THE ALDERMEN IN SESSION HOT ARGUMENT OVER A PAINTING CONTRACT.

Wanted Property Committee Report Sent Back for Reconsideration—The Committee Scored for Loose Management of Affairs.

Though the council chamber had a temperature almost as high as a baker's oven, it did not prevent the city fathers having a prolonged session last evening. The principal item of business was consideration of the report of the city property committee, and one clause of this regarding painting roofs of the city buildings, evoked a long discussion, but eventually the report carried.

By-laws were adopted, fixing the assessment of the hoistery mill plant at $3,000 for a period of two years, ending December 31st, 1903, and naming J. S. Skinner as a member of the court of revision, in place of the late William Muehler. The hoistery mill by-law is a copy of the old one under which exemption was enjoyed; only it prolongs the term for two more years.

The members present were: Mayor Shaw, Ald. Behan, Craig, Farrell, Graham, Harkness, Hipson, Knapp, Mallen, McLeod, Sears, White, Tait, Dunlop, Bell and Abbott. Before proceeding with business, Mayor Shaw announced the action of the finance committee in deciding to present awards of honor to two returning South African veterans, he felt assured that council would sustain the action of the finance committee. Also, that owing to the death of William Muehler, he had appointed J. S. Skinner a member of the court of revision.

Could Not Comply. At Monday night's meeting of the city council C. H. Powell, the new market lease, laid a communication before the members, asking to be relieved of the necessity of furnishing two sureties for the twelve notes he must give, in addition to two bonds. The petitioner had never asked a man to back his note; he holds property free of encumbrance, and assessed at double the amount of his accepted tender. It was found that the council had not the power to comply, as the sureties must be provided in order to comply with a by-law governing the matter.

SUMMER INSURANCE SCHOOL. J. J. Harpell Representing Queen's at a Novel Gathering. On Saturday last J. J. Harpell, of Queen's university, left for New York to attend the summer school in life insurance for young men attending college. From time to time during the past few years discussion has arisen as to the advisability of establishing a fair of insurance in various colleges. The Equitable Life assurance society, after giving the matter thorough consideration, decided to start such a summer school. In March last, G. E. Tarbell, president of the Equitable, sent out a letter to the presidents of the various colleges in this country, setting forth the object of the school, and coinciding with this paragraph: "It is our desire to have this class as largely as possible composed of young men who have worked their way through college, in whole or in part, or of men who are especially recommended to us as desirable by reason of their work during their college course. We would be very glad to have a few of the members of this class come to us from your university. It is our purpose to pay the necessary expense of the members of this class during the course of instruction, which will probably last from thirty to sixty days, and at the end of that time we propose to try to furnish to such members as show an adaptability to our business, situations in connection with our various general agencies, where they can receive a guaranteed income, with the opportunity, through industry and perseverance, of making the income several times the amount."

As a result of this movement the school began with a class of upwards of 100 ambitious young men, specially selected and recommended, Mr. Harpell being the representative of Queen's university. No text books will be used, the instruction being given verbally by the best authorities in the various departments of the business. This is an entirely new idea in life insurance, and the experiment seems to be one well worth while and deserving of warm commendation. Besides Mr. Harpell, there is only one other Canadian in attendance, a graduate of Toronto university.

Assaulted Her Children. Mrs. Arthur Stevens, Queen street, last evening complained to the police of the conduct of some neighbor's children, who assaulted her little children. A good sized boy struck her son with a stone, and when remonstrated with, angrily repeated the assault. The boy may be summoned before the police magistrate. He is Doing Well. John Duff, New York, formerly of Hanley's ticket office, is in the city visiting his parents. He is now private secretary for the head of the American Snuff company, a branch of the American Tobacco company. Since leaving Kingston he has advanced in position in the American metropolis.

AS SIR FREDERICK SAW US WHAT APPEARED MOST TO THIS CHRONICLER.

