The sun rises Thursday at 5:51 a.m., and sets at 5:52 p.m. In our miserable weakness, you and I often ridicule the mistakes of others when they are not mistakes. To the man with a mind of his own and a determined will the ordinary obstacles of life amount to very little. Because the world ridicules your mistakes is one valid reason why you should try and not make many of them. This day in the world's history: Hebrew new year 5,661. Princess of Wales Expects a Visit From the Stork—May Hand Over Land to British Government—To Keep Fleet in the South.

London, Sept. 24.—The Daily Mail says that an organized band of swindlers is robbing the soldiers returning from South Africa of their hard-earned pay by means of a swindling game of "crown and anchor." Over 1,000 reservists arrived at Southampton recently in the transports Palawan and Mania. Sad stories were told by some of the officers of the systematic swindling that takes place on various ships while the soldier is on his way home with his £30 or £40 and more of army pay. Sharpers obtain berth about the transports as stokers or as members of the crew, and go aboard the ships in various capacities for the sole purpose of robbing the soldiers, who in many cases are reservists, who have no work awaiting them.

A man belonging to the Royal Garrison Artillery went to the authorities at Southampton and asked for a passage to Yarmouth, as he was destitute. A deplorable story was then unfolded. He had saved his money, £37, and had carefully abstained from gambling during the whole voyage, but the vessel had arrived at Southampton too late for the troops to be entrained that day, and they were kept on board all night. Some whiskey was smuggled on board, and this man, who had dreamed all the way home of taking the £37 to his mother, a widow at Yarmouth, and had thought with delight of the joy of playing the money in her hand, lost it all that night at "crown and anchor."

At other games of chance there is a possibility of the player's winning, but in "crown and anchor" the odds are overwhelming in favor of the banker. On almost every transport that arrives at Southampton with portions of the returning army the officers have thrown overboard the boards and dice with which the game is played, but further supplies are generally forthcoming, and the game goes on in parts of the ship difficult of access.

On the Orotava one man was discovered with seven piles of ten sovereigns each ranged on a table in front of him. In this case the wealthy banker was a soldier, a plain private. One victim lost £103 on the voyage, and tried to throw himself overboard, but was prevented by his comrades.

The details of the attempt on the life of the czar while he was returning by train to St. Petersburg, show that four conspirators, dressed as railway workmen, unscrewed the rails. The discovery was made by the merest accident.

BARCLAY REFUSES.

Will Not Accept Queen's Principals. This morning, J. B. Melver, secretary of Queen's University Board of Trustees, received a letter from Rev. Dr. Barclay, Montreal, refusing the principality to which he had been elected. No reason was given for refusal. Dr. Barclay's letter was as follows:

OLD-AGE PENSIONS WANTED.

German Socialists Expect to Gain On Their Platform. Berlin, Sept. 24.—Reports from all the electoral districts of the empire, received by the executive committee of the socialists give the party managers basis for announcing that they expect to obtain 3,000,000 votes in the general election next year and 100 seats in the reichstag, as against 2,190,000 votes in 1898 and fifty three seats in the reichstag.

The last annual convention of the socialist preceding the election closed yesterday at Munich. But before the convention adjourned it amended the standing platform of the party upon which the campaign of next year will be made by demanding that the old-age pension be extended to all working people, and that the cost of these pensions be borne by all classes. National insurance for the unemployed widows and orphans was also demanded, as was a law making the employment of women for one month before and one month after childbirth illegal. The socialist members of the reichstag were instructed by the convention to use their discretion in proposing a right-hour day.

When the old-age pensions were first proposed in 1889 they were opposed by the socialists. This party supported their revision three years ago, and now asks that they be widely extended.

UNDESIRABLE IMMIGRANTS. No Longer Allowed to Land at Canadian Ports. Quebec, Sept. 24.—At last no more unclean and undesirable immigrants from abroad can land at the port of Quebec or any other Canadian port. This is the result of a very stringent law recently adopted by the Dominion government, and put into force. The law prohibits foreigners infected with contagious or loathsome diseases from landing in Canada, and already P. Doyle, Canadian immigrant agent at this port, has deported thirty-six immigrants, two on the Parisian, twenty-three on the Lake Erie and eleven on the Numidian, who included Russian Jews and Finlanders, suffering from typhoid and typhus.

Heretofore foreign immigrants were allowed to land on Canadian shores provided they had a small amount of money, disease was no hindrance, consequently thousands of unclean, diseased foreigners, principally Russian and Roumanian Jews were allowed to come into Canada and settle where they pleased, but barred from entering upon American territory. The present law gives every Canadian government immigration agent full power to act upon his own responsibility and call to his aid the police if necessary to enforce the law.

A BURNING QUESTION. Education Bill is Being Roundly Condemned. New York, Sept. 24.—London Tribune cable: The congressional unions in annual convention at Glasgow have helped to make the education bill a burning question, by condemning the sacrifice of efficiency to sectarian and priestly ends. London is not affected by the present bill, but Premier Balfour has announced that the same principles will be applied in another session to the metropolis. The extensive London agitation against the general measure is not, therefore, premature, and arrangements are being made for emphasizing it. The Liberal leaders are in the background, and the demonstrations against the education policy of the government are being conducted mainly by local politicians, members of school boards, and non-conformist ministers. Lord Rosebery's friends expect him to take advantage of the agitation at an early date.

BEAR CHASED HODDER. Wounded Bruin, But Did Not Incapacitate Him. Port Arthur, Sept. 24.—Alfred Hodder, who went hunting with R. B. Martin and son, has had an experience which he will not forget. They stalked two bears, and the Martins gave their guest the honor of taking the first shot at the bear. Hodder shot and hit one of the animals, wounding it slightly. The bear, enraged at the unfriendly act, started for Hodder, and Hodder started for a tree. Having a pretty fair start Hodder gained the tree first and shinned up. The bear was somewhat of a climber himself, and claved hard live. Mr. Martin stood by interestedly, and deeply in the success of Hodder's use to get the bear within knifing distance, nor offered to interfere until the man in the tree called for help. Then R. B. Martin brought his trusty flashlight and shot into play. They had bear steak at Martin's farm that evening.

MOBS NOW RULE. Police Unable to Cope With the Strikers. Wilkesville, Pa., Sept. 24.—A reign of terror prevailed in this section of the strike region last evening and early this morning. Sheriff Jacobs and his deputies were powerless to preserve order, although every attempt was made to do so. No soldier or was one outbreak suppressed than another broke out. Early this morning a demand for more deputies was received from no less than ten places in Luzerne county. Sheriff Jacobs telegraphed Governor Stone, telling him that the situation in the Wilkesville region was beyond his control, and that in order to protect life and property, troops would have to be sent immediately. At Exeter this morning a mob of 500 gathered in the vicinity of a woolery and prevented the employees going to work.
