Can Tell Time By A Cat's Eye.

Few persons are aware that it is possible to tell the time by the eye of a cat. This is done by a close study of the feline pupil, which contracts and expands with great regularity each day. Thus, at noon, the pupil of a cat's eye is contracted into a mere slit, a mere horizontal line, and at midnight it is at its largest point of expansion, being then as big and round as a grape. With a little study of the feline optic anyone can easily come within a quarter or a half-hour of the time by reference to a cat clock.

HEARD HER SING IN STREET.

Girl Who Sang "The Holy City" Finds Benefactress.

London, Nov. 3.—Mrs. Adney Payne who wrote the songs "Dear Heart" and "The Holy City," recently found a protegee under circumstances which suggest the story book. One night a while ago the composer heard under her window the notes of a particularly sweet girl's voice which strangely enough, was singing her own "Holy City." Somewhat suspicious that her songstress knew before whose house she was singing, but with her curiosity piqued Mrs. Payne sent down her hall porter to give the wayfarer some money and to take her name and address.

The thought of the girl obliged to sing in the streets haunted the song writer all night and next morning she sent to the address which the singer had given in search of her, but at the cheap lodging house which Mrs. Payne's messenger found the girl had only stayed one night. However, Mrs. Payne sent word that she would like to see her if she ever turned up again. And sure enough, several weeks afterwards the girl got Mrs. Payne's message and she came to see her.

She was hollow eyed and sunken checked and had a pathetic story, but her voice was as sweet as if it had not been tried by many a night of singing in the wet. Mrs. Payne took her in and gave her singing lessons. Last week the young woman under the name of "Grace Merton," made her debut at a well known London music hall, singing her benefactress' two best known songs.

SAILORS BADLY USED.

Dispute Over Wages Ends in Fight on a Dock.

Oswego, N.Y., Nov. 3.—A dispute over sailors' wages among the men on the coal vessels in the harbor culminated in a lively fight in the dock at the North-Eastern elevator last night, in which William Nelson, of the schooner James G. Blaine, and Joseph Fox, of the schooner Oliver Mowat, were badly bruised. Fox lost two teeth and Nelson's eye was severely injured. The injured men went to police headquarters and Chief Doyle issued a warrant for "Slob" McGuire and "Irish Paddy." The police went down and searched several vessels, but the men were not found.

When the rush of coal came, the vesselmen could not get enough sailors. The prevailing wage was $1.75 per day. Now many of the men are demanding $2.25 per day, and it said Fox and Nelson were attacked because they did not stand with the others for the raise.

The Porte expresses its willingness to indemnify Mr. Banks. Mr. Eddy has forwarded this communication to Washington.

May Have A Train Robber.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Walter Ryan, arrested by the South Chicago police, appears to be demoralized and in his possession was found a copy of the Cleveland Leader, in which was found a marked item of the hold-up of the Northern Pacific passenger train near Drummond, Mont., October 24th.

Capt. Shippy has notified the authorities of the Northern Pacific railroad company and an endeavor will be made to connect the man with the hold-up.

The stranger is suffering with a severe stab wound in the head, which appears to be several days old. At times he seems rational and at one time admitted that he was once in Drummond, Mont., and then denied that he had ever been there.

Fears The Educated Girl.

Pittsburg, Nov. 3.—"Many a good woman has been spoiled by a school education," said James Campbell of Harrisburg, chief factory inspector for Pennsylvania, in his address yesterday before the Pennsylvania Congress of Mothers. He spoke on "Children in Factories."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Greatest Astronomer.

Kingston, Nov. 3.—(To the Editor): This is certainly a great title, not to be conferred by king or potentate. Of course no man can be first in everything, not even in every part of astronomy, but Prof. Barnard is certainly first in his knowledge of the nature and characteristics of the hosts of nebulae, those exceedingly faint hazy spots of light that dot the midnight sky. Prof. Barnard, like the world's greatest geniuses, has arisen mainly by his own hard work and industry to hold his present honorable position, and owes nothing to the favors of governments or politicians.

For a number of years he was director of the Lick observatory on Mount Washington, California, and had charge of the mammoth Lick telescope. And when the even greater Yerkes telescope, the largest telescope in the world, was finished and installed in its palatial residence at Williams Bay, Wis., as the astronomical department of the New Chicago University, Prof. Barnard was called to take charge of this giant instrument. He has made numerous discoveries, and particularly in the region of nebular astronomy.

Prof. Barnard is expected to lecture in Kingston on Saturday evening next. The lecture will be illustrated by numerous photographs projected by means of the lantern. I am sure that the citizens of Kingston will highly appreciate the privilege of listening to so distinguished a man on so great a subject.—N. F. DUPUIS.

The largest crowd that has yet greeted the Castle Square Stock company, assembled at Victoria theatre on Saturday night to witness the presentation of "Jesse James," a play which was well put on and kindly received.
