Mr. Ferguson was the author of 'The Canteen in the United States Army,' the book that forced the abolition of the military saloon and saved the army from the iniquity of the canteen.

Mr. Ferguson addressed the citizens of London several evenings on the drink traffic. One writing from there says: 'His address has been given so packed with accurate information and so sustained in logical force. There was not a tedious moment from start to finish in his splendid address.'

The address of Mr. Ferguson, before an audience of 10,000 people, in Rockford, Illinois, was pronounced to be 'one of the most masterly orations ever delivered from that famous platform.'

An opportunity will now be given the citizens of Kingston to hear a new voice. Let the indifferent and those in doubt go and hear Mr. Ferguson. Let those who are opposed to this great reform of closing the bar-room and doing away with the treat-vote system fail to hear this advocate of temperance.

At 'headquarters' to-night, 7:30. Workers on voters' lists will meet without fail.

QUEEN'S II. TOOK IT.

And Are Virtually the Intermediate Champions.

Montreal, Nov. 15. (Special to the Whig.)—Queen's II virtually won the intermediate championship of the Intercollegiate Rugby union by defeating McGill 12 to 0, this morning, by 7 to 0.

The McGill athletic grounds were quite soggy, but the play was as good as a dry gridiron over-looked. Queen's had a slight breeze in the first half and held the play in the Montreal team's territory most of the time.

Queen's 1; McGill, 0. For five minutes of the second half McGill were the aggressors, and then Queen's Indians began their usual onward rush.

Queen's 2; McGill, 0. In five minutes' time Pannell stole around the line and, unattended, scored an easy touch, but Strachan did not convert.

Queen's 3; McGill, 0. The remainder of the play was much in Queen's favor, though McGill tried hard to score. Strachan's kicking was the best seen in Montreal in many a day.

Queen's 4; McGill, 0. The remainder of the play was much in Queen's favor, though McGill tried hard to score. Strachan's kicking was the best seen in Montreal in many a day.

ENTERTAINING

WAS THE PERFORMANCE IN GRAND OPERA HOUSE

The Clever Dancers Won the Appreciation of a Critical Audience—Some Fine Stage Effects—Some of the Performers.

Last evening a large audience greeted the Musical Carnival, presented in aid of the Infants' Home, under the management of Mesdames Walkem, McCannan, Wade, McGowan and Bogert.

The opening scene was the ever popular stately minuet, the ladies' costumes being especially beautiful. Those taking part were: The Misses B. and M. Smythe, G. Oldrieve, L. Dalton, G. Drury, B. Tandy, J. Taylor and E. Hendry, and Messrs. Clamont, Pense, Tandy, Lynwood, Drury, Patterson and C. Betts.

Certainly one of the prettiest features of the performance was the woodland scene, with numerous fairies in bright attire, bespangled from head to foot; not during the evening was there any more graceful dancing than these little girls executed. Britannia, rose-bedecked, and wielding a golden wand, was charmingly represented by Miss Marjorie Pense. The tiny queen was the beautiful little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, whose marriage was celebrated last evening. The admiration of all Marjorie was presented with a handsome bouquet of pink and white carnations, which the little maid richly deserved. Master Harry Wade was the royal looking little king; Miss Fanny Sullivan looked gracefully sweet and petite.

Bright and quaint was the Japanese scene, especially the 'six little wives,' Misses Vera Mundell, Ina Shaw, Tot Taylor, Lena McMahon, Bessie Dowdley and Nan Patterson. Mr. Lynwood taking the principal part with his comical attendant, Tom Boyle. As a laughable feature, this was the best of the evening, the youthful portion being convulsed with their funny antics.

Through softly shaded pink lights, with a black background, to bring in striking relief, the snowy costumes of both ladies and gentlemen, the 'Gavotte' was an undoubted success. Those taking part were: Misses M. Campion, M. Knight, G. Dickson, L. Martin, K. Drummond and C. Oldrieve, and Messrs. Lynwood, Pense, Betts, Lynwood, Manhard and Twitcheil.

The 'Bohemian girls' were very attractive with their gaily decorated taborines, their dancing being very graceful, the principal characters being Mr. Lynwood and the Misses L. McMahon and W. Patterson.

Perhaps the most elaborate display of costumes was in the 'Vestals.' The costumes, given in pink and white, were of some effective designs, with their ropes of roses. The pantomime work of Miss Eva Reid was very cleverly done, Miss Ara Drury, was the beautiful 'High Priestess,' and Miss Madeline Campion was the Vestal. Mr. Lynwood sang 'Rest, Rest, to the weary,' in splendid voice, also 'Wait,' which was enthusiastically received.

The clever, bright, musical sextette was especially catchy, with a complete lack of anything amateurish, the performers being Misses M. Knight, G. Dickson, L. Martin, M. Campion, K. Drummond, Massie, and Messrs. Lynwood, Pense, Betts, Twitcheil, C. Oldrieve, G. Drury, D. Patterson and Manard. This little company responded to an encore.

