EXTENDS TIME FOR ACTION.

Washington, Sept. 15.—To save whatever change might result from the approval of the pending reciprocity treaties by the next congress, the British government has been steadily extending the period allowed for the final ratifications of each of the treaty, is now pending on the executive calendar of the senate. Mr. Raikes, the British charge of embassy, with Mr. Adco, the acting secretary of state, has signed an article amending the terms of the treaty in the case of Jamaica, British Guiana, and Turks and Caicos islands, extending for six months the period allowed for the exchange of ratifications.

THEY PROTEST

Against The Proclaiming Of Dublin.

SPEECHES MADE

CAPITAL OF FIGHTING UNCONQUERABLE IRELAND.

A Regular Agrarian Outburst Swept Over Parts of Ireland—Landlords Have Been Denounced By Name.
London, Sept. 15.—Twenty thousand persons attended a meeting in Phoenix Park, Dublin, yesterday, to protest against the proclamation of Dublin under the Coercion act. John Dillon, M.P., who was one of the speakers, said: "What is a law-abiding citizen?" To which one of his hearers responded, "A policeman." William O'Brien, M.P., said that Mr. Wyndham, chief secretary for Ireland, had restored Dublin to her rightful position as the capital of fighting, unconquerable Ireland. Many parts of Ireland at this moment are settling in an agitation almost comparable to that of Mr. Balfour's coercion regime. The papers daily record the burnings of hay and the destruction of buildings, in fact, the beginning of a regular agrarian outburst. On the De Freyne estate also meetings have denounced the landlords by name.

YOUNG WOMAN ASSAULTED.

Will Likely Have Young Man Before Police Court.
There may be a spicy case before the police court some of these mornings, in which a young man who drives a delivery wagon will appear as defendant in a charge of assault. The plaintiff, a respectable young woman, charges that a night or two ago she consented to accompany the young man in question to a dance. He told her that a number of her friends would be present and more to be in their company than anything else she consented to go. The young man was not her "steady company," but she knew him very well and thought she could trust herself with him.

She was driven some distance into the country and then informed that there was not a dance, that the story of there being one was a myth to deceive her. The young woman then assaulted the young man, who fought bravely in defending herself and bears marks of the fray, her face being scratched and neck discolored, where the young man's fingers bruised the flesh. She has been ill ever since.

PALMA SHIELD

It Was Won By The British Team.

GOOD CONTEST

QUITE A ROMANTIC OTTAWA MARRIAGE.

Gossips Are Very Much Interested Over Lynwood-Ryan Nuptials—The Latest News From The Capital.

Ottawa, Sept. 15.—The Palma shield, presented by the riflemen of the United States for competition between the rifle associations of the world, was won on Saturday by the British team, after the hardest struggle ever fought on Rockcliffe range, if not, indeed, one of the keenest ever witnessed in the world.

The total scores far surpassed those of last year, when the Canadians captured the magnificent trophy and brought it to Canada. The scores were: British, 1,459; American, 1,417; Canadian, 1,372.

Society was set gossiping by the romantic marriage on Friday of Miss Kate Ryan, daughter of the well-known millionaire and contractor, of St. Paul, Minn., to Percival L. Lynwood, of Atlanta, Ga. Miss Ryan was educated at a convent here, and spends much of her time in this city. She and her husband were prominent members of the summer colony at Lake Okauchene, eight miles from here. Friday night unknown to her friends, they went to Vanhook Hill, and were married. The couple first visited the priest, who refused to perform the ceremony, as the groom-elect was a non-Catholic.

Nothing daunted, the visitors called on Rev. M. P. Thomson, Presbyterian minister. He made them man and wife. They afterwards, drove to L'Orignal, and where they went from there is not yet known.

Should Patent The Idea.
The streets department has a novel way of repairing crossings, whose centre has been worn out by traffic. The city should get this method patented before some other municipality steals the idea. There was a big hole in the crossing just west of the Queen Street Methodist church, and on a rainy day citizens were obliged to wade through the mud. The streets department caused a wagon load of large sharp-cut stones to be dumped into the open space. Pedestrians can now walk in the mud on either side of the stone-pile, or by stepping over it with their shoes. A photograph of the scene, as portrayed by Kingston's progressiveness, should have been sent to the Municipal Association, which met in Brockville last week.

