

AT CORBETT'S

The new way

is better than the old method of using a chopping bowl and knife. Sargent's Gem Food Chopper is a kitchen necessity that every housekeeper will appreciate. It chops meat, vegetables, fruits, and the many other things that have to be chopped—chops them just as you want them: fine, coarse or medium. No trouble to use, and always ready for use.

JOHN CORBETT.
Kingston.

Try One for Cold Weather.

You want a reliable heater. You also want one that is a fuel saver, at the same time heating the house in a satisfactory manner.

Call and see them at
CORBETT'S Hardware.

WE'RE MAKING
A Specialty of These Goods:

There's a Flavor and Strength to our Special Blend Teas and Coffees that satisfies Particular Folks. Try them and you'll use them regularly.

THE STARR CO.
185 WELLINGTON ST.

Carling's Half-and-Half is a delightful drink, combining the strengthening properties of porter with the milder exhilarant of good ale.

It's for sale by most dealers, put up in pint and quart bottles.

CARLING
LONDON

Sole agent of Kingston, J. S. Henderson.

FITS
EPILEPSY

FREE SAMPLE OF LIEBIG'S FIT CURE.

If you suffer from Epilepsy, Fits, Falling Sickness, St. Vitus Dance, have a fit, or know a friend that is afflicted, then send for a free trial bottle with valuable Treatise, and try it. The same bottle will be sent by mail, prepaid, to you nearest Post Office address. In every place where everything else has failed. When writing, mention paper and give name, age and full address to THE LIEBIG CO., 179 KING ST. WEST, TORONTO, CANADA.

BLINDS,
GRILLES,
STORM SASHES,
And all kinds of Interior and Exterior

WOOD WORKING
Well Manufactured by
S. ANGLIN & CO.

DON'T WASTE MONEY

On poor, ill-flavored butter, when you can get a pound of the best Clarified Butter, sweet and finely flavored, for 25¢. Try a pound and see how pleased you will be.

Clarified Milk Co.,
Phone 507, Brock & Bagot Sts.

INFANTS' DELIGHT SOAP

Sanctuary all other for the Father and Nursery.
Made by John Taylor & Co., Toronto.

COLDS

THE WHIG — 68TH YEAR.

DAILY BRITISH WHIG, published each evening, 10c-31c. King Street, $6 per year. Editions 2,000. 4 columns. WEEKLY BRITISH WHIG, 12 pages, published every Thursday morning, at $1 a year.

Attached is one of the best Job Printing Offices in Canada; rapid, stylish and cheap work; nine improved presses.

EDW. J. B. PENSE, PROPRIETOR.

THE DAILY WHIG.

Opiter per Orben Dicor.

A SOLUTION IS POSSIBLE.

The school book question is again making trouble. The phonic primer, recently de-authorized, is now made entirely in Canada, and its publishers demand that it be re-authorized.

There is a difficulty in the way. The inspectors of schools have been notified that there is only one premier on the market, that published by Morang, and the circular to that effect must be withdrawn before the second premier can be issued.

The complication emphasizes what the Whig has so often contended for—some action taking towards the publication of school books by the government.

In this case the primer should be passed upon by competent critics, the better one selected, the author's copyright purchased, and the better book published at its cost by the government.

General Booth has not been the owner of a horse on earth. But he cherishes the idea that he will have one in Heaven. Is the old man's orthodoxy sound?

Ear Rosebery is again the most conspicuous leader of public opinion in England. He should be the only leader of the liberal party. He is the only one who can lead it to success.

An experiment on a small scale would settle the question as to whether all school books should not be turned out by the government press.

ROW IN PARLIAMENT.

The Nationalists have merited little consideration from the British government. Their attitude in recent years has been offensive. They have imposed upon the premier. They have tried his patience, his temper, his forbearance.

Yet they had some occasion to resent the all-too-evident slight that was put upon them on Thursday night.

Mr. Balfour, as leader of the house, had outlined the work which the government regarded as important and the discussion of which was calculated to absorb the attention of parliament for the time being.

The coal and wood dealers gave the minister men the correct answer—“Go into the fuel business, and do it right away.” The men with options on hand are expected to do more than talk about them.

Mr. Whitney is appalled at the nerve of Hon. Mr. Ross. The premier goes on, attending to the public business, and seems to be oblivious of the fact that Mr. Whitney is watching and waiting for his place.

Collier's Weekly has it that in no other country in the world is the profession of arms so highly esteemed as a social privilege and so loftily ignored as a serious vocation as in England. Is that a correct indictment?

Mr. Borden, the conservative leader for the present, finds fault with the liberal tariff policy. He calls it a policy of expediency and compromise.

