NOT FAVORED. PRESIDENT'S PROPOSITION NOT WELL REGARDED.

Wide Difference of Opinion as to the Effect of Ordering Out the Entire National Guard of Pennsylvania.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 8.—The features of the anthracite coal strike which claims popular attention in the coal fields are:

1. Will the miners yield to the desire of the president of the United States for them to return to work and investigate afterwards? and

2. Will the mine operators be able to carry out their promise to produce enough coal to relieve the situation if given the protection of the full military power of the state?

After a most careful inquiry among the district officers present (not including the district presidents who were in Buffalo) and the rank and file of mine workers, it was found that the sentiment is strongly against accepting the president's proposition in the present form.

As to the other feature of the situation as it exists, opinion is divided and will remain so until the real test comes.

THREE FALL DOWN SHAFT. Cage Breaks When Men Board it to Descend.

Dawson, Y.T., Sun, Sept. 16.—An accident in which two men lost their lives and another was seriously injured occurred Sunday afternoon on King Solomon hill.

Robert Haddock and Dan McKenzie were killed and Frank Mills had both legs and several ribs broken.

The men stepped on the cage which is used in hoisting, and it broke by their weight and they were precipitated to the bottom, a distance of 115 feet.

Haddock was killed instantly, his face being battered into a mass of flesh and bones. McKenzie lived a few minutes, death being a relief to the terrible pain resulting from his body being frightfully mangled.

Mills was suffering excruciating agony and medical aid was summoned at once. He is being cared for on the claim. It is thought he will die.

The accident was one which might have occurred at any time, and a warning had been given the men by the cracking of the crosspiece on the cage. A search was made to find out where the crack had originated, but a close search revealed nothing of importance or anything to suggest that the mortised cross beam of the cage to which the cable is attached was in any way defective.

It has been the intention to put a pole across the shaft platform on which the cage rests when being unloaded. It was done Sunday. When the men first heard the crack they made haste in getting off to make examination. The engineer was signalled and the cage was lowered to the bottom.

It seemed to run all right, and Haddock and McKenzie stepped on to be lowered to the bottom. Frank Mills was also to go down, but when he stepped onto the cage it broke from the beam and fell with them to the bottom.

An inquest was held at the Elby roadhouse on the remains of the men who were killed, the verdict being that death was accidental. The coroner's jury condemned the cage.

Last year Charles Rossler, an engineer on the claim, fell to the bottom, but escaped any injury beyond a shaking up and was able to be around and at work again in two days.

Haddock came from Kingston, Ont., and McKenzie from Prince Edward Island.

The two men killed were in a party that purchased the claim Saturday for $8,000, and it was with the intention of making an inspection of the mine that the men shortly after the noon hour Sunday prepared to go down in the shaft.

The partners of the men who were killed and who also became interested in the claim last Saturday were William Clefman and Dan McConna.

Frank Mills formerly ran the Caribou hotel. Mrs. Mills arrived from the outside Saturday night on the Columbian.

FIVE WERE DROWNED. A Huge Wave Upset The Life Boat.

Kincardine, Ont., Oct. 8.—Last night, about ten o'clock, vague noises were heard for a long time before it was ascertained that they were the cries of sailors in distress. A large schooner was then noticed a few hundred yards from shore, south of the pier, apparently aground with heavy seas breaking over her.

A rescue party was at once formed and with much difficulty succeeded in reaching the boat, which proved to be the schooner Anna Maria, of Alpena, bound for this port from Cleveland, in command of Capt. Alex. Gordon, with a load of coal. The rescuers got the men off and were about to start for the shore, when a huge wave swept over the schooner, and in a moment the boat, throwing the occupants into the water. Two sailors and three townsmen succeeded in regaining the schooner. Five were lost, Capt. Gordon, Mrs. Kennedy, the cook, two sailors, Perry Bond and Stephen Ryan and William Ferguson, a lumber merchant of this town. Mr. Ferguson had volunteered for the rescue party.

TWO WERE DROWNED. London, Oct. 8.—The North German Lloyd steamer Kronprinz Wilhelm, which sailed from Southampton, to New York, was run into and sank the British steamer Robert Jagan during a dense fog, off Beachy Head. The freight cars will have a capacity to turn out twenty-five to thirty cars a day, as well as repair one hundred cars, while if the locomotive shops are worked to their full capacity, seventy-five new engines a year will be turned out. In addition to this, 400 engines a year may receive repairs.

THE PROPELLOR HERE. Lake Michigan Was Quickly Pumped Out.

The propeller Lake Michigan, which was run ashore early Tuesday morning, six miles west of Kingston, on the Simcoe Island side, to prevent her sinking, reached the city Wednesday noon, in tow of the steamer Donnelly.

The Donnelly Brecking company did quick work in pumping out the vessel in one day, as the wind was rather unfavorable. John Donnelly had charge of the operations.

The situation of the leak has not yet been ascertained. As soon as the vessel is unloaded, it will enter the government dry-dock for repairs. When the Lake Michigan reached Craig's wharf, discharging was begun. In the propeller were 200 barrels of cement and 1,000 bags of salt. The cement is all destroyed, and that portion of the salt which was in the hold. The vessel was filled with water almost to the main deck. Her cargo was valued at about $2,500.
