A SIMPLE ONE

PARIS PAYS TRIBUTE TO DEAD MAN'S MEMORY.

Not A Discordant Note—Dreyfus Marches in the Cortège, But He is Unnoticed by the Crowd.
Paris, Oct. 6.—The funeral of Emile Zola, yesterday, was a simple but impressive ceremony, such as Zola himself would have wished, and without pomp. Thousands of workmen, municipal guards, mounted and on foot, lined the route, but, except for a company of infantry which rendered military honors as the body was carried from the house to the hearse, they were there as guardians of order and not as participants in the ceremony.
Former Capt. Dreyfus marched in the funeral cortège, according to the authority of the prefect of police, but

CALF LIVES WITH TWO HEADS.

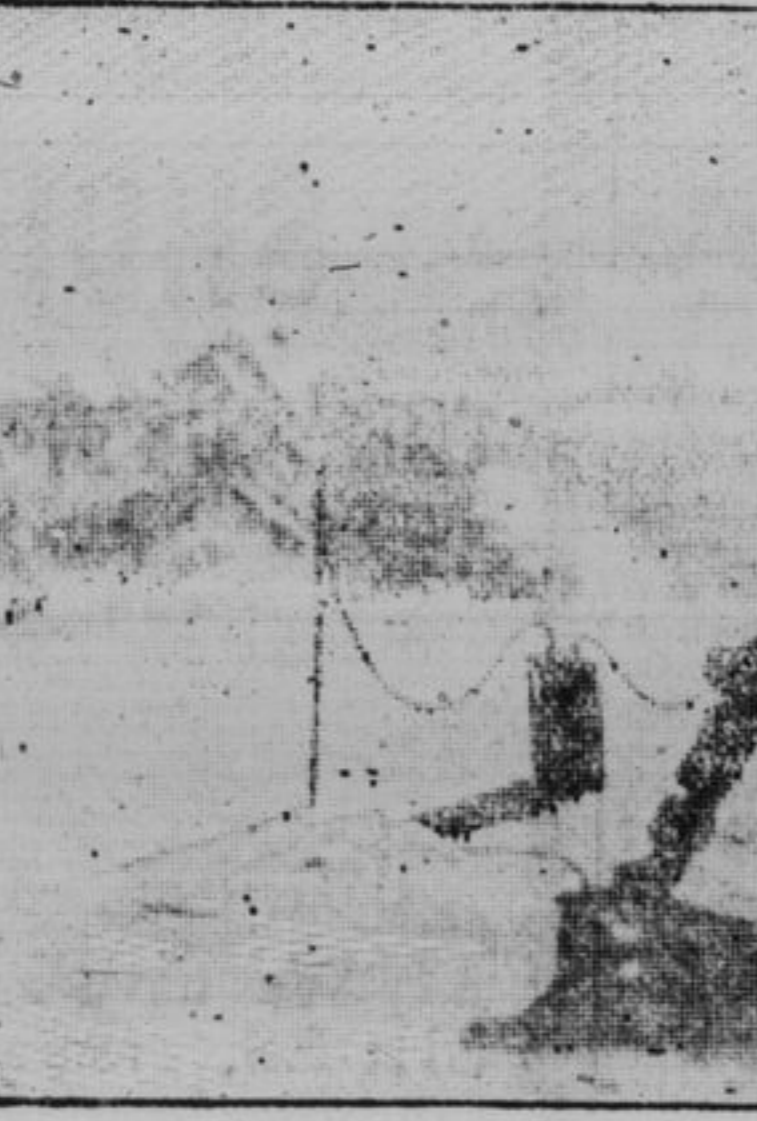

A. H. Brown, a farmer of New Liberty, Ky., had a cow of which he was very proud, owing to the large quantity of milk she gave and the high grade of stock she represented. Recently the cow gave birth to a perfectly formed calf, with the exception that it had two heads.
There was nothing unnatural or repulsive about the little animal, and the heads were as perfect in shape as the body, each having its set of eyes, while, strange to say, a white spot on one forehead was reproduced in exact shape and color on the other forehead. Unfortunately the mother died when the calf was born, and it also perished from lack of nourishment.