What is the conservative policy? Who makes it? When was it drafted and adopted?

Caste has been recognized by Kitchener in the selection of his Indian staff. Has he surrendered to society?

It looks that way, and it was not expected. Of all commanders he was looked to for the advancement of officers upon their merits.

The report that Sir Wilfrid Laurier returns to Canada very sick man appears to be groundless. Why should any one draw upon his imagination and to the extent of putting the premier into retirement on account of illness? Political malice did not suggest the offence, but political idiocy did.

The fracas was accentuated by the premier's tart, caustic, indiscreet remark. It precipitated a scene on the opening day that has not been equalled in many a year, and it augurs badly for the peace of the session.

In the absence of a local legislature Irish affairs must be discussed in the imperial parliament. They cannot be ignored.

RELIC HUNTERS HAD A GREAT DAY OF IT AT THE SALE OF MR. WESTCOTT'S HOUSEHOLD EFFECTS IN SYRACUSE.

Mr. Rowland, a distinguished minister of the Congregational church of England, now visiting in Canada, says the education bill, if forced through parliament, will lead eventually to the disestablishment of the Church of England.

There is in England what is called the Liberation Society. “It has fallen into desuetude,” said Mr. Rowland, “chiefly because most of the demands of the society have been met. But this bill will revive the old resentments and hasten disestablishment.”

That may be an extreme view. It is surely an extreme contingency. The immediate issue is the popularity or unpopularity of the government. Its fate is in peril. Mr. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain have, however, decided that the bill will go through. It may be amended; but it will not be abandoned.

It is inconceivable that England, the mother of nations, has up to this date been without a distinctly national and unitarian school system. The denominations have been more progressive than the governments, and they have in thousands of towns and villages the institutions that afford the children education. It is proposed to take these over, in a sense to secularize them, to make them a public system, and yet give their present owners a large share in their government.

The fight of the Nonconformists is a bitter and determined one. They make light of the one great contention for the education bill as it stands, namely, that the nation is not in a position financially, to undertake a new school system without regard to the possessions of the churches. Millions for war and millions for the resettlement and reconstruction of South Africa, and not a million for schools! It is a humiliating confession. It is one of the people are not inclined to favour.

Parliament meanwhile has resumed its sessions, and the education bill is again before it. The government may force its supporters to stand by it in this crisis. But the heathen is on fire, and the conflagration will hardly be extinguished until another election is on and affected by its lurid illumination.

SATURDAY THOUGHTS.

The Rosebery idea is again making trouble. The phonic primer, recently de-authorized, is now made entirely in Canada, and its publishers demand that it be re-authorized.

The latest fad is a municipal theatre. It ought to be a success, in Kingston, where so many aldermen have their fortnightly rehearsals in comedy.

Cleveland advises the democratic party to advocate a lower tariff. He has been reading the signs of the times, and he is regarded as an expert in the business.

General Booth has not been the owner of a horse on earth. But he cherishes the idea that he will have one in Heaven. Is the old man's orthodoxy sound?

Ear Rosebery is again the most conspicuous leader of public opinion in England. He should be the only leader of the liberal party. He is the only one who can lead it to success.

The convention of coal miners, to consider the situation and call off the strike, occurs on the 20th. Its action is a foregone conclusion. They have got what they have contended for.

The coal and wood dealers gave the minister men the correct answer—“Go into the fuel business, and do it right away.” The men with options on hand are expected to do more than talk about them.

Mr. Whitney is appalled at the nerve of Hon. Mr. Ross. The premier goes on, attending to the public business, and seems to be oblivious of the fact that Mr. Whitney is watching and waiting for his place.

Collier's Weekly has it that in no other country in the world is the profession of arms so highly esteemed as a social privilege and so loftily ignored as a serious vocation as in England. Is that a correct indictment?

Mr. Borden, the conservative leader for the present, finds fault with the liberal tariff policy. He calls it a policy of expediency and compromise.

What is the conservative policy? Who makes it? When was it drafted and adopted?

Caste has been recognized by Kitchener in the selection of his Indian staff. Has he surrendered to society?

It looks that way, and it was not expected. Of all commanders he was looked to for the advancement of officers upon their merits.

The report that Sir Wilfrid Laurier returns to Canada very sick man appears to be groundless. Why should any one draw upon his imagination and to the extent of putting the premier into retirement on account of illness? Political malice did not suggest the offence, but political idiocy did.

The fracas was accentuated by the premier's tart, caustic, indiscreet remark. It precipitated a scene on the opening day that has not been equalled in many a year, and it augurs badly for the peace of the session.

