A DOUBTFUL PROPOSITION. Mr. Miller, the deputy minister of education, has an idea in regard to the remuneration of teachers. He thinks that school boards would be inclined to employ a larger number of those having first class certificates if the government apportioned its annual grant differently.

WEARY OF PROHIBITION. In the referendum campaign, which is now on, and which will culminate with the vote on December 4th, reference will hardly be made to Vermont as a prohibition state.

EDITORIAL VIEWS. On dit that the salary of the Mayor of Ottawa is too small for the expenditure he is called upon to make. This comes of cutting the pace with Major Maude.

A POWER IN THE CHURCH. The re-election of Dr. Carman, as general superintendent of the Methodist church for another eight years, is the best testimony that the General conference could offer of its confidence in him.

Judging its feelings by its expressions one is led to infer that the conservative party is very sorry that Mr. Tarte left it. And it will continue its sorrow, without any sign of relief.

GREAT MUNICIPAL SCANDAL. When one reads of what has happened in St. Louis he is amazed. Of all the cities in the United States this one was supposed to be the best governed, and to be that, largely, because it had the best form of government. Now it is realized that it is one of the worst governed, and there is only one inference, namely, that the constitution and laws of any city can be violated when the council is that way disposed.

The sin of St. Louis is its franchise selling, in cold blood and in broad day light. The electric light companies wanted privileges for which they were willing to pay. Hence, they subscribed in one case $47,000, which was deposited in a trust company's drawer, and the leader of the boodle party was given the key of it. The understanding between the buying and selling party—the influence of those councillors or delegates being regarded as a marketable article—was that as the work which was committed to them was duly completed the money set apart for their use was to become theirs, subject to such a division as they might agree upon.

The compact into which they entered was indicated by the oath to which they subscribed. They were to preserve inviolate their secret; they were to vote as they were told; they were to give no information in regard to the combine; they were to reveal nothing in respect of their doings, and if they did were to forfeit life, to submit to the cutting of the throat, the tearing out of the tongue, and the casting of the body into the Mississippi. All this these unconscionable scoundrels undertook to do in the name of God and by His help.

In some way the district attorney became aware of the combine. He attacked it. The leader fled to Mexico, but, coming back, surrendered and offered, on the promise of light punishment, to give evidence against his fellows. Twelve of them have been arrested, and six more are in exile. The pillage is being routed. The community is shocked. One thing is assured—that there will be a general clearing of the Augean stables, and the work in that direction cannot begin too soon.

Canada has been mercifully spared such scandals, in municipal life, and the people, the taxpayers who suffer by the robberies, cannot be too thankful.

So far this year over sixteen hundred persons have been married in Toronto. Is it any wonder that some people want to move there? It's the clergyman's earthly paradise.

There will probably be a general election in Great Britain before Christmas. The government is up against public opinion in its education scheme, and likely to be defeated.

In Watertown spring water has to be purchased for the school children, and the people have to boil and filter the river water before they can use it. That's a nice place to live, isn't it?

Hon. Mr. Foster rejoices that Mr. Tarte is a conservative in a liberal government and a representative of conservative interests. Do the conservatives now endorse him? It is not long since some of the leaders and papers were calling him bad names.

The Montreal Gazette has been annoyed by Capt. Sullivan, and because he said that the Ross government would win the South Renfrew election. He knows as much about it as some others who are talking, and appears to be quite as much in error.

Police pensions in Chicago have been cut down twenty per cent. It is thought many of the police force of that city have secured wealth by it's honest practices.

DR. BARCLAY. CHOSEN TO SUCCEED LATE PRINCIPAL GRANT.

The Montreal Divine Finally Made the Unanimous Choice—A Deputation to Visit the Metropolitan and Wait Upon Him.

Rev. James Barclay, D.D., the eminent minister of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Montreal, was last night chosen by the trustees of Queen's university, to succeed the late Principal Grant. It is not yet known whether Dr. Barclay will accept the appointment, and his answer is being eagerly awaited.

REV. JAMES BARCLAY, D.D. Selected by trustees of Queen's University for principalship of the institution. He has the call under advisement.

Twenty-six of the thirty trustees met in Queen's senate chamber, in the old arts' building, Justice Macleannan, Toronto, presiding. A motion was immediately made that a successor to Principal Grant be appointed forthwith. This motion evoked a great deal of discussion, in fact it was half past ten o'clock at night when it was brought to a conclusion. A small section of the trustees advocated leaving the appointment until the annual meeting next April, but the argument advanced against this was the desirability of having a principal in office when the changes in the constitution were made. This point, no doubt, had the effect of making the trustees unanimous in agreeing to immediate appointment.