Experienced cattle-raisers say they have never seen two heads so wonderfully joined without any malformation.

he passed completely unnoticed by the crowd. A little distance behind him came Mme. Dreyfus, accompanied by her father. Dreyfus sent a handsome wreath, which was placed beside the coffin.
The Temps says Dreyfus went to the Zola home Saturday evening and watched beside the corpse with the family. While there he induced Mme. Zola to give him back his promise not to attend the funeral.
A pretty wedding took place last Wednesday evening in St. John's church, Portsmouth, when Rev. J. O. Crisp united in marriage James W. Grant and Miss Helen Lindsay. The bride wore a gown of white organdie with the customary bridal veil and orange blossoms, and was attended by Miss Agnes Grant, sister of the groom, and Miss Sarah Graham, both wearing white organdie over pink, with hats to match. The groom was attended by George Dennison. After the ceremony, a sumptuous repast was served at the home of the groom's mother, King Street, about eighty guests being present. Dancing, etc., was enjoyed and a most enjoyable time was spent. The presents, showing the esteem in which the bride was held, were numerous and costly. After returning from their honeymoon, spent at Toronto and Hamilton, they will take up residence on King Street.

Resigns His Office.
New York, Oct. 6.—It is announced at police headquarters that Deputy Police Commissioner Nathaniel P. Thurston has tendered his resignation to Commissioner Partridge. There was considerable dissatisfaction in certain quarters, Col. Thurston said, and criticism had been aimed at him. He had, therefore, taken the step.

ANALYZING RARE AIR.

Some very interesting analyses of the air at the top of Mont Blanc were recently made by French scientists, and the manner in which the work was done is shown in the accompanying picture.
In their report they say: "The air at the top of the mountain contains a very small number of germs. After making 100 analyses we were unable to discover microbes. On other hand, two analyses which we made in two rooms at the observatory, which is

HE IS POPULAR

ROOSEVELT ALL RIGHT WITH ENGLISH PEOPLE

Chicago Pastor Says He Could Be Elected to Any Office Over There—Remarkable the Way He Has Caught Their Fancy.
Chicago, Oct. 6.—"If President Roosevelt were an Englishman and England were a republic he could be elected president by an overwhelming majority," said Dr. James S. Stone, rector of St. James' Episcopal church, yesterday, speaking of the English estimation of President Roosevelt. Dr. Stone has just returned from a three months' sojourn in Europe, spending most of his time in Switzerland, London and Paris.
"It is remarkable," he continued, "the way our president has caught the English fancy. Among Englishmen he is ranked as one of the greatest men of the age. When I began to inquire why it was they had given him rank among the greatest presidents, and in no reason except that they admire his way of doing things—the dash and vim of the man. They say, too, that he has the courage of his convictions and is above the influence of politics."

TO MARINERS.

Warning By The Meteorological Department.
In October during the last twenty-nine years, 1873 to 1901 inclusive, there have been an average of four storms a month in the lake region, the number of fresh to heavy gales about equalling the number of moderate storms. The winds usually veer, the proportion of storms in which the winds back being very small. In the Lower St. Lawrence Valley and the gulf the average number of storms has been likewise four a month, the fresh to heavy gales being slightly in excess of the moderate storms; here, however, the winds back a little more frequently than on the lakes. In the Maritime Provinces the number of storms has been about three a month, the moderate storms slightly exceeding the fresh to heavy gales. The winds here back more often than elsewhere, the proportion being about one storm out of every three.
October and November are months in which severe storms frequently occur on the lakes. In these autumn storms on Lakes Erie and Ontario the wind commences at the south-east, works round through south to west and north-west, the time of heaviest blow being usually when the barometer begins to rise as the wind gets round to the west. On Lake Huron and the Georgian Bay the wind—though for the most part changing as on the lower lakes—not unfrequently changes with great suddenness, chopping after a full from south-east to north-west and blowing hardest as a rule from north-west.
In October and November many severe gales are also experienced in the St. Lawrence Valley, the gulf and the Maritime Provinces, and mariners are advised to be guided by the daily bulletins as well as to watch for the display of storm-signals.