The last scene was a war-dance by a number of Indians, in truly Indian style and costume. A short tale of Indian love was presented, the principal characters being Miss Mabel Strachan, whose pantomime acting was very clever. The chief of the tribe was Mr. Lynwood, and the Indian girl's father, Lieut. Clarkson. Miss Jean Patterson was the efficient accompanist.

Miss Mona Knight's solo was much admired, her song being 'Ave Maria' in the Vestals.

Little Edward Polan, as 'God of Love,' made a pretty picture. The want of programmes caused general dissatisfaction.

AN HONEST DOCTOR.

Editor: If any of your readers suffer from sexual weakness resulting from youthful folly, premature loss of strength and memory, weak back, varicocele or emaciation, my Latest Method Treatment will cure them. So positive am I that it is an infallible cure, that nothing need be paid until the cure is effected; this is certainly a fair proposition, for if I had any doubts as to its efficacy, I could not make this offer for patients to pay when cured. It makes no difference who has failed to cure them, let them write me and I will send my book and blank for home treatment free.

Her Life Might Have Been Saved

Two-thirds of the inmates of our hospitals are women. They are in most cases either for treatment or for an operation, made necessary by advanced stages of female troubles which have resulted in ovaritis, a tumor, or displacement of the womb.

'AN OPERATION NECESSARY.'

How these words after the examination strike terror to a woman's soul, and with what regrets she hears them, when she considers that the operation has become necessary through her own neglect. Female derangements cannot cure themselves, and neglecting the warnings of nature only means putting it off until there is no cure.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration; or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, and 'want-to-be-left-alone' feelings, and the blues, they should remember that there is one tried and never-failing remedy; Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound at once removes such troubles.

READ THE FOLLOWING LETTERS.

'DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot tell you how much good you have done me and how thankful I am to you for it. For five years I have not been free from pain for a day. I have had backaches, headaches, and those awful dragging sensations with leucorrhœa, and when menstruation appeared I was in such a condition I could hardly sit up. I doctored all the time, but nothing helped me, and I was told that an operation was necessary.'

'Two months ago a friend suggested that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. No one knows what it has done for me and how thankful I am for it. It brought me the first well days I have had for five years. It did for me what doctors could not do, and I want every suffering woman to know about it.'—Louise Nauen, 751 E. 166th St., New York City.

'DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to thank you for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had terrible hemorrhages, being lacerated from the birth of my child. The doctor told me that if I would have an operation I would be well and strong. I submitted to it, but was worse than before; no one knows what I suffered. Finally a friend advised me to try your Vegetable Compound; I did so, and commenced to feel better; I continued its use, and it has done for me what doctors could not do. I am strong and well. If women with any kind of female troubles would only consult you before submitting to an operation they would be spared many hours of pain and suffering. I cannot thank you enough for what you have done for me.'—ANNA KIRCHOFF, 156 E. 100th St., New York City.

$5000.00 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

MR. TATE'S REPLY.

He Hits the Strikers Hard—An Absurd Claim.

Kingston, Nov. 15.—(To the Editor): Allow me space to contradict Mr. Stockhill in his rather remarkable literary effort of Friday last in your paper.

At no time did I pose as the representative of the Scranton schools, merely making the statement that Mr. Stockhill had written them re my working at the Locomotive Works.

This position I still occupy, and there never has been any question of my leaving, and as far as the strikers are concerned, I will stay just as long as I wish.

The way Mr. Stockhill evades the question, seeking to drag in mean personalities, shows the weakness of his cause, and I wish to say at the outset that I will not be a party to any such mud-slinging. The statements made re Mr. Hopkins are worthy of the source from which they arise, calculated, in my mind to ruin his reputation, commercially, at least.

The absurdity of the claim 'that the strike is still on,' must be readily apparent to anyone conversant with affairs. Upon my arrival early in August, I applied for a position and was informed that there was only one vacancy, which was caused by young Whalen going to Montreal, to attend the funeral of his sister. I submit that these men are out for a principle, repugnant to civilization. It cannot properly be called a strike, because, in reality, it is a boycott against one man, Graham. The company refused to dismiss this man; therefore, these men refused to work with him and walked out. Mr. Stockhill in his self-appointed task of detective may find much to interest and instruct him, if it is possible for him to be taught anything. The public, as well as the company, owe a debt of gratitude to these very men who broke the strike, for when any body of irresponsible men seek to elect themselves the arbiters of the lives of men working with them and condemn them to life-long laboring because of the absence of an apprenticeship, it is time they were taught there are limits even to the wildest flights of fancy.

Regretting the necessity of having to write this, I wish to say in conclusion that as far as I am concerned I consider the correspondence closed. Yours truly, R. C. TATE.
