A GOOD THING

Ex-Mayor Prefontaine Describes The Situation

REAL MOTIVE

WHICH ACTUATED THE HON. J. ISRAEL TARTE.

He Wanted to Show His Power to Hon. Mr. Fielding, Who May be the Successor Some Day of Sir Wilfrid Laurier — Little Following in Quebec Province.

Montreal, Oct. 23.—To the Witness ex-Mayor Prefontaine said that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will have no trouble in getting good men to fill the place of the minister of public works. It has been said in regard to himself that he would not do because he was a protectionist. Well, he always believed in a reasonable amount of protection, and he did so at this moment, but at the same time he was loyal to the revision which had been made in 1897, and which did not pretend at the time to represent a finality.

"Might I ask this question, Mr. Prefontaine? It has been stated on the street that you said you believed that the motive of Mr. Tarte in starting the the high tariff campaign was to be found in a compact made with Sir Wilfrid Laurier before the latter left for England—a compact by which Mr. Tarte was to prepare the country for a revision of the tariff, which was to take place in the interest of the manufacturers. Is that true?"

Mr. Prefontaine laughed. "Nothing of the kind, I never said it. I never thought it. But I will say that a political friend of mine said so at the Windsor Hotel. I denied it. I honor and love Sir Wilfred above any other man. I believe him to be the soul of honor; but if he had stooped to such a thing I would consider him a despicable man. Absurd—utterly preposterous. Sir Wilfrid is not the man to stoop to such a thing."

"Have you, then, as a matter of fact, Mr. Prefontaine, sought to discover the real motive of Mr. Tarte? He must have known he was acting an unconstitutional part. He must have foreseen the consequence."

"Well, there has been a motive ascribed to Mr. Tarte in the premises which I think I may mention, though, mind you, I do not say that I subscribe to it. Mr. Tarte and I are not friends, nor could Sir Wilfrid Laurier, with all his trying, make us such, but I intend to be just. The motive is alleged to be this: Mr. Fielding was to succeed Sir Wilfrid. That was understood. That has been discussed by the party, and, indeed, settled. Mr. Tarte well knew this. Of course, this was not to take place to-morrow. But Mr. Fielding was to have the right of succession. Well, Mr. Tarte, in order to impose himself upon Mr. Fielding, in order to make himself indispensable, works out this campaign so that he might be able to show his power or to hold him up with a threat, the same as he held up Sir John Macdonald in regard to the McGreevy affair. If Mr. Fielding did not give him a place then there would be war, and Mr. Tarte would have the munitions of war. That has been stated."

"Do you think that the removal of Mr. Tarte, giving him absolute freedom to gravitate to the conservatives and making, doubtless, a following, will have a disorganizing effect upon the party?"

"On the contrary, I unhesitatingly say that the removal of Mr. Tarte will make for the strengthening of the party, and especially in this province where I verily believe Mr. Tarte has not a single partizan. You may remember the time Mr. Tarte was taken into the cabinet. Well, I have been all my life upon the best of terms with the financial and industrial interests of this country as a public man should be who desired the prosperity of the country. When the liberals were returned to power in 1896, these interests, or the representatives of these interests, expressed to me this feeling: 'We respect Sir Wilfrid; we believe him honest; but there are certain elements in the cabinet which we distrust.' And this distrust has never ceased."

"It was thought that Mr. Tarte had great power in Quebec?"

"An utter fallacy. He has no following whatever. Why is the government so strong in Quebec? Simply because of the personality of the premier. It is not too strong an expression to say that Sir Wilfrid is actually beloved by the mass of the people in this province. And why? Because of his personal character; because of his perfect sincerity; because of his high sense of honor. That is why the party stuck together in this province; that is why he received a majority."

"You have noticed Mr. Tarte's explanation this morning?"

"Yes, but it proves nothing. He talks of advocating a policy of Canada for the Canadians. Well, that is only repeating a phrase. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has been pursuing a policy of Canada for the Canadians. Look at the country. Look at the prosperity we enjoy. Look at the stand he took in regard to the question of imperial contribution. He said: 'We will strengthen out own defences; we will establish such forces as will make us secure, but our policy must be, before all things, Canada for the Canadians. Of course, we will help the Mother Country if she needs help, but we will not be dragged into expensive undertakings with which we have no concern. We will work out our own destiny as a primary moving and operative force.'