In the afternoon, Rev. Dr. Hill, of Montreal, made known the name of the man he had found in Scotland, suitable to fill the principalship. This was Rev. Dr. Paterson, professor of divinity in Aberdeen university, who had recommendations from many Old Country men of eminence.

At half past ten o'clock, Rev. Dr. Milligan, of Toronto, arose, and nominated Rev. Dr. Barclay, of Montreal, for the vacant principalship. The Toronto preacher spoke for half an hour, and put clearly before the trustees the desirability of appointing his nominee. He was a man of great eminence, both in church and public life, and was supported by nearly every professor in the university. Dr. Milligan pointed out that Rev. Dr. Paterson was no doubt a strong man, but at this critical stage of Queen's development, it was of the utmost importance that a Canadian who knew the conditions of the country and the needs of the university should be placed in the position so long and eminently filled by the late lamented Dr. Grant.

After two hours' debate, a vote was taken, and resulted eighteen to eight in favor of Dr. Barclay's appointment. Then the appointment was made unanimous. A telegram was immediately sent to Montreal by Sir Sandford Fleming, asking Dr. Barclay if he would receive a deputation from the board. "Though the name of Dr. Paterson was suggested, it was not brought forward in a motion.

After some discussion, it was decided to place the salary of the new principal at $4,000, and a free residence. The late Principal Grant's salary was $3,000, but that was of no concern to him. He never thought of such a thing as salary, but gave away his church and college nearly all he had.

One of the trustees moved that a committee of seven be appointed to examine the credentials of Dr. Barclay and Dr. Paterson; discuss other probable names for the position, and report to a special meeting of the trustees inside of three months. This proposal was voted down.

Prof. Watson, vice-principal, was invited to attend the meeting, and to speak. He made a strong appeal on behalf of Dr. Barclay.

This morning at ten o'clock the trustees met again, when a telegram was received from Dr. Barclay, stating that he would receive a deputation. Accordingly, Sir Sandford Fleming, Rev. Dr. Milligan, Toronto, and Rev. Dr. Herridge, Ottawa, were appointed to confer with him, and left early this afternoon for Montreal.

Sketch of His Life. Rev. James Barclay was born in Paisley, Scotland, on June 19th, 1841. He graduated from Glasgow university with first-class honors. In 1870 he was ordained by the Paisley presbytery, and for three months ministered at Dalbeattie. The year following, he was ordained at Glasgow, and in 1872 to Linlithgow. In 1878, he was chosen colleague of Rev. Dr. McGreggor at St. Cuthbert's, Edinburgh. In 1887 he was called to St. Paul's church, Montreal, of which he has been minister ever since. His administrative ability was of a high order, and at once St. Paul's congregation began to show signs of increased activity and life. Through his efforts, the church supported a missionary in India, and several local needs in the Montreal district. In 1892, he received the degree of D.D. from his alma mater.

Dr. Barclay's fama as a preacher and a successful minister spread over the globe, and his name became familiar wherever the Presbyterian church had sway. For Majesty, Queen Victoria, had a great liking for the pulpit utterances of the reverend gentleman, and she on more than one occasion commanded his presence, when in obedience to his sovereign's call he crossed the Atlantic and delivered sermons, noted at the time in the press as very brilliant. Dr. Barclay in his sermons impresses on his hearers the fact that he has sat at the feet of the Gospels of Scottish preachers and drunk deep at the wells which gave inspiration to such great orators as Guthrie, Chalmers and Blair, but he has the happy faculty, lacking too often in the pulpit, of adapting himself to the spirit of the age and the mental calibre of his hearers, and, while in no degree sacrificing one let-

AVERTS A PANIC. Miss Haswell Shows Presence of Mind. Washington, Sept. 18.—Miss Percy Haswell made her first appearance as a star, under the direction of Henry B. Harris, at the Columbia theatre, presenting Capt. R. Marshall's comedy "A Royal Family." Miss Haswell is a Washington favorite, having occupied for two years a leading position in a permanent organization here, and received a cordial welcome from an audience unusually brilliant for this period of the year. Boyd Pannam, Nancy Granger, Harry Burkhardt, Nancy Paget, Walter Crosby, and Frank Roberts lent efficient support.
