LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Working Of The Unions.

Kingston Junction, Sept. 13 .- (To the Editorl: Will you kindly permit me space in your columns to give to the reading public a case in point with regard to the working of some of the unions in the city:

Besides farming I have been supplying sand to contractors and private citizens. I might say from bowhood, and have done my best to satisfy those who have seen fit to deal with me both in quality and time of delivery, and by so doing have gained the confidence of the leading contractors in the city. I have made no distinction between unions, or nonthem in any way, but they have seen me from supplying sand to certain contractors who, in their estimation are unfair bosses, and threatening that if I continued to do so they would not handle my material for other contractors, where union labor was employed.

Some of the contractors, whom they have stigmatized as unfair bosses. I have been supplying with material since they first started in the business and have found them fair in their dealings, and have accommodated me when in their power to do so. Have I to sever my business connections with these men who have always treated me in a friendly way? Have I to withhold from these men material which I am prepared to sell and they allow a private citizen who is not interfering with any person and is in a legitimate business, which if not carried on by him would have to be taken up by other parties, to be dictated to by his fellow citizen, that he must not deal with certain citizens. who are also in a legitimate business, and to threaten him if he continues to do so, he will be shut out altogether.

I am satisfied that I have a clear legal case against them and there is ample stime to have it tried in the courts. Are we as British subjects going to allow the freedom we boast so much about and our forefathers bled and died for, to be tampered with in am willing to leave the matter to all Charles Summerby, of the local G. fair-minded persons to decide for T. R. freight office, has been transfer. themselves. Thanking you sir, for the space, I) may have to ask your indulgence at some later date to give my views with regard to unions from farmer's standpoint. Yours truly-R.
