editorially assumes that such an offer was not made without knowledge of the conditions the imperial government is prepared to accede. It says it is a good augury that the proposal emanates from a company that has already given proof that it can conduct a great ocean service on sound business lines.

J. S. Morgan & Co., the London branch of J. P. Morgan & Co., when some concerning published statements that the completion of the purchase of shares in steamship companies by the shipping combine had been delayed, said to a representative of the press: "There is no delay in the payment for shares. The contracts with all the companies concerned, sealed and delivered, give us until December 31st to complete payment. We do not propose to act inside this limit."

HOW THEY GOT THEM.

The Way Petitions Were Signed—Money Coming Forth.

Hely-Hutchinson, governor of the Cape Colony, for transmission to the colonial secretary, a petition in which those favoring a suspension of the constitution obtained signatures of obtained signatures of the petition from 1,000 of Great Britain and the colonies encamped here, and also from children and colored women.

Reports from the Orange River Colony show that the burghers have plenty of gold money. There is a great demand for building material.

The wound is granulating well, but the king still keeps a steady regimen, and an abundance of food has not yet left his couch. He is moved from the bed to the couch daily, and is wheeled on deck when the weather permits."

"There is no truth in the statement that he has fainted, nor is there anything in the report that he is worse. His majesty's health is excellent."

Ontario Pirates Drowned.

GREAT PUGILISTIC CONTEST.

FITZSIMMONS AND JEFFRIES MEET TO-NIGHT.

Jeffries is the Favorite—A Long Fight Not Expected—Fitzsimmons Has a Chance if He Keeps Clear Long Enough.

San Francisco, Cal., July 25.—James J. Jeffries of California, champion heavyweight pugilist of the world, and Robert Fitzsimmons, who has hopes of regaining the championship honors he lost to Jeffries at Coney Island three years ago, meet in the arena of the National athletic club to-night to contest again for the supremacy. The men are matched to fight twenty rounds, if present arrangements are carried out the boxers will face one another shortly after nine o'clock. According to reports from their respective training quarters, Jeffries and Fitzsimmons are both in first class physical condition.

From the hour the match was made Jeffries has been a decided favorite over Fitzsimmons in the betting. Those who have staked their money on the champion have in mind the fact that he did the trick of a pugilist can do it again. Besides, the champion has a most decided advantage in regard to age and in addition he is taller, heavier, and has slightly longer reach than the Cornishman. It is conceded by all followers of the game that Jeffries has improved in science since he won the championship. He is no longer the free-air fighter of the dashaway school. His best hold is a left rip, such as Dixon used with great effect in his palmy days. He is also handy with the right at the ribs. He is quick on his feet, gritty and aggressive and with his many natural advantages it is difficult to figure out how the Cornishman can withstand his sledgehammer blows. In the old days Jeffries slashed out the whole of his jaw, paying little regard to pugilistic economy. He had a habit of striking with the big joints of his thumb. As a consequence he frequently crippled his hands early in the contest, and for the balance of the fight he was as helpless as a dismasted vessel wallowing in the trough of a heavy sea. During the past three years, however, he has met and defeated a number of good men, and in addition has sparred with a scientific fighter than the pugilist at whose hands he met defeat at Coney Island.

With these facts borne in mind it is difficult to figure out how the Cornishman has any show to lower Jeffries' odds. But those who are acquainted with ring matters know that Fitzsimmons is no ordinary mortal. He has outlived, in an athletic sense, all the middle and heavyweights of his generation. He has reversed the rule by building up muscle and substance when symptoms of physical shrinkage might be looked for. He is to all intents and purposes a late flowering plant, and it is just possible that the respite of two years since he did any fighting has benefited rather than hurt him. White-shredded victors naturally favor the champion, there are many who would not be surprised if Jeffries perched on the banners of "Jumpy Bob." For Fitzsimmons is a man of surprises. On more than one occasion he has turned defeat into victory. By his tactics he has kept opponents away from him when they might have finished him. Others he has led on only to put them hors de combat when they least expected it. He still retains that famous "old knock-out blow." Unless he has retrograded more than critics suppose he is still one of the most dangerous men in the world at close quarters. While the rings in reality he is all eyes and fists, and, possessing force, no one knows better how to apply it.

As regards condition, both men appear to be in excellent fettle. While neither has left a stone unturned to harden himself for the contest, a long fight is not expected. Each man is a willing performer, and the result should be arrived at before half a dozen rounds have been fought. Fitzsimmons realizes that his only chance rests in keeping away from the big champion long enough to get in that one knock-out blow of his. And it will have to be a hard blow at that, for Jeffries, with his massive jaw and thick ribs, is built for heavy weather.

above all he possesses recuperative powers which Fitzsimmons lacks, because of his advanced years.

Haytiens Want Fouchard.

Washington, D.C., July 25.—In view of the recent political disturbances in Hayti the result of the insular election which takes place to-day, is awaited with considerable interest. The last authentic advice from the republic stated that the election of Fouchard to the presidency is practically assured. Fouchard is said to be the man most Haytiens want because he has their confidence and they believe him to be strong enough to cope with the present situation and restore the order which is necessary for the political and commercial welfare of the country.

She said she wanted him locked up until he could sober up. Radtke heard of the action his wife had begun and, becoming infuriated, went to the house, brutally beat his wife and child, leaving them nearly dead. In the morning, when Mrs. Radtke and her daughter started to prepare breakfast they discovered that Paris green had been put in the coffee pot, the tea kettle and in various dishes and articles of food, in quantities sufficient to kill three families. It is the belief of the company that there is a gas belt in the vicinity of the new well, and its agents have leased all the farms in the neighborhood, comprising upwards of 2,000 acres.

ARE YOU A PILGRIM?
A New Club That Promises to be Successful.

London, July 25.—The organization of the new Anglo-American association, which is to be known as the Pilgrim, and which is to be somewhat of the plan of the Gridiron club, of Washington, was discussed at a meeting at the Carlton, last evening, under the chairmanship of lord Grenfell. Headquarters will first be established in London and New York, and it is hoped that branches will be opened later in Paris, Berlin, Washington, Chicago and other centres.

Rooms will be engaged at the Carlton hotel, in London, and at the Waldorf-Astoria, in New York. Subscription of membership is not to exceed ten dollars.

A letter was read from field marshal lord Roberts expressing sympathy with the objects of the association. Similar letters were received from lord Strathcona, the Canadian high commissioner in London; lord Alverston, the lord chief justice; baron Rothschild, Sir Henry Irving, the Right Rev. Charles Riley, bishop of Perth, Western Australia; Capt. Lambton, R.N., and J. D. Rockefeller, junior.

The aims of the association are to promote the comfort of English travellers in New York and Americans in London, and the belief is expressed that its establishment will materially strengthen the cordial relations between the two countries. Lord Roberts was nominated as honorary president and lord Grenfell and senator Chaucey M. Depew and Capt. Lambton, as vice-presidents. It is proposed to arrange a great Anglo-American banquet in London to celebrate the king's recovery on or about coronation day.
