SHORTAGE OF FAIR ONES. Women Are Wanted in South | Fifty-one applications for membership Africa.

South Africa presents an inviting field for women who are weary of sining. Fine business locality, and large shortage of fair ones in that part of trade. Cause of sale, ill-health. Easy the world. The deficiency of women in Cape Colony in 1898, amounted to 14,925. So far as can be learned the excess in numbers of white males over is represented in the following table Cape Colony. 15,000 Nath !--Orange River Colony ... 3,000 Transvaal 43,000 Rhodesia 3,000

It seems that about one man in every four of the British in South Africa could never hope to find a wife, whether Dutch or English, before the war. The actual disproportion in the immediate future will be far greater. No scheme of Anglification in South Africa, the writer points out, can parks. Suitable for a party of from three effective which neglects the inevitable consequence of a lack of women. The Boer women are gaining upon the British at the rate of about 1,000 year. If an organization were created which would insure the despatch of 3,-800 women from the United Kingdom each year, 1,000 would be set of against the natural increase of . Boer women and the remaining 2,000 would go toward filling up the shortage which exists and this would be accomplished in thirty-five years, or

The horse did not die the conclusion of the race. The animal is quite well and the lieutenant intends to ride it in Saturday's cross country run. Lieut. Madamet says he does not think the riders in the race were cruel to their horses. He expresses the opinion, however, that, though the experiment was an interesting and neessary one, the race will probably not be repeated. It is noteworthy that Emperor William forbade any officer of the German army taking part in the competition. It is stated that he regarded it as a use-

"There is evidence," said General Molineux, "which I believe will show that my son is innocent, but it would be impolitic to even suggest what it is at the present time. "It would not diminish its weight were it known to the world, but lawvers have a method which involves sccrecy in making a defence that must be respected. I feel that it is certain that Roland will be acquitted, and this with the knowledge that he is innocent has buoyed up the hopes of my family and made us look forward to the reunion that is to come with joyous anticipation. Barlow S. Weeks has returned from Europe, and after a consultation with James Gordon Battle, said that Molineux's prospects of being set free were brighter than ever. "The evidence which has been tained" said Mr. Weeks, "is not based on technicalities, but is a genuine defence of fact. General Molineux, who has been working without ceasing to establish the innocence of his son, must be given credit for getting the evidence into shape, and when it made public will certainly create Weakness In Money Market.

London, Aug. 29.-There has been some weakness shown in the London money market by the fall in consols since the close of the war in South Africa, and this decline has been more noticeable during the last few days. It is probably due to a general expectation that Transvaal and French loans will prevent anything like ease in the money market for a long period. The continued uncertainty respecting political affairs in South Africa is another factor in the problem. There are no signs of recovery in the mining market and there is despondency among South African operators.
