A COUPLE WEDS

BISHOP POTTER MARRIES MRS. A. H. CLARK

Left on a Special Car For Albany After the Ceremony — Were Married in Christ's Church, Cooperstown, N.Y.

BISHOP HENRY C. POTTER

cial car on Friday, Rev. Dr. Grosvenor, rector of the Church of the Incarnation, New York, performed the ceremony. Mrs. Clark was attended by her niece, Miss Chaffee, as maid of honor, and by Mrs. D. F. Woods, of Philadelphia, one of her oldest friends. The bridegroom's best man was Rev. Dr. George F. Nelson. The admission to the church was by card. A very few intimate friends and a few members of old Cooperstown families were admitted to the church. A small wedding breakfast was served to about thirty at Fernleigh, Mrs. Clark's residence. Bishop and Mrs. Potter left Cooperstown in a special car attached to the 5:15 o'clock train for Albany. Mrs. Alfred Corning Clark, whose marriage to Bishop Potter, New York, is recorded, owes a fortune to the sewing machine. The little steel shuttle that Elias Howe set flying became the world's great wonder. Edward Clark, founder of the family caused president to succeed Clark, who retired with his millions for travel and literary recreation. While on one of his trips through cathedral haunts of London he met a charming woman, a typical English girl, a clergyman's daughter. They were married and the bride brought to the New York home a vast charge. Sociability and entertainment were the order of life. Edward Clark bought a magnificent estate at Otsego Lake, where he built Fernleigh Hall, one of the finest country mansions in America. He also secured the old Fenimore Cooper homestead, associated with the author's Indian romances. Since his death his wife has improved the place, made parks, great improvements, established an observatory commanding the lake and country several miles. When she finds worthy men out of work she puts them on a living salary about the place. Her fortune is said to reach $60,000,000 at least and her four sons are all millionaires as well.

MRS. ALBERT CORNING CLARK

THE MAMMOTH WORKS

Of the McClary Mfg. Co., London, Ont.

Upwards of fifty years ago Messrs. John and Oliver McClary opened a small stove foundry and tinware business in London, Ont. To-day it is one of the largest industries of the kind in Canada, fourteen acres of floor space in the London works, a large foundry in Hamilton (recently Copp Bros' stove works, a branch tinware factory in Montreal, branch warehouses in Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg, Vancouver, and St. John, N.B., over 800 employees, a name that is a household word from the Atlantic to the Pacific, goods that are used in almost every home in Canada. The beginning was small, but the McClary brothers adopted such principles, according to their trade such honorable confidence-getting treatment, that rapid progress was the result.

The officers of this enterprising corporation are: John McClary, president and general manager; Col. W. M. Gartshore, vice-president and manager; George O. McClary, treasurer; and J. K. H. Pope, secretary. A. D. Kennedy, manager of Toronto branch; A. A. Brown, manager Montreal branch; J. W. Driscoll, manager Winnipeg branch; W. E. Drake, manager Vancouver branch; and J. J. Foot, manager of St. John, N.B. branch.

One noteworthy feature in the growth of these mammoth works is that an advance step has never been taken which had to be retraced, or an addition ever erected until it was absolutely necessary, and at no time since their earliest beginning has any part of the works been idle. Excavations are being made for the mammoth foundry in the southern part of London, which will cover several acres, and nearly double the present manufacturing capacity of the company. The new plant will comprise a moulding shop, mounting shop, power house and storage, a polishing shop, and other smaller buildings. The foundry will be the largest in Canada, 200 x 230 feet.

One of the best-known articles made by the McClary company is the "Sunshine" furnace. This heater, although only on the market a few years, has been a phenomenal success. The McClary company has sold duplicate patterns to different American furnace manufacturers, strong proof of success. Two other specialties made by the company are the "Famous Active" and "Cornwall" ranges. The "Famous Active" is of cast-iron, equipped with every modern feature, has a rich nickel dress, and is handsome. The "Cornwall" is quite new on the market, but has already won a high place with the trade. It is a heavy steel-plate range, made with four or six pot holes, burns either coal or wood successfully, has a rich profusion of nickel, which makes a strong contrast with the blue, polished steel body, and is in every way fitted to be the leading range of a leading manufacturing town.

