PAYS TRIBUTE FROM MAN WHO LOOKED UPON CASE AS HOPELESS

Doctors Diagnosed His Case as Catarrh of the Stomach, but Failed to Help Him—Many Remedies Were Tried Before a Cure Was Found.

From the Bulletin, Bridgeport, N.S.
We suppose there is not a corner in this wide Dominion in which will not be found people who have been restored to health and strength through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. There are many such cases here in Bridgeport and its vicinity and we this week give permission to record one for the benefit of similar sufferers. The case is well known in this vicinity and the tenacity of the disorder was remarkable. For six years Alfred Veinot, a surveyor of lumber for the great lumber firm of Davison & Sons, was a victim of a serious disorder of the stomach. His sufferings were excruciating and he had wasted to shadow. Doctors prescribed for him, yet the agonizing pains remained. Many remedies were tried but to no avail. The case was diagnosed as catarrh of the stomach, food became distasteful, life a burden. The trouble went on for nearly six years, then a good Samaritan advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The pills were given a fair, patient trial, Mr. Veinot using about a dozen boxes, and before they were all gone a permanent cure was effected. Mr. Veinot is now able to attend to his business when it looked as if he was doomed to die. He is grateful to this great medicine for his cure and has no hesitation in saying so.
Because of their thorough and prompt action on the blood and nerves these pills speedily cure anaemia, rheumatism, sciatica, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, scrofula and eruptions of the skin, erysipelas, kidney and liver troubles and the functional ailments which makes the lives of so many women a source of constant misery. Get the genuine with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around each box. Sold by medicine dealers or sent post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Along The Way To Meetin'.
I wondered if the world so wide had heard my heart a-beatin' With Sally walkin' at my side along the way to meetin' It seemed to time my every step—just keep in' time accordin'— An' sayin' "There's no rest for you 'cept 't'her side of Jordan!"

What Women Wear.
Gipsy bands do not look well on all fingers. Cream white brilliantine makes a stunning costume. Strapping of striped satin is quite fascinating. A charming bit of millinery is composed of silky white foliage with white rose petals for a brim, facing. Some plain outing hats are decidedly picturesque. Much gored skirts enjoy a vogue quite tremendous. Irish lace jackets and even long tailed coats are very swaggy. Lace jackets and these of fine wash materials have the lace lining made separate. Why don't fair 'ones think before sticking on bows?
There's all the difference in the world between an accessory and a senseless bit of prettiness thrown at a costume. There's plenty of weather which makes even the heavy wool dress comfortable.

Reflections Of A Bachelor.
The more voice a man puts into an argument the less logic he puts there.
A woman goes and gets her fortune told so as not to be discouraged when it doesn't come true.
The more vacant space there is in a woman's stocking the surer she is to keep people from finding it out.
A boy with head enough to amount to anything in the world can't help wondering how he is going to do it when everybody tells him how much like his father he is.
It is just at the time when a man is buried in figures he has brought home to straighten out that his wife wants to know if it would interrupt him to go out in the yard and help hunt for the baby's rattle.

Enormous Consumption Of Coal.
Philadelphia Public Ledger.
The consumption of coal has been enormously increased in the last thirty years. It is eight times as great as it was in 1870. The production of coal of all kinds in 1870 was nearly 33,000,000 tons. The product was almost doubled in the next ten years. In 1890 the product was more than four times as great as in 1870, ticket holders all reached. The enormous total of 240,000,000 tons, or 100,000,000 more tons than ten years before, and nearly eight times the product of 1870.

Fine For Advertisers.
Philadelphia Record.
The census report having shown that while in recent years the circulation of the newspapers has quadrupled while the amount paid by advertisers has only doubled (and that partly because of increased space), it is justly observed that advertisers never before received so much publicity for one dollar as they get to-day in the large cities.
This is a condition which cannot endure and the wise advertiser will take advantage of it while he can.
Qualifications Of Recruits.

