When The Beard Grows. Philadelphia Times. "The beard hardly grows at all when you are asleep," said the barber.

"How do you know?" asked the man in the operating chair. "Oh, by experiment. I always used to shave myself in the morning, the first thing after getting up; but I hated to do it, because it was so apt to make me late for breakfast. One night I shaved myself at eleven o'clock, and went straight to bed and to sleep. My face was almost clean when I got up? You would have sworn, unless you examined me closely, that I was fresh from the razor. Ever since then I have shaved before going to bed, and have been given credit for shaving in the morning. The growth of the beard is practically imperceptible during the eight or nine hours of sleep.

"But if you should stay awake those eight or nine hours, the growth would be as fast as usual. One night, after I had shaved, I had to stay up with my sick daughter, and I almost needed a second shaving in the morning. The beard grows in my opinion, three times as fast when you are awake as it does when you are asleep."

The Biggest Excursion Yet. The biggest excursion to reach the city this summer was brought into port this afternoon by the steamer New York. The reliable steamer had over 700 people on board.

Bee Stings For Rheumatism. Baltimore American. Chambersburg, Pa., July 28.—William Snively, an aged resident of Shady Grove has been a sufferer with rheumatism for a long time and lost the use of his arms. When in the garden some bees were sitting on the old man and they settled on the old man and stung him sorely. When the swelling from the stings disappeared, the rheumatic pains and stiffness also left, and the old gentleman can now do as much work as before afflicted with the malady.

May End Fatally. Madoe, Ont., Aug. 7.—A young man named Sutfelice, lately arrived from England and employed on C. W. Bacon's farm, accidentally shot himself in the stomach last evening. As the accident occurred about seven miles from town, some time elapsed before medical aid could be procured. It is not yet known whether it will result fatally. The young man has relatives in Tweed, Ont.

Looks Suspicious. Chicago, Ill.—The skull of a man has been found in Kansas, and scientists say he must have died about 35,000 years ago. It is understood that the coroner of Kansas City suspects foul play and will hold an inquest.

A young man named Boyce, a farmer hailing from the neighborhood of Svedinham, is in the general hospital for treatment to one of his arms, broken some time ago, but not properly healed. It is feared he may lose it.

TO SUCCEED HICKS-BEACH

BELIEVES T. C. RITCHIE'S APPOINTMENT IS SETTLED.

At Present is Home Secretary—Born at Dundee, He Will Reach His Sixty-Fourth Year in November.

London, Aug. 7.—The Daily Telegraph says it believes it has been definitely settled that the Right Hon. C. T. Ritchie, secretary of state for home affairs, will succeed Sir Michael Hicks-Beach as chancellor of the exchequer.

The Right Hon. Charles Thomson Ritchie, at present home secretary, has been one of the chief working members of Lord Salisbury's administration since 1885. Sound, but not brilliant, would probably be the general estimate in which he is held in British political circles.

He is a Scotsman by birth, having been born in Dundee in 1838, and reaches his sixty-fourth year in November. Both he and his brother are in British political circles, and as the minister responsible for the drafting and carrying through parliament of the act creating the London county council when he was president of the local government board he is closely identified with London's special interests.

THE fact that so many lawyers, writers, preachers and thinkers are devoted to coffee has caused it to be called "the intellectual beverage." Coffee of high grade is unquestionably a great stimulant to brain-workers, and Chase & Sanborn's Coffee is especially valuable. If you would be a brilliant thinker, drink it. A pound of such coffee is worth two pounds of ordinary coffee! Why not give it a trial the next time you buy coffee?