Refused To See Them.

Brookville Times.
A well-known farmer procured a license from James Robertson this morning, and with the lady of his choice proceeded to the residence of Rev. T. J. Mansell to be married. On being interrogated it was learned that the man had been married before but he thought he was justified in taking another as his first spouse eloped seventeen years ago and had not been heard from since. Mr. Mansell refused to perform the ceremony and the would-be bridal couple departed looking very sorrowful.

Cheaply And Effectively.

Are Touring Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Rowsome, of Hull, Eng., are spending a few days in the city. On Sunday Mr. Rowsome addressed the scholars of Queen Street Sunday school, counselling them to attend regularly and not to leave the school when they become young men and young women. In his church at home they had a young people's class, the average attendance of which is about 170. He had been attending Sunday school for fifty years. Mr. and Mrs. Rowsome have just returned from a trip to the Pacific coast. They will leave on Tuesday to visit their son, Mr. Rowsome, V.S., Tamworth. They have also several children residing in Bedford and Hingham, who have visited Canada, and are much delighted with the country. They speak in glowing terms of Kingston, declaring it to be one of the finest cities they have seen.

Soft Coal In Furnaces.

S. T. Church, Toronto, writes: "For the past two weeks I have been using soft coal in a Pease furnace, according to the directions given below, and with capital success. No gas, no smoke, no dust. Directions: Place the required amount of coal in furnace. Open the draught until the fuel has reached a full blaze, then cover over with a light layer of wet ashes (soft or hard coal). Judgment may be used as to the thickness of covering. Temper draught the same as in the use of anthracite coal. Fire may be retained for a period of twenty-four hours, and even longer, by an increase in the thickness of the covering and proper adjustment of the draught. Leave draught in top door constantly open."

THAT LICENSE FEE.

A Butcher's Statement—Opinion of the People.

The city butchers, who refuse to pay a $40 license when some of their number have escaped by contributing a $2 fee to the city exchequer, do not intend to remain passive if the city corporation brings an action against them for non-payment. Not only will they dispute the legality of the matter in court, but they will also adopt other measures.
"If I am compelled to pay that $40 license fee," said a butcher on Saturday night, "I will make it warm for the council. I had my place of business tented, but when the license fee was raised in the middle of the year, the man backed out of the bargain. Now I cannot rent the place at all. It is the city which has ruined my business, and I intend to hold the city liable. I shall, if compelled to pay that unfair fee, enter a claim for damages against the city. Perhaps I may be defeated, and perhaps I may not. Remember that the by-law was passed after a number of the butchers had paid the old fee of $2, which privilege was denied us. I do not believe, under these circumstances, that the by-law can be legally enforced this year. That is a question that the courts will settle sooner or later."
A merchant declared: "The citizens do not wish such a high fee imposed upon the butchers. Especially at this time, when food and fuel have gone high up in price, the wage-earner has no desire to make matters worse. If he wants beef steak for his dinner it costs him 12c. to 15c. a lb.; if he desires fresh pork he must pay 15c. a lb. for it, or if his taste is for a slice of ham, it will cost him 16c. a lb. to gratify that taste. The wage-earner is, therefore, not apt to favor a move which will tend to the raising of these already high prices. And it is only a logical sequence that if the butchers are compelled to pay a higher license fee they will make the consumer pay more for his meat. The high fee will crowd out all the little dealers, and the big fellows may do as they please: the public will be at their mercy. This is the consensus of opinion regarding the license fee."
