BIG NEW YORK.

AN INTERESTING LETTER FROM GOTHAM.

Republican Party Has Become Top-Heavy - The Coal Situation is Still Acute, Despite the Strike Settlement.

New York, Nov. 13.—The beginning of the social season in New York is marked by the opening of the horse show, for all society flocks to town for this auspicious national event, which usually takes place the third week in November. The exhibition this year will excel that of all other seasons, both from the social and the standpoint, for the number of distinguished out-of-town visitors will be much larger and there will be more entries. Something of the importance of this affair may be imagined when it is stated that $850 was paid for a single box this year. This price exceeds any in the history of the show, last year's record standing at $655. Visitors, however, are sure to see the grandest display of beauty and the best ever witnessed—and since it is not often that Society—as it is spelled with a big S—turns out en masse, one is not supposed to let such a trifle as money stand in the way of an attendance at the horse show.

Following the horse show is the grand opera, which begins November 24th, and continues for seventeen weeks. Two additions have been made to the list of operas this season which were missed last season in the persons of Mmes. Nordica and Melba.

There are likely to be interesting developments in republican politics in this state during the next two years. The party has become "top-heavy," so to speak. Six years of power in the nation and eight years of power in the state have resulted in a condition which may be described as "political dyspepsia," the consequence of over-feeding on official patronage. This is no mere word picture. Those who are able to look behind the scenes can see readily enough what is going on. They see the clash of personal ambitions, the contests of factions, the workings of revenge and even some of the evidences of corruption. There is reason to believe that certain aspects of republicanism at Albany are no better than Tammany in New York. There are Roosevelt and anti-Roosevelt factions in this state. Friends of the president are numerous and strong, but his enemies are exceedingly bitter and they will strike at him whenever they can do so without danger from his popularity, which has been even increased since the recent election. Republicanism in Brooklyn is in a bad shape. There are two or three factions in this city and altogether there is danger at any time of a bad explosion. Senator Platt himself admitted after the election that the reduced republican majority was a warning to the dissenting factions in the party. Only the most skillful engineering on his part can prevent the threatened catastrophe.

Tammany politicians are predicting that they will be able to hold the whip over the newly elected legislature and compel republicans to treat the minority with more consideration than they obtained last year and the year before. They are pointing out that the republicans no longer have a two-thirds majority in each branch of the legislature and Tammany leaders expect to put a check on republican legislation respecting New York city by withholding their assent to republican measures carrying an appropriation of public moneys. Every day or two some new rumor regarding Mr. Morgan's Atlantic ship combine, officially known as the International Merchant Marine company, crops out. It is now understood that there will soon be a consolidation of all the passenger offices of the steamship lines in the combine. Despite the fact that the coal strike has been settled, the situation in New York city is acute, and it is hardly possible that Mayor Low will be able to enforce the smoke ordinance after to-day, as was originally planned. It is certain that the normal supply of anthracite will not be on hand in New York for some time yet. A fair idea of the present state of the coal market may be obtained from the following story: The president of one of the largest coal-carrying roads, who lives in this city, asked his dealer a few days ago to send him five tons of furnace coal. The dealer replied that he could only give him one ton, as he did not feel that he could spare more than that amount for one customer. "Very good," said the president, "I'll have to be content with what you let me have." The railroads are doing their best to get the coal here, but the output of the mines for the year is from twenty to twenty-five million tons less than it was in 1901, and the situation is difficult. It is the poor who will suffer the most under the present circumstances.

The Republican Club has nearly completed its new building in West Fourth street, opposite Bryant Park. This is the club district. All the political clubs are situated between Madison Square and Sixth street, most of them on Fifth avenue, and splendid structures some of them are too. The new Republican Club is near the new Public Library building, now in course of construction. This library is likely to make many changes in this quarter. For one thing, it will probably make it the centre of the publishing business. One large publishing house has already established itself near it.

The New York Historical Society has, however, located its new building much further uptown in Central Park West, near Seventy-Sixth street. Here it is to erect at an ultimate cost of $1,000,000 an admirable building, both in exterior architecture and interior arrangements. These are proud days for the defenders of the wealthy. The season of flower shows is at its height and exhibitions are following each other close in the various fashionable hotel and exhibition halls. The most attractive exhibits come from the growers who have gardens as a diversion, and not as a means of livelihood. It is the boast of the private cultivators of special plants that they always have newer varieties than the professional growers. This is due to the fact that

REV. PRINCIPAL M'VICAR MAKES AN ADDRESS.

Time For People to Wake Up—In Spite of Progress Made During Forty Years Lower Province is Woefully Backward.