OLIVE OIL.

Some Who Have Used This Popular Oil.

From Vegetarian.
One of the most wholesome and nutritious articles of diet is olive oil, and it is as beneficial for external as for internal use. It was the custom of the ancients, who were most luxurious in their bathing habits, to anoint the body with vegetable oil after the bath. Athletes and gladiators also anointed their bodies with oils. Roman athletes were in the habit of using the freshly expressed oil of the olive to give agility and suppleness to their limbs. Some of the greatest beauties of whom history tells have also been prone to the use of oil. Mme. Recamier was in the habit of partaking freely of olive oil with her food and using it also after a bath. Her beautiful skin and clear complexion were doubtless due to this rather than to powders or paints. Tradition says that both Cleopatra and Zenobia partook freely of olive oil and used oils after the bath. In the countries where the olive flourishes, such as Italy, medical practitioners use the oil very freely for a host of ailments. It is maintained in the Levantine countries that the external use of olive oil prevents rheumatism, gout and other kindred maladies which are aggravated by external chills, and that the internal use of the oil removes the toxic condition of the blood which leads to the generation of these maladies.

Railway Notes.
Tables issued by the board of trade show that in 1901 the length of railways open for traffic in the United Kingdom was 22,078 miles as against 21,855 miles in 1900. The passengers carried, exclusive of sea-going ticket holders numbered 1,172,395,500, and the weight of goods and minerals borne was 415,933,441 tons. The total paid-up capital of all the railways is £1,195,564,478, the gross receipts £67,489,739, and the net receipts, £39,969,076. The percentage of working expenditure to gross receipts has risen from forty-seven per cent. in 1860 to sixty-three per cent. last year.

History Of Temperance Lecturers.
Bristol Echo.
Speaking of the Rev. Samuel Small and his drunk in Brattleboro, it may be interesting to note that an old resident of Brattleboro claims that some thirty odd years ago, when John B. Cough, the great temperance orator, came here to lecture, he too got a jag of greater or less dimensions. Another great reformer, this one a woman, Harriet Martineau, also succumbed to the wiles of prohibition some sixty years ago. Perhaps the Rev. Samuel should not be censured so much after all. It is in the prohibition air. A man always wants what he thinks he cannot get.

Australia's Daniel O'Connor.
London Daily Chronicle.
From a recent speech of the Hon. Daniel O'Connor, one of the members for the city of Sydney, New South Wales, it is learnt that the great philosopher a deputation called them barmaids. I call them ladies of the bar. The white beauty of their character is unimpeachable. Why should it be less degrading to hand out a roll of flour to a draper's shop than a stimulant at a respectable hotel? You can see these noble little ladies on any Sabbath morning wandering their way, after a late Saturday night, to a cathedral to worship the Eternal God. I defy these brutal calculators to besmirch their characters.

CHOICE MODES.

LATEST STYLES WORN BY GOTHAM LADIES.

New York, Sept. 13.—Fall fashions are asserting themselves strenuously enough when we consider that the first of first autumn month has not yet passed by, for not only are they displayed in the shops; but one sees the new season's styles worn almost everywhere by modish women.
The fashionable novelties most affected at present are hats. The white or light colored French felt sailor or Light Mariah hat is little short of ubiquitous. But a charming design it is, becomingly crowning the face and lending indescribable smartness to the gown.
For the tailor-made street dress it is trimmed simply with a rosette of velvet or with several bands of satin ribbon finished with various sorts of fancy bowties, but for dressier occasions there come more fanciful shapes and more novelty of trimmings. Birds and feathers promise to be much used in autumn millinery. Dark blue felts will be trimmed with the same color satin ribbon or taffeta and with this there will be combined a brilliant green parrot with red tipped wings and barely perceptible tints of yellow on the head and breast. Light grey felts are trimmed with gorgeous birds of paradise in all-red or all-grey, while the white effects are decorated with black velvet and white taffeta. There are also many pretty pale ecrú tints and these are ornamented with soft rich shades of dark brown that blend deliciously with the pale tones of a hat and go well with almost any gown.
The shirt waist suit which was found so convenient during the summer is among the smartest of autumn modes. We see it developed in the thin, soft wool materials, trimmed with braid, bias bands or silk or satin, or with buttons, or with all.

