TWO MORE LEAGUE MATCHES

HAVE YET TO BE PLAYED BY THE PONIES.

Ambrose Will Not Pitch Again This Season—His Back is Strained—Ponies' Chance at the League Pennant.

The Athletics defeated the Long-shoremen yesterday, 12 to 9. "Joe" Daley is a heroine, is the compliment "Hans" Burke pays to the Ponies' centre fielder.

On Tuesday, Ponies go to Gouverneur to play their last league match. Gouverneur are billed for three matches here, Friday, Saturday, and Monday, the first and third being exhibition.

Ponies have only two more league matches, both with Gouverneur, which team will play the first here on Saturday. If Ponies win both, there is a chance of a tie with Gananogue for the league pennant.

That man Easton isn't doing a thing but killing the flies in left field, said the Ponies' captain in discussing upon the merits of his players. "He's just hauling in everything that comes along, pulling long drives in off the top of the grass and right at his ankles. Dyonson is a real ball-player."

Sunday afternoon the last nail was driven into the coffin of tarossee at a match between two local teams, on Savard Park, in which both players and spectators took part and a few were more or less seriously injured. It is said no more matches will be played in the city league.

A Clergy street lady fell off a street car on King street last evening, but the injuries she sustained were slight. There were very few visitors in the city yesterday, and the volume of trade was not equal to that of Monday.

A Kingston firm of contractors tendered for the erection of the new Dominion Mint at Ottawa, but their contract was not the lowest.

Caution! This is not a gentle word—but when you think how liable you are not to purchase for 75c. the only remedy universally known and a remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1868 for the cure and treatment of consumption, and throat and lung troubles without losing its great popularity all these years, you will be thankful we called your attention to Boschee's German Syrup. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and others that are cheap and good for light colds perhaps, but for severe coughs, bronchitis, croup, and especially for consumption where there is difficult expectation and coughing during the nights and mornings, there is nothing like German Syrup. Sold by all druggists in the civilized world. G. G. Green, Woodbury, N.J.

By Way of Comparison. The Kingstonian who visits Watertown, N.Y., and walks about the streets of that city, will come home and be content not to grumble any more about ill-kept streets. Washington street, the principal residential thoroughfare in that lively United States city, is little if any better than a country turnpike. While the city has many beautiful streets, it has many more that are far from beautiful. What we need, however, is a little of the push that characterizes Watertown.

THE LANDLADY'S SON. Set Right By A Boarder. Most people are creatures of habit. The person who thinks he cannot get along without his morning drink of coffee is pretty hard to convince unless he is treated like Mrs. Clara Hoffmann, of Portland, Ore., treated her landlady's son. She says: "Having suffered with stomach trouble for several years I determined to discontinue the use of coffee and try Postum Food Coffee."

I carefully followed directions for making and the result was a beverage very pleasing to the taste. I induced my husband to give it a trial and soon noticed the improvement. He complained of heart trouble but as he drank coffee I felt sure that this was the cause. It proved to be so, for after having used Postum for a short time his heart trouble completely disappeared.

Last year we went east and while there boarded with a private family. Our landlady complained of sleeplessness and her son of obstinate stomach trouble. It was a plain case of coffee poisoning in both. Knowing what Postum had done for me I advised a trial, but the son declared he wanted none of that "weak, watery stuff." Well I had been making Postum Coffee for myself and husband and next morning I offered him a cup and he drank it, "not knowing what it was." "Well I said, "You seem to like Postum after all." "What," he exclaimed, "that was not Postum, why, that tasted fine. Mother if you learn to make it like this I will always drink it." The next morning she watched me and I explained the importance of allowing it to boil long enough. After that we all drank it regularly and our landlady and her son soon began to get well. They continued its use after we returned home and recently wrote me that they are improving daily.

FEW LINE INTERVIEWS.

Alderman Walkers—Several United States visitors in the city declare that they have never seen as pretty parks as Kingston has in any place they have visited. They were delighted with them.

Capt. C. E. Errett—What a beautiful spot, Macdonald Park is, in fact, that many beautiful spots there are about Kingston. But let me whisper, the litter of papers, banana skins and cold lunches is not pleasing to see. A half-grown basket in which the refuse could be placed should be put around the park. People would soon use them.

DELIBERATE FALSIFICATION.

A Resolution as Passed And As It Appeared. Kingston, Aug. 26.—(To the Editor): With reference to a resolution adopted by the management committee of the Kingston District Fair Association, dealing with the question of appointment of officials, and published in the Daily News of the 23rd inst., we as mover and seconder of the same, desire to state that our resolution did not contain any reference to the British Whig. The following is a copy of the resolution as adopted by the management committee:

Moved by Mr. McFarland and seconded by Mr. Chadwick, That the opinion of this committee is that the question of politics was not considered by the president of the committee in making the appointments of caretakers, constables, etc., and that all appointments were made strictly on their merits.

JAMES MCFARLAND, A. CHADWICK, H. B. ORAM. P. S.—The discussion which led to this resolution was evoked by the editorial article in the Whig of August 21st.—JNO. P. ORAM.

Mr. Oram, while secretary of the Fair, is also one of the two owners of the News, and the matter was reported in his paper in this form: "Resolving the Fair."

A Strong Resolution Passed Against the British Whig. At a meeting of the fair directors held on Friday night this resolution was passed:

Moved by J. McFarland, seconded by Allen Chadwick and resolved.—"That the opinion of this committee is that the question of politics was not considered by the president of the committee in making the appointments of constables, caretakers, etc., and that the appointments were made strictly on their merits. And that the editorial article contained in the Whig of the 21st of August was unfair, untrue, and injurious to the fair."

