FIGHT SHARKS IN WATER.

DARING OF HAWAII'S SKILLED DIVERS BENEATH SEA.

Hunting of the Nihi, a Monster Now Fast Disappearing, and His Leading Home, a Prisoner to Execution—Human Flesh Formerly the Cheapest Bait.

The shark now, as he has always done, occupies an unique position in the Hawaiian islands.

Although the waters surrounding the islands are infested with sharks, it is rarely that a native fisherman exhibits any fear of them.

THE NATIVES divide the sharks frequenting Hawaiian waters into five species, as follows:

The hammer-headed and white-finned sharks are captured in gill nets, or by means of other devices.

THE HAMMER-HEADED and white-finned sharks are captured in gill nets.

SPORTS IN GENERAL

Notes About the Various Sporting Fields.

Peter C. Knowles, the erstwhile field captain of the Toronto race club, who has been in retirement for a year, will break into the game again next week.

William Simpson, of Winnipeg won the western Canadian trap shooting championship, and the United States team got the international trophy, at the Winnipeg exhibition.

The Fort Erie meeting covered thirty-eight days and was remarkably free from accidents, though the fields were large and the track more often muddy than dry.

WHERE THEY WOULD STAND.

United States Would be Behind Britain.

Paris, July 26.—In an article on the foreign policy of the United States, M. Pierre de Marguerite expresses the opinion that the Monroe doctrine has been placed on the background, and that the United States is now looking forward to becoming the keystone of a gigantic Anglo-Saxon federation.

M. de Marguerite says he believes that if South Africa should be attacked or Australia threatened, or if misfortune should overtake Great Britain, it would be seen that blood is thicker than water and the star-spangled banner would become the flag of the Anglo-Saxon race.