"This was the high policy which Sir Wilfrid enunciated. Mr. Tarte talks of a high wall against the Americans. Well, that is stupid, for there are things which we must get from the Americans. I believe, in this country, in a moderate degree of protection, and I believe we will never increase our industries if we do not offer a little help at the start. And I may say that when I appeared in Maisonneuve I frankly told the people—the people of the industrial suburb—that I was in favor of protection to a moderate degree. And I may tell you more—that I had the authority of the premier for saying so. Nay, more—I had his promise that if there was any doubt on that score he would come to the division himself and say so. But then, that does not mean that the revision which took place was not satisfactory, and should not be lived up to."

"But Mr. Tarte states that he said the same thing in the presence of Sir Wilfrid and was not rebuked?"

"Yes, but to speak in the presence of the other ministers is one thing; to start a campaign on your own account, to go up and down the country advocating a policy contrary to the mind of the cabinet—that is very different."

"I do not believe in the present tariff as a finality; no man who thinks could do that, for the circumstances of the country must be taken into account; but Mr. Tarte knew very well—I may say this much without betraying the secrets of the party caucus—that it was not the intention of the government to proceed with a revision at present. I could say more on this point, but I must refrain."

"Mr. Tarte says he has the country with him in his new campaign?"

"Well, perhaps he can prove it. What I know is that the country has expressed its decided approval of the present policy of the government. Perhaps we were a little disappointed in the census, but aside from that look at the prosperity of the country look at the development which has taken place since Sir Wilfrid reached power. A party which has done so much has no reason to fear anything which Mr. Tarte may say or do. Of course, the campaign will be continued in his paper, but I have no fear whatever of the result."

May Join Mr. Tarte.

Toronto, Oct. 23.—The impression prevails in well-informed circles that William Maclean, proprietor of the World, is a strong supporter of Hon. J. I. Tarte, and will join him in an effort to form a party whose platform will be high protection. Mr. Maclean and his paper would labor in Ontario, while Mr. Tarte would direct the fight in Quebec, through La Patrie and his newly-purchased English paper, the Mercury, of Quebec.

The party of which Messrs. Tarte and Maclean would be the leaders would be, according to the rumors in circulation, materially assisted by individual manufacturers and the Manufacturers' Association.

It is also stated that Hon. Mr. Tarte will very shortly become a resident of Toronto. He has decided, it appears, to live for five or six months in the Queen City.

TORONTO'S FUEL SUPPLY.

There Is Considerable Worry About it.

Toronto, Oct. 23.—It is asserted in certain circles that local fuel dealers have entered into compact to prevent supplies of wood, purchased by the council, from reaching the city in any reasonable time. Mayor Howland says that there is no evidence to substantiate the charge, but he declares that if the city is kept out of its wood, much longer an investigation will be instituted. The controllers, at a private conference, decided to notify the contractors that all supplies must be delivered within the next ten days, or the city will refuse to receive the wood. Mayor Howland has received a cable stating that the steamer carrying the Welsh admiralty coal had met with an accident and would not sail before to-morrow.

RETIRED SAFELY.

Colonel Swayne Has Reached Bohotle.

London, Oct. 23.—The foreign office, to-day, received a dispatch from Gen. Manning, sent to the relief of Col. Swayne, in Somaliland. The telegram, dated Berbera, reads: "I arrived at Berbera at 10 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 22nd. Swayne has reached Bohotle in safety. His force was not attacked during the retirement. The situation is consequently more satisfactory, but do not cancel the orders moving a Punjab regiment from India, for service here, in case such orders have been given, as further developments must be awaited. The wounded are doing well. A detachment from Aden is due to-arrive to-day and they will assume a forward position to-morrow."

WANT THEM TO SAY

They Will Abide by Decision of Commission.