The whole of the last sentence was struck from the News, and the offence was greater because openly at the meeting Mr. McFarland said nothing should be moved by him reflecting on the Whig. He knew that at his request it had loyally opened its columns to long notices day after day, when after offensive telephone messages from the secretary it had declined to receive further orders. Surely the discreditable political course of the News is plain now than ever after such deliberate falsification.

And what was it all about? It was a case similar to a recent lodge incident. The Whig simply contradicted a statement in the press that politics had not entered into the selection of employees for the fair, but expressed pleasure that the matter had been remedied. It may be only an accident that things were a little one-sided, as alleged, but this much is certain, change was made to admit at least one reformer. A member of the committee exhibited the list in its changed form with a well-known conservative name struck out and the name of a liberal substituted.

The statement in the News that the publisher of the Whig had ordered his employees not to attend the fair is absolutely untrue. The reporters were told not to make use of passes issued to the paper, in consequence of the bad treatment dealt out by the officials of the fair.

Former Kingstonian Married. A quiet but pretty marriage took place Tuesday morning, the 26th inst., at Farran's Point, Ont., when Augustus W. Daley, district inspector for the Standard Life Assurance Co., at Peterboro, and Miss Florence Farran, of Farran's Point, were married. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Hunter, Aultsville. The bride looked charming in her travelling costume of green broadcloth, with tuscany hat to match.

The bridesmaid, Miss Kathryn Campbell, was most becomingly gowned in pearl grey satin, appliqued with black. Albert Daley was best man. The presents were numerous and beautiful, the groom's gift to the bride being a very handsome sunburst of pearls. After the service the happy couple left on the train for western cities, where they intend spending a portion of their honeymoon. Mr. and Mrs. Daley will reside in Peterboro.

Good Fishing Abounds. Few people have been the seasons when the fishing on the St. Lawrence has equalled that of this year. The third city man who goes among the islands to learn the noble art of angling can find plenty of practice, and abundance of work to busy himself at after his apprenticeship has been served. The fishing this season has so far been unusually good. Pike, pickerel, bass, muskellunge, etc., are not hard to obtain. The Canadian anglers own nearly all of the best fishing grounds, and these are daily visited by scores of United Statesers, who come across in private yachts. Too many of them escape without the payment of the license. A stricter surveillance is required at many out-of-the-way spots along the river.

AN INTERNATIONAL PARK.

A SUGGESTION THAT IS NOW BEING MOOTED.

To Include Islands on Both Sides of the St. Lawrence—Annoying Regulations May be Abolished.

A despatch from Clayton, N. Y., says that owing to the rapidity with which the islands in the United States waters and those which were thrown upon public sale last season by the government of the Dominion are snatched up, many at fabulous prices, a movement has been started by a prominent resident of the Thousand Islands region to interest both governments in the formation of a large international park, which shall be made up of beautiful islands in both United States and Canadian waters.

At the present time the international park presents serious obstacles to United States who desire to spend a few months among the islands and acquire homes on the Canadian side, and the residents of the Canadian side have to this time been unable to enjoy the life at the United States watering places as well as the splendor of the United States islands.

While it is not the object of either government to make trade laws irksome to pleasure and health seekers, nevertheless many people have been incommoded.

The formation of an international park, it is thought, in which customs regulations of both governments should be relaxed, would be of great benefit to a large number of campers who come to this region during the heated portion of the year.

New York state in purchasing beautiful portions up and down the river has performed a work which will eventually lead to a greater development of the islands, particularly up the people of the state, who come to this region in the summer and are unable to pay large rentals for cottages or to live in hotels. But the scope of the proposed park at present far exceeds the start which the state has already made.

Charles R. Skinner, superintendent of public instruction, is one of the prominent men of this region who believe that in this great international park scheme lies the future of the Thousand Islands. Another organization which is doing and has done much to bring pleasant relations between the United States and Dominion governments regarding matters which come up in this region is the Anglers' Association of the St. Lawrence river.

The fee of $5, which has to be paid by every United States tourist who wishes to fish in Canadian waters is as yet in force and is quite obnoxious. The Anglers' Association hopes to be able to have this law made a dead letter by the Dominion government before next season.

WHY JUDGE WAS SEVERE.

Greater the Prominence Greater the Culpability. When Judge Chisholm sentenced the prisoner McKinley, at Berlin, last week, to a term in Kingston penitentiary, his honor said: "The prisoner is not entitled to any sympathy or consideration, for it is a law of nature that the innocent must suffer for the guilty; and by God's law the iniquities of the parents are visited upon their children. Hence he can not be excused because of his wife and child. This man had moved prominently in church and religious circles and had taken an active part in church work and had been a teacher of youth in the Sabbath school. It has been argued and with some color, too—that more severe punishment should be meted out to those who make a profession of Christianity and commit crime, than to those who make no profession of goodness. The prisoner knew good and should have avoided the evil. A man having made a loud profession of religion, who set himself up as a model, teaching the younger generation, should not commit crime. It brings a scandal not only to the community, but upon religion, and must create a great deal of evil in the minds of the young who have been sitting under him listening to his profession and teaching—to see him in the criminal's dock as a felon. His crimes were not due to any great and sudden temptation, but were deliberately and carefully planned, as they had been done at different times."
