Chamberlain Announces Policy Toward South Africa

TRADITIONS.

They will Help to Secure Pros-Pay the Cost of the War-No Punishment For Mine Owners.

London, July 30.-Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's appearance in the house yesterday was marked by a speech which won the applause even of such opponents as Henry Labouchere, Mr. Chamberlain dealt comprehensively with the past and future of South Africa. "We have no intention," he declared, "that the Boers should break with their old traditions. We desire that they should preserve all the best characteristics of their race, and hope they will shake hands with us, thus securing prosperity for South Africa under the flag which protects different races and different religions." This sentiment was the keynote of the speech. committee, the young lady and young Dealing with the much discussed lagentlemen performers all speak in the bor questions. Mr. Chamberlain said be believed every inducement to labor should be held out to the blacks, but, he said, no scheme of compulsory labor would receive the slightest government support. There was no intention of packing the country with Britishers, but so much Transvaal land was lying idle that the colonies could only be made a great corn producing factor by bringing in British settlers. The colonial secretary's appearance was the first since the recent accident in which he was hurt. He was greeted with hearty cheering, and later he was warmly congratulated by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, liberal

> Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman supplemented his congratulations by asking for information of the colonial conference. He expressed the hope that lenient treatment would be extended to the Boers in South Africa.

Mr. Chamberlain replied that the one spirit animating the members of the conference was the desire to draw closer together the constituent parts the empire and he thought it safe say that the conference had made important progress toward a perfect un-ion, to which he himself looked for-

Regarding South Africa, Lord Milthe high commissioner of South Africa, had telegraphed spontaneously he did not think further legislaion necessary to make the banishment proclamation effective. The government, however, reserved to itself the important right in the new colonies to refuse to allow the return or to keep watch over persons who showed hemselves inimical to good order and

"We are not going to allow the result of the war to be undermined." said Mr. Chamberlain, "by intrigues carried on by nominally constitution-

Regarding the future status of South Africa, the colonial secretary said the imperial government had established a crown colony in the strictest sense. The next step would be to add a nominated official element. Thereafter there would be an elected official element and then nothing but circumstances and time would separate the new colonies from full self-government, the ultimate goal of their ambition. That consummation would not be delayed, if for no other reason beof the tremendous burden of responsibility involved in the present situation; but all must understand that the government would not be rushed or hustled into any action which circumstances did not warrant. The speaker said he was one those optimistic enough to believe ultimate goal of their ambition much sooner than many persons now thought possible. So far as the government was concerned, the surrender promises would be kept in spirit as bound both by honor and by interest to this course. There remained many questions to be dealt with; a new tariff must be arranged involving intricate questions concerning which experts must be consulted, and the taxation of mines must be settled, but he wished to say nothing would done to punish owners of mines had been suggested in many quarters. The government would do nothing to interfere with a quick revival of development of the country. Subject to that consideration, Mr. war from South Africa. He thought it principal industry of the Transvaal,

The deceased lady was born in Toronto twenty-eight years ago. Her maiden name was Charlotte Rhoda Coleman, and as such she was well known and admired in Kingston. She visited here nearly every summer where she had an unusually wide circle of friends. She was frequently the guest of her aunt, Mrs. James Me-Parland. She was a highly accomplish ed woman, endowed with the noble qualities that make a life beautiful and good, and her untimely demise deeply regretted. At her bedside, when the young life went out, were her busband, mother and one sister. The remains will be laid to rest in Cataraqui cemetery on Thursday afternoon.