The McClary company manufacture, modelled over by the original German process, the secret of which they bought the sole Canadian control of for a heavy price. Imported English sheet steel is used, and it is coated with a tough elastic enamel made from material much resembling the raw material of glass. Shipping facilities connect the works with all the Canadian railways by spur tracks, where cars are constantly loading and unloading.

Trouble At Barnard. New York, Oct. 6.—Miss Laura Gill, dean of Barnard College, intends to resign, according to persistent rumors. For some time the Barnard girls have been discussing the matter with much interest, and the matter is expected to come up at today's meeting of the trustees of Columbia University. It is an open secret that Miss Gill and the undergraduates do not agree about certain college matters, and that several clashes took place during the last class year. Prof. James H. Rossier, dean of the college, is mentioned as Miss Gill's successor.

DEFENCE MADE

OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH.

It is Not an Institution For Profit—Its Founder is a Charitable Woman—Decision of the Law Court Reviewed.

Alfred Farlow, in Philadelphia Press. Christian Scientists do not attempt to conceal that "Science and Health" is sold at the ordinary price of such works. The fact must not be overlooked that a great number of the retailer and a liberal portion of the publisher, so that the price of the book is only part profit to its author. The first edition brought Mrs. Eddy no profit whatever. Thereafter, for a considerable period, she paid for the publication and gave her students fifty per cent. of their sales.

The records show that Mrs. Eddy has given to the church more than the entire profit from the sales of her books. Nearly all of those who have purchased "Science and Health" are students of Christian Science, are identified with the movement and therefore direct beneficiaries of Mrs. Eddy's funds. It is safe to assume that very little has come into this movement from outsiders.

Since the Christian Science cause draws only from its own people, how can it be looked upon as an institution for profit? The individual work of those who give their time exclusively to healing the sick do so independently of the church, and this feature of the Christian Science work could not be considered testimony in favor of the claim that the church is a business enterprise any more than the practice of an M.D. who is a member of a church and who is practicing in accordance with the proper method of curing the sick could be regarded as evidence that his church is a money-making institution.

Her associates bear witness that Mrs. Eddy gives large sums to private charities and it is quite well known that she is always ready to contribute to public enterprises. Her annual contribution have sometimes amounted to $80,000. Christian Scientists are thoroughly convinced that she does nothing for money except to do good with it and that her fortune is considered by her as a fund to be used in the propagation of her much cherished ideas and for worthy charities. Mrs. Eddy, according to the records, preached a number of years in the Christian Science church, during which time she contributed in small amounts far more than she received for her services. Though having made large contributions to her church, she has virtually received from it only a few hundred dollars. At the present time she is the only member of the church who gives more of her time than any other. She closed her college just when large numbers were clamoring for admission and thus gave up what would have brought to her a large income.

Christian Science periodicals were Mrs. Eddy's property, and these she has given to the church, and they yield a liberal income. She has studiously thrust aside many legitimate means of accumulating wealth. No one could take all these matters into intelligent and fair consideration without concluding that the leader of the Christian Science movement is controlled by the desire to Christianize the world through the scientific interpretation of Christ's teaching. It should be remembered that the mother church is the governing body of the entire Christian Science movement—and necessarily incurs a very considerable expense. But why should it concern the public how Mrs. Eddy manages her own affairs and use their own money? Touching a recent decision reported in the Whig and other papers it may be unfair to declare that the Pennsylvania judge has been governed by prejudice, but will assume that his decision is to be just and that he has based his conclusions on facts. That Mrs. Eddy once advised that the Bible and her books should, during a period of one year, be the only teachers of Christian Science; that she recommended that these be largely circulated that those who did not appreciate an act according to this plan were not really Christian Scientists, could not be considered sufficient reasons for the charge that the church is conducted for profit. Above it has been shown that the persons who have sold or purchased have been direct beneficiaries of profits. The judge, therefore, has not based his action altogether upon evidence, but has yielded to matters which involve the conscience of Christian Scientists. Religious denominations, both Protestant and Catholic, in cities sit sittings. Because of this a judge might assume that such institutions are conducted for the sole purpose of profit through the hiring of pews.