Hazelton, Pa., Oct. 23.—Of the twenty-eight collieries in the Hazelton district not one-half resumed operations to-day. G. B. Markle & Co's men and the employees of Coxe Bros. & Co., at two collieries refuse to return to work because of posted notices requiring them to promise that they will abide by the decision of the arbitration tribunal.

FAREWELL TO TOWNS.

Dined Prior to His Sailing For Australia.

London, Oct. 23.—George Towns, the sculling champion of the world, was entertained at dinner, prior to his departure for his home in Australia on Friday next. Ex-champion of England Tom Sullivan proposed the health of Jake Gaudaur, from whom Towns wrested the title, adding that the oarsmen from England found in the Rat Portage sculler a thoroughly good sportsman.

LIBERAL LOSS

The Party Is Bitterly Disappointed

UNIONIST WON

ITS FIRST GAIN IN A BYE-ELECTION.

Regarded as a Rebuff to the Roseberyites—The Election Was Fought on the Education Question — Enthusiasm Over the Result.

London, Oct. 23.—An election was held, yesterday, at Davonport, to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons, caused by the death of Edward J. Morton, who was a liberal. The candidates were James Lockie, unionist, who received 3,785 votes, and T. A. Brassey, liberal-imperialist, who received 3,757. This is the first unionist gain in a bye-election since the government took office. The election of Mr. Lockie is regarded as a rebuff to the Roseberyites. Mr. Brassey is an original member of the Liberal League, which was started by secessionists from the regular liberal federation.

Bitter Disappointment.

New York, Oct. 23.—The Tribune's London cable says: The liberal party is bitterly disappointed at the result of Devonport election. T. A. Brassey, son of Lord Brassey, was a strong candidate, and even his political opponents expected him to win. The election was fought on the education question and it has resulted in a surprising victory for the unionists.

The scene in the house of commons when the figures were made known was remarkable. The members crowded into the lobby and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed among the supporters of the government. Since 1892 the constituency had been represented by two liberal members, H. E. Kearley and E. J. C. Morton. From 1885 until 1892 the constituency was held by the conservatives.

Premier Balfour's superior finesse is revealed in every fresh bout with Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman over the appointment of a day for the discussion of Irish grievances and the moving of a vote of censure. Lord Rosebery, standing outside the tabernacle, no longer worships the home rule gods and Premier Balfour wishes to identify Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman with the fortunes of the Irish party and thereby widen the breach between the liberal factions. The premier's eagerness to name a day nearly carried the liberal leader off his feet. Premier Balfour's resources as a tactician do not, however, make up for Mr. Wyndham's defects of manner. When confronted with a howling mob of Irish members the chief secretary of Ireland is excitably and easily drawn and flurried.

The Times' discovery that Russian progress in the evacuation of Manchuria has involved the permanent concentration of troops along a well constructed railway, traversing the populous province, is discussed quietly by the English press. The truth is frankly admitted that Manchuria is little less than a province of the Russian empire, and that European powers have been completely duped by a transparent device for prolonging the occupation under the guise of a military retreat from chief cities. Nothing is said about the Anglo-German treaty agreement, which pledged the two powers to an hypothetical consultation in certain emergencies, nor about the Anglo-Japanese alliance which commits Britain to an attack upon France if the republic joins Russia in a campaign against Japan. The success of Russian diplomacy, at Pekin, is conceded and a similar triumph is forecasted in the eastern Mediterranean. The tradition of Palmerston and Beaconsfield times, that Russia was inevitably England's enemy has ceased to be sacred. The Times' correspondents on the continent have taken another line for many months, and have gradually converted English opinion. The new view is that Germany is in a favorable position for menacing British prestige and that Britain has everything to gain and little to lose by accommodating herself to Russian intrigue and progress, and by declining to lend moral support to German diplomacy.

VALUES HER LOVE AT $80,000.

Miner Sues Man Who Weds Another.

Mankato, Minn., Oct. 23.—A sensation was caused here yesterday when Mrs. Lizzie H. Phelps, owner of a millinery establishment, began an action in the district court against Lester Patterson to recover $80,000 damages for alleged breach of promise of marriage. Mr. Patterson was recently married to a wealthy widow at Los Angeles, Cal. Mrs. Phelps alleges that she and Patterson were engaged for two years and that she was greatly astonished when the California wedding took place.

