

Miss Gannon, Sec'y Detroit Amateur Art Association, tells young women what to do to avoid pain and suffering caused by female troubles.

I can conscientiously recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to those of my sisters suffering with female weakness and the troubles which so often befall women. I suffered for months with general weakness and felt so weary that I had hard work to keep up. I had shooting pains and was utterly miserable. In my distress I was advised to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it was a red letter day to me when I took the first dose, for at that time my restoration began. In six weeks I was a changed woman, perfectly well in every respect. I felt so elated and happy that I want all women who suffer to get well as I did.—Miss GUILA GANNON, 359 Jones St., Detroit, Corresponding Sec'y Mich. Amateur Art Association.—$5000 for sale if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

News From All Parts of Old Land.

Lord Strathcona has sent his cheque for £1,600 for the addition to Forbes church, Scotland. The Duke of Bedford has refused the offer of £750,000 made by a commercial syndicate for his Thorne estate. While batting in a cricket match at Walthamstow, Augustus Raynor was hit on the temple by a full pitch and killed. Henry White, a cook, was given ten years' penal servitude by a London judge for blackmailing and obtaining money from a man who helped him. Many people have been complaining of the blackmailing at Killarney by which tourists are charged many times their legitimate expenses in sightseeing. Edward Warren was committed for trial at Rochester, Eng., on a charge of burglary. He was arrested through the ticking of a stolen clock, in his pocket. Manchester corporation has entered upon an anti-spitting crusade, and decided to secure parliamentary powers to punish those found expectorating on tram-cars, and in public places. When a hump-backed Italian named Riga landed at Dover from the Ostend boat his hump was found to be composed of tobacco. Eight pounds of snuff was also found concealed in his pockets and in a binocular case. In a speech at Cork Michael Davitt passionately condemned the Irish agricultural-department for manner agencies of potatoes after Lord Roberts, Lord Kitchener, and other "tyrants." A petition is being heard in Sligo against the return of a district councillor at Tubbercurry. Female personation in favor of the successful candidate was alleged. Hillsleigh, a little holiday resort in the Shetland Islands, was the scene of a huge whale hunt, 106 of these monsters being driven ashore and slaughtered on the beach. Great shoals of whales are frequent in the northern seas at this season. The Protestant Bishop of Kimerick maintains that the reduction of the population of Ireland by emigration is of more benefit than any to the country. He also says: "There is little doubt but that the peasantry of Ireland are more prosperous now than they ever were. The masses are better fed, better clad, and better housed than ever before."

Bullights in France.

London, Oct. 15.—The Paris correspondent of The Times says that several members of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, having asked the government to prevent the bull fights about to be given in some districts of France, Premier Combes declined to interfere. The premier took this attitude on the ground that the present state of legislation in regard to cruelty to animals does not warrant action on the part of the government. Chief Elmer would like alarms of chimney fires to be sent in by telephone. Then he would be able to send out men without calling out all the force.

COST OF COAL

THE PRICES PAID FOR IT AT CHARLOTTE

The Statements Given Out by Capt. John Gaskin—He Tells How Contracts Were Made in Past Days.

The Whig is in receipt of a long letter from Capt. John Gaskin on the coal question. On October 6th he said he lamented that a friend had to pay $12 a ton for hard coal. He suggested that he use soft coal, that it could be procured cheap, for if the coal men were getting their supply at the same contract price as a year ago, then the cost at Charlotte and subsequent charges caused it to be worth on the dock $8.33 per ton to the dealer. The coal dealers demurred at the state-

THANKSGIVING FESTIVAL ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Some Four Hundred Were Provided For—Happy Addresses and Good Music Were Provided.

On Tuesday evening the congregation of Brock Street Methodist church held a Thanksgiving festival, which in the beautiful spread made by the ladies in the basement was true to the traditions of the old lands, and New England, regarding the hospitality of this happy observance. Fully four hundred persons were provided for, with a facility which surprised the visitors from other churches, and which gave by Third Methodist workers, fresh credit for energy and liberal support of their leaders. The body of the church was completely filled for the after entertainment. Rev. Dr. Philip said an appropriate prayer of grace and thanksgiving. Rev. E. Cummy, with very generous compliment, introduced the chairman, Edw. J. B. Ross, M.P.P., who received very warm and prolonged greetings. His address was upon the fading of the old Thanksgiving into a mere holiday observance replacing the fervent church festivals, the joyous home-comings and the gatherings about the family board. Many causes were advanced of thankfulness for the year, for the empire, the dominion and the churches. Brock Street church was congratulated upon the kindly act of General Conference in assuming half of its depressing building debt, and the efforts of the congregation toward raising the other half would, it was felt, be seconded by substantial aid from members of other churches and communities.