An Idea For The Grocers.
"I hope that next year the grocers' picnic will cast in its lot with the fair," said a merchant this morning. "If the picnic were held on the exhibition grounds on the last day of the fair it would be a very popular event, and would greatly help out the fair association. The picnic this year was not the success it should have been, and I believe, were the fair directors of 1903 to approach the picnic management, that such arrangements could be made. The day could be called 'Grocers' Day,' and I believe this special attraction would draw a large crowd."

Large Force At Work.
C. W. Spencer, general manager of the K. & P. railway, arrived here this morning in his private car.

Speaking with a Whig reporter, he stated that the number of men upon the tracks was now being increased, and that work would continue till the frost prevented further operations. Then, in the spring, another large force would be put on. It is the intention of the railway to but the line in good condition, by not only leveling the road-bed, but by reducing the grades and shortening curves.

Will Enter Queen's.
The Rev. I. W. R. Mulvey, Winchelsea, Ont., the blind Canadian minister of the Boer war, will enter Queen's this session for an art degree. He is preparing for the ministry.

WAS THE MESSIAH.

This is the Claim of a London Clergyman.

London, Sept. 15.—Extraordinary scenes took place yesterday morning at Clapton, when Rev. H. Smith Pigott, leader of the Agapemones, again declared solemnly that he was the Messiah. It had been announced that the Ark of the Covenant, as the Agapemone church is known by Pigott's followers, would be open to the public for the usual Sunday morning service. An enormous crowd endeavored to get inside the building. Excitement was intense and a rush was made for the gates, but the police, assisted by members of the congregation, successfully resisted the efforts of the mob, and the service passed off without any untoward incident. Pigott was recognized when he left the building at the close of the service, and might have been attacked but for the protection of the police. It is believed that in consequence of yesterday's demonstration the authorities will request the Agapemone community to leave London.

THE CAMPAIGN ON.

Not Likely to Get Education Bill Through.

New York, Sept. 15.—The Tribune's London cable says: The autumn political campaign will begin before the end of the present month. The liberal party leaders are organizing a vigorous attack upon the government's education bill, and unless Mr. Balfour can see his way to grant a concession on the vital question of popular control there will be some difficulty in forcing the bill through parliament this year. The autumn session is ostensibly to be devoted to the education scheme, but in all probability Ireland will again block the way, as it is not to be expected that the nationalists will miss such an opportunity of drawing attention to the coercion policy of the government and the recent wholesale proclamation under the crimes act.

DRIVEN FROM HOMES.

Eleven Are Dead and Many Suffer Otherwise.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 15.—Driven from their homes in the darkness of the night by a raging forest fire, which swept everything before it, from Ariel, Coville, and drawing in the foot of Mount St. Helen, a distance of twenty-five miles. Eleven persons are dead, four are missing, and more than 200 have been left homeless, many without even clothes enough to cover their nakedness. Fifty or sixty people who were camped at the lake at the foot of Mount St. Helen, have not been heard from since the fire. It is not known whether they escaped or not.

SHOT AND KILLED.

Went Mad and Slew Seven Persons.

Madrid, Sept. 15.—There was great excitement and confusion in the theatre at Malaga, on Saturday night, when a gen-de-arme, who was present, suddenly went mad, and drawing his revolver, fired indiscriminately into the audience. Seven persons were killed. In a wild panic the audience sought to rush from the building, and nine persons were knocked down and injured. The gen-de-arme was called upon to surrender by some policemen and refused to do so, he was shot and killed.

TOO MUCH NERVE FOOD.

Brockville, Sept. 15.—A two-year-old child, of Mr. Vance, of Prescott, was accidentally poisoned. The child got on a patent medicine in the form of nerve tablets, which being sugar-coated, and a large dose had been taken before the fact was revealed by an attack of convulsions, which proved fatal.

It is feared says the London Times Johannesburg correspondent, there are many cases of real distress in the Transvaal. The sufferers are for the most part families who remained on the veldt throughout the war, and who, from false pride, or other reasons, did not come in at the conclusion of peace and obtained relief. Special agencies have been appointed to hunt out these people.

A telegram from Calais, France, announced that nine vessels of the French fleet had foundered in the North sea during the recent gales, and that fifty fishermen were drowned.