"The Bearded Lady" Dies.

New York, Oct. 23.—Mrs. William Donovan, who travelled with a circus as "the bearded lady," famous in the days of Barnum, died yesterday at her home in Brooklyn. She was thirty-seven years of age. She was born in Virginia and started travelling with a show when she was nine years old. In the course of her career she visited every civilized country in the world. She had a heavy black beard and mustache.

CORDIALLY ACCEPTED.

Congress of the Empire Assembles at Montreal.

Montreal, Oct. 23.—The fifth congress of Chambers of Commerce of the empire will be held in Montreal next year. At a meeting of the council of the board of trade a letter was read from the London Chamber of Commerce stating that the invitation of the Montreal board had been most cordially accepted by the organizing committee of the congress and by the council of the London chamber. The date named by the Montreal board of the congress is August 17th, 1903, and it is most likely that the invitations to be issued by the London chamber will be for that date.

The Canadian Pacific railway will again go into the German market for steel rails next year. This year the company found it advantageous to purchase about 25,000 tons from German mills. Recently the company placed, through a Montreal agent, another order for 15,000 tons, to be delivered next year on the Pacific coast. English mills also sold a quantity this year to the Canadian Pacific.

CAT IN FOUNDATION.

Had Been Walled up For Six Weeks Without Food.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Strange noises coming apparently from a supposed solid brick foundation in the northeast corner of the new postoffice building have been puzzling workers upon the structure for the past six weeks. Yesterday the mystery was solved by the removal of a portion of the foundation and the discovery of a black and white cat secreted in a space barely large enough to permit of the entrance of its body. As a layer of rock was removed the cat leaped out and three workmen who stood about fell back in surprise. Day after day peculiar sounds were heard about the foundation stone and workmen had become superstitious, refusing to work about the stone. Finally the foreman decided to clear up the mystery and ordered a huge stone removed. Then the cat, almost starved, leaped out and made its escape.

SAVED BY RAIN.

Heavy Downpour Prevents a Disastrous Blaze.

Buffalo, Oct. 23.—Fire last night destroyed the freight shed of the Union Steamboat company on the marine slip, near the foot of Michigan street. One of the big Lehigh Valley propellors which was unloading grain at the marine elevator, directly opposite the sheds, was pulled away from the dock with her upper works ablaze, and it was with great difficulty that other vessels succeeded in escaping the flames which swept across the slip and to the opposite side of Buffalo river.

A downpour of rain which began soon after the fire started probably prevented a disastrous conflagration along the water front.

TO HAVE BIG ADDITION.

Building to Be Erected in Business District.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Plans are being prepared for a large building in the business district for the Chicago University, to cost $2,000,000. In it will be located the business offices of the university, the proposed musical college of the institution, and in addition the Central church and the Thomas orchestra will be tenants. A large hall with a seating capacity of 3,500 persons will be a feature of the new structure. Negotiations for a suitable site are pending, but the location most likely to be secured, it is said, is on Michigan avenue.

Morgan Picks Up $3,500,000.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Besides his profit of $1,500,000 for underwriting the Harvester combine, it transpires that J. P. Morgan made an additional $3,500,000 by purchasing an independent concern and selling it to the trust. On the day the International Harvester company incorporation papers were fyled in New Jersey, Morgan is credited with having bought the Milwaukee Harvester company for $1,500,000. When the list of properties acquired by the trusts was made out the Milwaukee concern was scheduled at $5,000,000.

The Officers Named.

Peddler Murdered.

Halifax, N.S., Oct. 23.—With skull battered in and his face covered with blood from a great wound on the side of his face, the dead body of an Armenian pedlar, who had been murdered, was found in the tunnel of the famous old Tennycape mine, a short distance from Noel. The horrible discovery was made by two men who had been out hunting.

Must Avoid Accidents.

Wilkesbarre, Oct. 23.—The officials of the companies do not expect to mine very much coal this week. They say the workings will be placed in the best possible condition in order to avoid accidents. At many of the collieries of this region the mules, which have been in pasture since last spring, were lowered into the mines to-day.