and when the information is received from the custom house, giving the prices of coal entered for the past eighteen months, the people will then be able to judge if they have been properly treated by coal merchants. "James Swift made the statement that he offered me $11 per ton for the coal in my cellar," Mr. Swift did not state facts, I met Mr. Swift on the street and in talking over coal matters he asked me if I had not a lot of coal in my cellar. I replied that I had. He then offered me $10 per ton for it, I said, "What do you take me for? You like to have a chance to let the public know that I had sold you coal at $10 per ton. The price of coal in my cellar has been offered to some of my friends at cost if wanted in case of a coal famine. This offer was made before the conversation with Mr. Swift and can be vouched for. The hard coal in my cellar did not exceed in cost $1.80 per net ton. I may be fond of money, but selling that same coal at $10 per ton is too much for me."

NORTH KING BACK.

Stormbound at Charlotte With Excursionists.

The steamer North King arrived at Swift's wharf from Charlotte at half past seven o'clock Wednesday morning with her Kingston excursionists, who left on Sunday afternoon for Rochester. Many there were who walked off the steamer with groggy and milky countenances. It was especially so with the girls, who felt the rolling of the boat most. The excursionists were down here on Tuesday morning, but on account of the terrible storm which raged on Monday, the North King did not dare venture to cross the lake. Had she left port, mariners say, she would have surely been swamped. The excursionists took the situation philosophically, as most of them were staying with friends in the Flower City. Some, however, had parted with most of their coin ere Monday evening arrival, and had to borrow from their more fortunate brethren. At five o'clock Tuesday afternoon, the North King left Charlotte with her 350 passengers, over 200 of whom belonged to the Kingston party. Fair weather was experienced coming across, the storm not rising till morning. A number of the excursionists, who could not remain, took train for home on Monday night.

When We Were 21.

Among the books of the day there are few that we could waste our time over for a second reading. The same idea prevails in regard to our modern novels, with the exception of "Twenty-One" as it is marked exception. This great comedy which is to be presented here at the Grand on Thanksgiving afternoon and evening, has one fair auditor who attended the performance at seventeen consecutive matinees during its run at the Knickerbocker theatre in New York City.

Gunner Horace Gillespie, Plainfield, who served at Making in a Montreal hospital. He met with an accident near Sudbury having his head caught between two C.P.R. cars. His hearing was gone, his left eye deranged, and his face paralyzed. He is recovering slowly. Speaking of his retreat on the butchers' bones, the reporter, Alderman King, remarked that when the glass pointed to the necessity asked for a tax in order to raise the price of the coal. Then why recall it and why have the tobaccoists been refused license? One pound of leather strip cocoon 20¢, four pounds best long sugar 2¢, 7 pounds of bright yellow sugar 2¢, and 25 pounds best granulated sugar for $1. NEW FLYER ORDERED.

Commodore McAuley Will Have the Very Finest.

During the present summer the intimate friends of Thomas McAuley have noted a change in the features of the general commodore. Capt. West, J. Hayek and others got themselves new boats and there has been considerable boasting all around. Those knowing the commodore best, guessed that something would happen soon that would give the "other fellows" a big "jar." With that innate modesty which characterizes the general "Tom," he refrained from idle boasting, but quietly laid his plans, and, if nothing unforeseen occurs, there will be something doing in the harbor next season, and the "other fellows" may have reason to "go away back and sit down." Tom went down to New York and placed an order, and, outside of intimating that the plans of his boat will cost more than the outfits of the other fellows, he is not saying much.

He says he intended to keep it quiet about his going to New York, but the fact leaked out, and there was quite a crowd at the New York station to greet him. Nearly all the big papers had reporters there to get his views on the coal situation in Canada, while all the manufacturers of motor yachts were on the ground to try and get his order. However, he was hungry and quietly took a cab from the Grand Central for the Waldorf-Astoria. Next day the leading makers placed their best boats at his disposal and told him not to be afraid to express any criticism he felt justified in making, because they were always ready to improve their constructions. "Tom" quietly picked up the best points in each and then placed an order for a craft, which will be a combination of the best, with a few ideas of his own.

From remarks dropped, his friends would not be surprised to see a boat driven by liquid air power, supplied from shore, received by wireless Mars system. There might be glass bottom to see rocks, but there certainly will be a good towing post, to take disabled boats of others ashore. There may be a long distance glass to see those following, while an Edison record will take the comments of those who pass on his way. It is quite possible the construction of the boat will permit of pneumatic skates being arranged for ice racing. When "Tom" gets his yacht in the harbor, it is expected the other fellows will quietly put up their barrels of flour for the infants' Home without submitting themselves to the humiliation of defeat in a race.

