Sure The World is Nearing An End

The 14th Batt. bugle band have a meeting SIGNS THEY SEE

BELIEF OF THE SEVENTH DAY ADVENTISTS.

They Are Stirring Western Citizens by Their Prophesies-Upon What They Base Their Predictions-The Believers Are Generally Model Citizens.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 17.-The Seventh Day Adventists again are stirrunion miners killed in riot at Careersville, ing parts of the west by their prophecy that the end of the world is close at hand. Their beliefs are now being spread in Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa, where many big meetings have been held in the past month. A two weeks camp-meeting has just come to an end in this city.

The membership of the sect is now about 75,000, principally in the west, although missionary work has been pushed for a score of years elsewhere. The centres of the propaganda now are this city and Battle Creek, Mich.

In 1874, Europe was invaded, and a great deal of the Scandinavian and Norwegian emigration to the region came as a result of these missionary efforts. In 1885 a church was established in Australia. Publications in thirty-seven different languages now circulated, among them some the dialects of the South Pacific.

The Adventists do not fix any de finite date for the end of the world. They base their prediction upon the prophecy of Daniel, in which it was that in 2,300 days the sanctuary would be cleaned. A day means a year, they say, and the 2,300 years ended in 1844, the year set by Miller for the end of the world.

The mistake of the Adventists 1844 pertained to the nature of event then to occur and not to time, they say. What took place then. they believe, was the beginning of the day of judgment. When that is over, the world will end.

The Adventists say the approach of the end of the world is indicated by the signs of the times, as pointed out in the Scriptures. The movement for universal arbitration, they say, is fulfilment of the prophecy of Micah that in the last days many people shall say let the Lord judge and nations shall not war with each other.

Joel says that while they shall talk peace they shall prepare for war, and the Adventists point to the great standing armies and the war talk of the day as confirmation.

In the fifth chapter of James it predicted that in the last days the rich will be heaping up treasures and the poor crying because their hire is kept back. Every trust, they say, is a sign of the coming King, and every strike the posting of a notice that the end is near.

Matthew says the social world wil be in the last days as in Noah's daand the innumerable crimes of the day are quoted as confirmation. Timothy tells of the sins of the religious world | Three fresh cases of smallpox are reand the Adventist preachers dwell ported from South Plantaganet, in upon the theatre-going, dancing, card Prescott County.