The Book is Conspicuous for Information About Canada Which it Does Not Contain—A Visit to Queen's. When the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall visited Kingston the city had a distinguished visitor in Sir Frederick Young, president of the Colonial Institute, and he has written a book upon his trip, "A Pioneer of Imperial Federation in Canada," 7c. 6d. The author claims to be the foremost pioneer because thirty years ago he took up the cause of imperial federation, "led by an irresistible impulse." The book is a delightfully frank and ingenuous record. The reader would never imagine that the Atlantic voyage was other than a terrible conflict with nature beset with perils. All that Canada has to show on a first arrival is set out from page to page as he peeps into a fast strange land; how wet it is apt to be under the falls of Niagara, how hospitable the Canadian can be upon the smallest provocation, what an ordeal it is to get through the immense railway station and Canada buses with which the hospitable Canadian besets the visitor as he passes through such cities as Toronto and Ottawa; how eloquent Canadians are of the stamp of Sir Sanford Fleming and Dr. Parkin and upon one occasion how some imperial themes are under discussion; how like a French town of olden times is the city of Quebec; how grand and mighty in a word is the whole Dominion of Canada. All this Sir Frederick brings before us, and though he were another Columbus discovering another western land. Innumerable speeches are reproduced from Canadian newspapers.

But the joy of all was being within touch and sight of the royal visitor to have the shake of hands, and to be specially deputed with Sir Sandford to perform the actual ceremony of tree planting in Kingston on their behalf. Other local incidents, at the Military and Queen's Colleges, must in justice be left to Sir Frederick's own words. "The duke turned round to me and begged me to sit down, which, at his royal highness's command, I accordingly did, and sat with the royal visitors until the gymnastic performance ended. They afterwards went over the college, and on finally leaving, the duke, shaking hands with me, thanked me again for my presence."

In passing through the library of Kingston university, of which a clever and accomplished woman, Miss Saunders, is the librarian, another gratifying surprise, as well as a very great compliment, was paid to me. Miss Pearl Shannon, Spencerville, returned home to-day, accompanied by her niece, Miss Edith Shannon, after spending some time with her grand parents, Albert street. The death of John Macdonnell, formerly identified with the wholesale dry-goods trade of Montreal, took place on Friday last at "Hillside," near Picton, Ont., of apoplexy. Deceased was in his fifty-fourth year. Rev. Dr. Ansell, chairman of the Methodist district of Kingston, visited Stella on Monday night and conferred with the officials of the church there. The church on the island is in charge of Mr. Bowen, a probationer.

Another ridiculous food fad has been tried by the most competent authorities. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses daily stimulate the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get this reliable remedy at Wade's drug store.

Popular Band Concerts. Charles R. Webster and L. C. Lockett, who are soliciting subscriptions to defray the cost of band concerts in the park, are meeting with a good degree of success. Last season $225 was collected for this purpose, but owing to the lateness of the season for which the proposal took form this year, the promoters will be lucky to get half that sum. It is likely that the first of the series of concerts will be given in Macdonald park on Thursday evening.

Is Opposed to Exemption. Ald. Hipson was the only member of council who objected to the Kingston Hoistery company's bill being granted a further period of exemption. He placed himself on record at last night's meeting of council as being opposed to exemption in any form, and voted "nay" on the passing of the exemption by-law.

Will Be A Candidate. Alderman Graham is determined to be a mayoralty candidate for 1903. He declared last evening that he was in the field to remain against all comers. If defeated this time he will try again in 1904. He is the second oldest member of council and will not be side-tracked.

Well Made. Pure flour and pure yeast do not necessarily mean a good bread. It may be spoiled in the making. Just so: material is not everything. Prof. W. Hodgson—Bills, Official Analyst to the Dominion Government after a number of analyses, reports that "Sunlight Soap is a pure and well-made soap." "Well made" means more than you think. Try Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar—next wash day, and you will enjoy the benefits of a "well-made" soap, and will see that Prof. Ellis is right. No one should know better than he.