KINGSTON'S CHANCE

Of Getting Hard Coal If Strike Is Settled.

Asked what chance Kingston would have of getting coal were the strike settled this week or next, W. G. Craig said: "There are eleven coal dealers in Kingston and I have no doubt but what a number of them will be able to get some cargoes within a month. We have contracts filed with the firms on the other side since last spring, and, of course, these have not been cancelled. There will be navigation for two months yet, so I have every reason for saying that if the strike is soon settled, we will be selling hard coal as usual at $7 a ton, and perhaps cheaper. At any rate I do not think it will be higher than that."

Frontenac Cheese Board.

Kingston, Oct. 15.—The boardings at today's session of the Frontenac cheese board were very small, only 575 boxes being registered, of which 225 were white and 350 colored. Bidding was sluggish, only one offer, 11c, being made. The buyers present were: D. J. McKinnon, O. C. Bissell, J. Alexander, R. Thompson, and L. J. Murphy. These factories had cheese on sale:

White—Model, 60; Silver Springs, 75; Howe Island, 25; Cold Springs, 65. Colored—Forest, 70; Glenvale, 50; Granite Hill, 70; Pine Hill, 60; Rose Hill, 35; Elginburg, 70; Sand Hill, 35; Wolfe Island, 60.

At eleven cents, these sales were closed by J. C. Bissell, Sand Hill, Rose Hill, Silver Springs.

Among The Advertisers.

Latonia advertising emanates from New York. Nan's dyspepsia cure is striking out from Boston. The Daily News, New York, is making a specialty of medical advertising. The Dr. J. C. Ayer company, most experienced of advertisers, are using dailies freely this fall. The Rolla City, Mo., Era offers to test advertising for those who say it does not pay by giving a two-line notice free. The Whig did it once, but the two lines in a spot selected as the most obscure in the paper. An hour later the paper appeared, the item brought the advertiser callers and he encountered many references to the little feeder.

Real Estate Changes.

J. S. R. McCann, real estate agent, has sold the frame house at 30 Frontenac street, owned by W. H. Fletcher, Toronto, to R. M. Graham, of Portmouth. He has also disposed of the frame dwelling at 112 Johnston street, owned by W. H. Cassidy. The purchaser was Alexander Mills, of Detroit, a former Kingstonian, who will return to this city to reside.

Asking For Help.

The Ontario Licensed Victuallers Association want local hotel proprietors to contribute $10 each to the referendum campaign fund. Wholesale dealer $100 each. The members of the local association do not feel like allowing the Toronto headquarters staff to handle the money, which they think might be put to better use here.

Birmingham—Gunn.

A pretty wedding took place Tuesday night in St. George's Cathedral, when Miss Maud Gunn, youngest daughter of the late John Bruce Gunn, was united in marriage by the Rev. G. Starr to Walter Birmingham. The bride was attended by Miss Sadie Perryman, while the groom was supported by his brother, William G. Birmingham.

The Allan line Siberian, from Glasgow, arrived at Philadelphia, at 8:29 a.m., on Wednesday.

The musical programme, secured and arranged by Rev. E. Cummy and Mrs. Carnovsky, gave great satisfaction with applause for each and all, including Miss Munroe, Miss Reynier, Rev. J. Howard Philip, Rev. Mr. Gibson of Cataract, Mrs. Thomas Mills, who was very heartily cheered after both of her songs, given with clear, rich voice and cultivated expression, a much appreciated addition to local musical talents. Miss Dutton gave two effective recitations and was vigorously recalled. Rev. Alexander Laird, of Cooke's church, extended neighborly greetings after a hearty reception and made an impressive address upon the art of living together, in the home, the church and the community. The blind trooper, Mr. Mulloy, now a student of Queen's College, met a lively reception, his courage and spirit to succeed in spite of his war disability having won a warm place for him in the public regard. He gave an interesting review of the difficulties of life among the Canadian Dragoons when on the march and at the battle front in South Africa. The procuring and cooking of rations gave him a fruitful subject for sprightly detail, and he was approved of as a speaker by all as gallant a fighter. He gave a vocal solo later, and it brought forth an encore.

Important To Our Festival.

The importance of the Thanksgiving festival lies in the fact that on this day the people of Canada are called upon to attribute their happiness, peace and prosperity, not to the genius of Washington or Brock, nor to the victories of Wolfe or the astute statesmanship of this or that great president or politician, but to the love and mercy and power of Almighty God. We regard the yearly appointment of a day of national thanksgiving as the best method that a country could resort to in vindicating itself from the charge of irreligion and placing itself on the same plane with other Christian nationalities.