There is really no limit to the various embellishments which may be applied to a gown this year and elaboration seems to be the keynote of fashions. The dainty and tiny black and white checks which were so fashionable in taffeta are still to hold sway in plaids and shirt waist suits designed of these materials will be laid in box plaits as regards both blouse and skirt and the pipings will be carried out in red and dull green. Other quiet designs are simply stitched with blacks, and if further decoration is desired; buttons may be added.
An almost regrettable feature of new fall fashions is the omission of the drop skirt. Women who have studied the art of dressing well on little money have found the such convenience and pleasing deception. Ever since its first appearance there have been those who have made one drop skirt answer the fundamental purpose of several over-dresses, and now that it is to be discarded it will be sorely missed.

There seems to be method in the madness of Dame Fashion, however, and she intends recompensing her disciples for one loss with another dainty feature of dress—the hip yoke. Not that this is new by any means. For there have been yoked frocks for two seasons past, but never before have they been so novel as this season. They are to be out in all sorts of fanciful shapes and describe the most elaborate patterns. Then there will be rows and rows of rich little buttons sewn around the lower edge to give them a distinguished appearance, and taken all in all the new yokes can be regarded as a novelty.

The handsome braques, voiles and fancies in colors suited for either day or evening wear, are being largely used by dressmakers, who are now preparing autumn outfits for their patrons. In heavier wools, fancy cloths and double-faced cashmere shares with Venetian cloth the honor of popularity. In the making of tailor costumes, Racket-stitching, cord and silk embroidery and applique designs of heavy lace, form the leading decorations for these suits; graduated guimpe trimmings, strappings and tuckings are also used on gowns of simple make.

There are novelties in all departments of dress and all are delightful to their beauty. In the matter of jackets, the fashionable futurity of the Eton is somewhat doubtful; if it is affected for winter wear the faithful little design will be elongated below the waistline and fitted so closely that it will be known as a basque rather than as an Eton. The tenacity in the belt-line. Those after the Norfolk pattern are made to look exceedingly chic by being belted in with wrought silver belts, finished off round the neck with turn-down muslin or batiste cravats.
Laces will be a prominent part in the decoration of fall gowns. The patterns applied to street gowns will be mostly black, but there are many delicious novelties in dark brown, interwoven with red and green embroideries, and sometimes a glint of gold or silver. These, however, are expensive and require the most costly materials for a background.
Another old friend which is under revival now is Tuscany. Its deep cerise tones afford an excellent contrast to the white crocheted laces which are en vogue, and it is an excellent packing material, going into small compass, and is useful for most occasions.

More attention is being paid to woman's pedal belongings each year. A vagary of fashion will be "uppers," embroidered in dark tones, but very elegant. These will no doubt become popular owing to the fact that low shoes will be worn all winter by many men and women. On pleasant days the uppers will be dropped, and then dainty hosiery in silk and woolen, tastefully decorated, will be displayed in abundance. When the keen bite of the cold brings forth the detachable top of the low-footwear, though, the ornamentation of the hosiery will be followed in this new feature of the modes.
Silver will be the most popular metal of autumn in embroideries and trimmings as well as in jewelry. It is woven into nearly all of the passamenteries and as the finer designs are warranted not to tarnish, the cost of these trifles may well be imagined. There is always one way that a body is able to find out whether or not New Yorkers appreciate a new sensation, for if possible, it is speedily converted into some fad of dress. Whether it be an evolution of science or common industry makes no difference. Just now Gotham's enthusiasm over the aeronaut Dumont is exemplified in a silver airship, which may be hung to a silver chain or watch fob. Silver jewelry is returning to favor very rapidly and the newest umbrella handles are mounted with copper studded with silver.