There are book concerns in connection with most religious denominations either buy or sell the commodities. Many churches resort to selling tickets for lectures and entertainments for the purpose of obtaining funds. Many organizations have fairs and thus enter into mercantile business, and yet no judge has taken these matters into consideration in the granting of a charter or has declared such practice illegal.

May Consider Coal Strike.

Washington, D.C., Oct. 6.—The meeting of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, which began at the headquarters of the organization here to-day, promises to be the most significant which that body has held for several years. While the meeting ostensibly is to consider grievances and routine matters it is believed that the attitude of the federation toward the anthracite coal strike will be the principal matter of discussion.

Gotham's New Playhouse.

New York, Oct. 6.—The old theatre at Broadway and Twenty-Eight Street variously known in its career as "Stockholder's," "Herman's," "Sam T. Jack's" and "Theatrical Comique," re-opens to-night as the Princess Theatre and under the joint management of the Shubert brothers and Charles E. Evans; partner of the late "Old Boss" Hoey. The opening attraction is Weed Grossmith, the English comedian, presenting "The Night of the Party."

Coal prices soar and the public's

MINERS TOO NUMEROUS.

Dr. Ami Speaks of Cause of Coal Labor Trouble.

Dr. H. N. Ami, of the Geological Survey staff, Ottawa, is of the opinion that the greater portion of labor troubles in the mining districts are due to the fact that the population is so congested that employment can only be given to a worker two days of each week. The operators in this way accomplish the feat of giving each worker a chance for livelihood. The wages are high and a miner is generally able in his two days' work to make a fair week's income. During the balance of the week the miner does nothing but sit around and talk over his grievances. In Pennsylvania the miners are mostly foreigners who stick together with the result that strikes are frequent.

Dr. Ami was through Pennsylvania in 1898 investigating the cause of the coal in the northern anthracite fields with a view of comparing the formations with the coal of Nova Scotia. He found the formations similar in some points and that the trend was the same one.

Dr. Ami had a splendid chance of viewing the condition of the miners during his investigations and was in many of the pits and heard the men discussing their affairs. In his opinion there will be trouble among the coal miners until each worker is given six days' employment each week.

Greets Men In Blue.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 6.—The late starting is on the outside and the national guard has put the big pot in the little one. Old Glory was unveiled to the breeze this morning and thousands of visitors are expressing their gratification at the warm and sincere and thoroughly hospitable reception tendered them by the people of Washington. During Sunday local railroad men estimated that fully 30,000 strangers arrived in this city. To-day there was twice the confusion and twice the crowds about the depots, and up to noon the morning trains had brought fully 50,000 additional people to the city. While the Grand Army veterans were in the majority it was a notable fact that hundreds of the arrivals were merely sightseers attracted by the low excursion rates and a desire to view the sights of the national capital. All day Sunday the streets presented a crowded appearance.

Died While Pleasing Children.

New York, Oct. 6.—George Sewell Bonner, a leading member of the New York Bar association, is dead from paralysis, due to a fracture of the spine. Mr. Bonner received his fatal injury in a fall from a tree at his summer home. He had climbed a tree to whip down chestnuts for his children when a limb broke and he received the fall which resulted in his death.

Warned Off At Harlem.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Former Alderman E. E. Gaffozzo has been warned off the Harlem race track and trainer E. L. Tally has been ruled off the turf by Judge Hamilton and his associates of the Harlem Jockey Club. In their ruling the track officials charge Gaffozzo and Tally with having "administered stimulating drugs" to Emma A. M. in the last race of Wednesday. B. Butler, the owner of the animal, is exonerated.

The Governor's Wife A Prisoner.

Mrs. Z. A. Van Luyen is the wife of the governor of the county jail, Napawa, Ont., and was a great sufferer from rheumatism. When the best doctors in the community and "specialists" failed to help her, she found her scepticism of proprietary remedies and purchased South American Rheumatic Cure 4 bottles cured her. For sale by H. B. Taylor and Henry Wade.—42.
