A Dangerous Customer.

An Ontario street hotel keeper is nursing a sore head as a result of an encounter he had with a former well-known footballist. The young man was in the bar and became noisy. The proprietor asked him to keep quiet, and the answer came in the form of a beer tumbler "shied" at the head of the proprietor, which it missed, but it struck a mirror and smashed it. Then the young man picked up a heavier weapon, a cuspidor, and threw it at the hotel man. This time the aim was more correct, as the cuspidor struck the hotel keeper's head, inflicting a gash which required three stitches to close.

Had A Fine Outing.

The Kingston fat men returned from Watertown at noon to-day, flushed with their victory over their Watertown opponents. The baseball match was witnessed by a very large crowd, and was played in the most friendly spirit. The Kingston team succeeded in cutting out a win by a score of four-teen to nine. They speak in high terms of praise of the good treatment accorded them by their hosts. They were driven around the city, shown the sights, were accorded every courtesy, and say the Watertown boys have nothing to learn in the matter of entertaining guests.

Interest in the shooting of James Emery, an Ashton farmer, by a nineteen-year-old lad placed in his home through the agency of Orpington Lodge, engaged in the work of rescuing boys of "the submerged tenth" class in England, and getting homes for them in Canada, has been revived by the condition of the farmer, who now lives in the Protestant hospital, with the bullet embedded in his lung, and an uncertain issue of the shooting. About Autumn Skirts.

At last something definite is announced concerning the coming skirt. It is said the vogue of the flare has passed, and that the new skirt is to be:

- Guiltless of flare and flounce and frill.
- Plain and somewhat full.
- Touching all round, with a round and shortened train.
- Bordered with bands and braids.
- In walking skirts there are these three models to be followed:

One quite short, which reaches to just midway between ankle and boot sole, and for which the new small pleats in Totten, electric-green and blue combinations, the roughly finished boucle goods and dress cords of velvet—may be used, is cut either inside pleated, box pleated—or yoke effects. Another is nearly a round skirt in form, full in width usually, showing vertical tucks, bands or appliques. And the third style has a long-trained effect, full rather than convex, about the knees, and full in the back from the waist down.

Never try to freeze ice cream in a cool place. The faster the ice melts the sooner the cream will freeze.
Dry oatmeal, corn meal or bran rubbed on the hands after washing with warm water and soap will gradually soften and whiten them.

Big Lake Freighters.

Evening Wisconsin, Milwaukee.
The planning at Cleveland of a steel freighter 550 feet long, 56 feet wide, and 32 feet deep is evidence that the limit of size has not been reached on the great lakes. Most of the new carriers of 1901 and 1902 are less than 500 feet long, and it has been said that the 400-footer is the largest craft of large size also that there would be a reversion of enterprise to vessels of that length of keel. But the length will probably go to the limit of safe construction with the maximum depth permitted by the lake channels.

Will End By Agreement.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 17.—President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor in a statement to-day says: "At this time it is impossible to say exactly when the strike will terminate, but after careful inquiry into the situation at the mines, I am convinced that the struggle will end by agreement."