Montreal, Nov. 13.—Rev. Principal M'Vicar, of the Montreal Presbyterian College, in opening the new Strathcona school in this city, made a notable address, in the course of which he advocated free education, which, he said, was vitally necessary in Canada, as it had been found necessary in other parts of the world. He called attention to the fact that Great Britain, France, Germany, the United States, Ontario, and Nova Scotia had free schools. It was high time, he thought, for the people of Quebec to wake up, and insist upon free schools and free education in this province. Continuing, Dr. M'Vicar alluded to the disreputable condition of the schools forty years ago, and to the great progress that had been made since then in securing the establishment of efficient and up-to-date schools in this city. At the same time very much yet remained to be done. The accommodation was still inadequate for the pupils. A forward movement would have to be made speedily, or the city and province would suffer. The best investment of money, he thought, was to provide elementary schools.

Denbigh Doings.

Denbigh, Nov. 11.—The number of outside hunters and hounds in our woods during the hunting season seems to increase every year. This season gangs of them are here from Napanee, Lansdowne, Perth, Brockville, Arnprior, Renfrew, Ardoch and other places, and a large number of local settlers are also trying their best to secure a deer or two for their own families, before they are all exported by outsiders or driven away by their hounds. The only shooting accident so far reported was the unintentional amputation of a big toe by William Irish, who rested the muzzle of his Mauser rifle on the toe of his boot just before it took a notion to go off, and effected the surgical operation referred to. E. Petzold, Sr., had the misfortune to get his left hand and wrist drawn between two cog-wheels of his mill machinery, and got it severely bruised. Fortunately the driving belt was rather slack and was thrown off the pulleys by the sudden impact, so the accident might have resulted in the loss of his arm, if not his life. H. D. Bryan, of Rochester, N.Y., who has enjoyed a couple of weeks' sport here, and favored his friends with a visit, has had to cut his stay short and return home. Julius Kittner, of Arnprior, is spending the hunting season with us and is at the same time favoring his many friends with a visit. Rev. Mr. Houston had the misfortune to lose his horse, a valuable animal, and is greatly inconvenienced for the want of another driver. David E. Youmans met with a similar loss, though the horse he lost was not so valuable. E. Petzold has moved into his new house, Mrs. E. Stein has moved into the premises vacated by him, and has placed her son, Gustav, in charge of her farm near this village. Joseph Rahm has again been appointed collector of taxes for this municipality, and has commenced to make his not always welcome visits.

TO SAVE FINANCEE'S LIFE.

Romance of a Skin-Grafting Operation in Toronto.

Toronto, Nov. 13.—A rather romantic episode has just taken place within the walls of St. Michael's Hospital. In September Catharine Lawley, Hamilton, while employed in the laundry at Upper Canada College, unfortunately had both arms drawn into a mangle. Not only were her arms crushed terribly, but the skin between her elbows and wrists were destroyed forever. She has become the subject of two skin-grafting operations, the latter of which is of a specially interesting nature. When it became apparent that the grafting was absolutely necessary, an area of skin on her thigh was stripped off and laid over her arms. This was a fair success, but more of the same sort of operation was necessary, and she could ill afford to either stand the pain or spare the skin. At this juncture, a young man named Hugh O'Connell, who is reputed to be the young lady's lover, came forward and gallantly volunteered to provide from his own thigh enough skin for the second operation. Dr. Oldwright and Mackenzie, who have been untiring in their efforts to alleviate the young lady's condition, did the work. Young O'Connell is himself in St. Michael's Hospital, and is suffering terrible pain, though it is believed all will turn out well. When Miss Lawley first came to the hospital, no hope of saving her arms was entertained.

An Important Concession.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 13.—The convention with the United States, negotiated by Sir Robert Bond, the prime minister, includes the free entry into the United States of partly cured as well as cured fish. This is an important concession to Newfoundland.

Scarcity of water has resulted in much loss of time in the Gananoque factories, some of which have for many weeks past been able to run only three or four days a week. Those who use steam as an auxiliary have decided to avail themselves of it every day, thus giving plenty of water to the others.

Because He Advertised.

"I am going into this store to buy some neckwear and underclothing," remarked a gentleman yesterday to a Whig reporter, as they stopped to converse just outside the door of a Prince street men's furnishing store. The speaker had but recently removed to the city from New York. "I am not well acquainted with Kingston's stores," he went on to say, "but I decided to patronize this particular store because the proprietor advertises—and advertises extensively and well. I have learned through years of experience that the best merchant with whom to deal is the one who advertises. You will find, every time, that he handles the latest and best goods. The man who sells inferior goods has something to be thankful in merit that he cannot very well advertise. You can depend upon getting good value for your money from the man who is energetic and progressive enough to advertise his goods." "Isn't there good logic in his contention?" "Most people would regard their education as complete if they could understand an article in their paper they have read it. Men who are always telling you things for your own good mean well, but they are awfully tiresome."