Deity slippers have the wearer's monogram in silver fastened at the side of the instep and above this gleams the clock of the hosiery, embroidered in silver threads.
It is too early to predict the exact fashions, but it looks now as if the flat, close effects will be worn. Mole-skin is seeking former held sway, and rivaling this pretty fur is chin-chilla, which is relieved and at the same time beautified by grey velvet exquisitely embroidered.

Grandfather's Story.

A baby's life is more precious to a mother than much gold. Her thoughts are wrapped up in it. Already is she planning its future and building big her hopes and aspirations for the success of her little boy or girl. Sometimes, alas! her plans are rudely shattered. Sickness—that dreaded trouble, Summer Disorderer, or Cholera Infantum, may seize her precious darling and death result.
Grandfather John Morgan, of Halifax, tells of the way his daughter saved her little baby's life when he, a three months' old boy baby, was affected with diarrhea. His is an interesting story.
"I feel it my duty to send you a few lines as to what Ozone has done for my little grandson, aged five months.
"About three months after he was born he became very sick and began to waste away (though very healthy when born) until he became a mere shadow, and was given up to die by our family doctor, and his brother, a doctor. In fact, we had quite given up hope of saving the little chap's life, as nothing he ate would stay on his stomach, he threw everything up. We tried all the medicines and things people would tell us of, after the doctors could do no good, but to no good at all. At last the little fellow became so weak and thin he would scarcely take his bottle at all; but one day my daughter saw in one of your pamphlets, left at the house, of a lady in Toronto curing her child of the same ailment by using Liquezone, so my daughter got a bottle, not having much faith it would do her baby any good. She began by giving him one teaspoonful of Ozone to three teaspoonfuls of water, sweetened, four times a day, after feeding, and there was soon a marked change for the better, much to the joy of his mother and father, and grandparents. In a week the vomiting was stopped, and in a month he became quite well and fat.
"We advise all mothers having children so suffering, to try Ozone, what it has done for one it will do for another. Anyone writing us, we will gladly answer to the truth of this statement."
Yours very respectfully,
(Signed) JOHN MORGAN, 81 Lockman St., Halifax, N.S.

The way to administer Ozone for children's ailments, particularly for intestinal troubles, such as diarrhea, cholera infantum, etc., is exactly in the manner described in the above letter—a teaspoonful of Ozone in sweetened water four times a day. This treatment enables the stimulating and healing action of the Ozone to act on the intestines, and restore their normal functions.
Ask your druggist about Ozone; in all likelihood he has had several cases come under his personal notice, and can tell you the facts as to its power to cure summer ailments in children.

A LITTLE GIRL ALMOST DEAD.
Morrisburg, Ont., Feb. 13th, 1901.
Messrs. The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sirs,—My little girl was almost dead with summer complaint. I tried numerous remedies for her, but they did no good. A friend recommended Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, so I procured a bottle, and by the time she had taken three doses it began to help her, and two bottles effected a complete cure. I owe her life to your excellent remedy.
Mrs. EMERSON BARKLEY.

A LITTLE BOY'S LIFE SAVED.
Seagrave, Ont., Jan. 2nd, 1901.
Messrs. The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sirs,—My little boy was very bad with diarrhea. He passed nothing but blood. I tried everything, but could get nothing to do him any good until I got a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. A few doses made a complete cure, and I have more faith in your remedy for diarrhea than any other preparation on earth and always keep it in the house.

"IMITATION IS EASY"

The "Sunshine" Furnace has many imitators, but few equals.

Has been such a marked success that several Furnace makers are now trying to duplicate it. No imitation is so good because the "SUNSHINE'S" best features are fully protected. When putting in your Furnace insist on getting a "SUNSHINE"—do not be persuaded to try some other "just as good," because no other is just as good, and costs so little.