In the absence of a local legislature Irish affairs must be discussed in the imperial parliament. They cannot be ignored.

RELIC HUNTERS HAD A GREAT DAY OF IT AT THE SALE OF MR. WESTCOTT'S HOUSEHOLD EFFECTS IN SYRACUSE.

Mr. Rowland, a distinguished minister of the Congregational church of England, now visiting in Canada, says the education bill, if forced through parliament, will lead eventually to the disestablishment of the Church of England.

There is in England what is called the Liberation Society. “It has fallen into desuetude,” said Mr. Rowland, “chiefly because most of the demands of the society have been met. But this bill will revive the old resentments and hasten disestablishment.”

That may be an extreme view. It is surely an extreme contingency. The immediate issue is the popularity or unpopularity of the government. Its fate is in peril. Mr. Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain have, however, decided that the bill will go through. It may be amended; but it will not be abandoned.

It is inconceivable that England, the mother of nations, has up to this date been without a distinctly national and unitarian school system. The denominations have been more progressive than the governments, and they have in thousands of towns and villages the institutions that afford the children education. It is proposed to take these over, in a sense to secularize them, to make them a public system, and yet give their present owners a large share in their government.

The fight of the Nonconformists is a bitter and determined one. They make light of the one great contention for the education bill as it stands, namely, that the nation is not in a position financially, to undertake a new school system without regard to the possessions of the churches. Millions for war and millions for the resettlement and reconstruction of South Africa, and not a million for schools! It is a humiliating confession. It is one of the people are not inclined to favour.

Parliament meanwhile has resumed its sessions, and the education bill is again before it. The government may force its supporters to stand by it in this crisis. But the heathen is on fire, and the conflagration will hardly be extinguished until another election is on and affected by its lurid illumination.

SATURDAY THOUGHTS.

The Rosebery idea is again making trouble. The phonic primer, recently de-authorized, is now made entirely in Canada, and its publishers demand that it be re-authorized.

The latest fad is a municipal theatre.

It ought to be a success, in Kingston, where so many aldermen have their fortnightly rehearsals in comedy.

Cleveland advises the democratic party to advocate a lower tariff.

He has been reading the signs of the times, and he is regarded as an expert in the business.

General Booth has not been the owner of a horse on earth. But he cherishes the idea that he will have one in Heaven. Is the old man's orthodoxy sound?

Ear Rosebery is again the most conspicuous leader of public opinion in England. He should be the only leader of the liberal party. He is the only one who can lead it to success.

The latest fad is a municipal theatre.

It ought to be a success, in Kingston, where so many aldermen have their fortnightly rehearsals in comedy.

Cleveland advises the democratic party to advocate a lower tariff.

He has been reading the signs of the times, and he is regarded as an expert in the business.

General Booth has not been the owner of a horse on earth. But he cherishes the idea that he will have one in Heaven. Is the old man's orthodoxy sound?

Ear Rosebery is again the most conspicuous leader of public opinion in England. He should be the only leader of the liberal party. He is the only one who can lead it to success.

The latest fad is a municipal theatre.

It ought to be a success, in Kingston, where so many aldermen have their fortnightly rehearsals in comedy.

Cleveland advises the democratic party to advocate a lower tariff.

He has been reading the signs of the times, and he is regarded as an expert in the business.

General Booth has not been the owner of a horse on earth. But he cherishes the idea that he will have one in Heaven. Is the old man's orthodoxy sound?

Ear Rosebery is again the most conspicuous leader of public opinion in England. He should be the only leader of the liberal party. He is the only one who can lead it to success.

The latest fad is a municipal theatre.

It ought to be a success, in Kingston, where so many aldermen have their fortnightly rehearsals in comedy.

Cleveland advises the democratic party to advocate a lower tariff.

He has been reading the signs of the times, and he is regarded as an expert in the business.

General Booth has not been the owner of a horse on earth. But he cherishes the idea that he will have one in Heaven. Is the old man's orthodoxy sound?

Ear Rosebery is again the most conspicuous leader of public opinion in England. He should be the only leader of the liberal party. He is the only one who can lead it to success.

The latest fad is a municipal theatre.

It ought to be a success, in Kingston, where so many aldermen have their fortnightly rehearsals in comedy.

Cleveland advises the democratic party to advocate a lower tariff.

He has been reading the signs of the times, and he is regarded as an expert in the business.

General Booth has not been the owner of a horse on earth. But he cherishes the idea that he will have one in Heaven. Is the old man's orthodoxy sound?

Ear Rosebery is again the most conspicuous leader of public opinion in England. He should be the only leader of the liberal party. He is the only one who can lead it to success.

The latest fad is a municipal theatre.