Carters Make Complaint. Licensed carters have complained to the police that they are not given 'fair show' at the ferry wharf. They say that a carter who has the contract to haul the mails between the wharf and post-office is given exceptional advantages, being allowed on the wharf while they are debarred. In stead of confining himself to picking up the mails, he solicits patronage and instead of transferring the mails at once to the post-office, has been known to attend to other business first. The carters ask that he placed on the same footing as they, that he be restrained from soliciting patronage on the wharf, or that they be allowed the same privilege.
