

PUTTING IT STRONG.

But Doesn't It Look Reasonable.

This may read as though we were putting it a little strong, because it is generally thought by the majority of people that dyspepsia in its chronic form is incurable or practically so. But we have long since shown that dyspepsia is curable, nor is it such a difficult matter as at first appears. The trouble with dyspepsia is that they are continually dieting, starving themselves, or going to opposite extreme or else deluging the already overburdened stomach with "bitters" "after-dinner pills," etc., which invariably increase the difficulty even if some temporary relief is given. Such treatment of the stomach simply makes matters worse. What the stomach wants is a rest. Now how can the stomach become rested, recuperated and at the same time the body nourished and sustained. This is a great secret and this is also the secret of the uniform success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. This is a comparatively new remedy but its success and popularity leaves no doubt as to its merit. The tablets will digest the food anyway, regardless of condition of stomach. The sufferer from dyspepsia according to directions, is to eat an abundance of good wholesome food and use the tablets before and after each meal and the result will be that the food will be digested no matter how bad your dyspepsia may be, because, as before stated, the tablets will digest the food even if the stomach is wholly inactive. To illustrate our meaning plainly, if you take 1,500 grains of meat, eggs or ordinary food and place it in a temperature of ninety-eight degrees, and put with it one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets it will digest the meat or eggs almost as perfectly as if the meat was enclosed within the stomach. The stomach may be ever so weak yet these tablets will perform the work of digestion and the body and brain will be properly nourished and at the same time a radical, lasting cure of dyspepsia will be made because the much abused stomach will be given, to some extent, a much needed rest. Your druggist will tell you that of all the many remedies advertised to cure dyspepsia none of them have given so complete and general satisfaction as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and not least in importance in these hard times is the fact that they are also the cheapest and give the most good for the least money.

PROHIBITION DISCUSSED BEFORE A LARGE AUDIENCE.

Much Enthusiasm Manifested—Prohibition a Success in the United States—Less Crime Where it is in Force.

If the enthusiasm of large numbers counted for anything, and may be accepted as an arguement of what the future will bring forth, then the temperance advocates have every reason to take an optimistic view of the present situation, re the referendum campaign. As a result of their meeting for men in the City Hall, Sunday afternoon, they consider that their cause has been greatly strengthened. The meeting certainly was well attended, the hall being filled to overflowing, and enthusiasm was not lacking. Among others seated on the platform were: Revs. J. D. Boyd, J. Shortt, Dr. Antliff, Dr. Philip, S. Shibley, Mr. Brown, R. Hammond and Messrs. W. H. Medley, A. Ellis, Dr. Anglin, Dr. Aykroyd, N. C. Polson, B. W. Robertson, F. King, J. Walker, E. P. Jenkins, O. Chow, S. Gray, John McIntyre, K. C. G. provided, and announced the opening hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." After prayer by Rev. Mr. Brown, chairman McIntyre made a short introductory address, in which he said that the advocates of temperance were trying to arouse the voters to a sense of their duty, and to create a sentiment that would provide desired results on December 4th. He alluded to the fact that the temperance people started out with a handicap of 213,042 votes against them in the province, as that vote would have to be rolled up by the temperance advocates in order to produce the desired effect. Rev. J. D. Boyd, campaign secretary, made announcements as to committee work during the week, and Rev. Dr. Philip followed by reciting Mr. Ferguson's itinerary for week—Monday night, Ontario Hall; Tuesday, Salvation Army barracks; Wednesday, Salvation church; Friday, City Hall. The collection followed during which Messrs. Ellis, Medley, Gray and Robinson contributed a delightful quartette. A very hearty welcome was accorded W. P. F. Ferguson, of Chicago, one of the best known advocates of temperance on the American continent. He is a pleasing speaker, with a ready flow of words, well rounded sentences and a fund of axioms that are properly placed in pointing a moral, as well as adorning a tale. Mr. Ferguson made himself "solid" with his audience at the outset by relating several instances that aroused their patriotism almost to the cheering point. Then he told why he, a foreigner, was in this province, interested to concern the residents thereof, he came over to help fight and conquer the rum devil. The Ontario legislature he said, had deemed it wise that provision should be made for the electorate to go to the polls on December 4th, and express their will on a definite question, touching the sale of liquor in this province. The measure strikes at the very place of sale, and provides for the whole sale control of liquor. The people of this province stand in an enviable position, one not before granted the inhabitants of this country. There is a difference between Canadian and the United States method of enacting prohibitory laws; over there the legality or constitutionality of these laws are always questioned; in Ontario the law is already an act of legislation. He would have patience with those persons who said that if the act became law it would not be enforced, if they lived in New York, Iowa or some other of the states, but the people of this province have the reputation of being the most law abiding in the world. We have no concern with past votes on the temperance question; we have to deal only with the present. The legislature has provided the referendum, and "it is up" to the voters to do their duty at the polls. If its conditions are considered unfair, take all the more trouble to secure its passage. The speaker gave a short history of prohibition in the United States, and showed by facts and figures that it was not a failure, but a satisfactory success. "The trouble about there," said he, "is that we enact prohibitory laws and place them in the hands of anti-prohibitionists for enforcement, and then we wonder why they are not a success." Quotations were given from letters by Hon. Mr. Fry, twice president of the United States senate; the late Hon. J. G. Blaine, Hannibal Hamlin and others, testifying to the success of prohibition in Maine. "Failure of prohibition over there," said Mr. Ferguson, "is not due to the law or the principle, but to the faithfulness of the officials in to whose hands its enforcement is trusted." For over fifty years prohibition has been in force in Maine, and the people have endorsed it at the polls upon every occasion given them. It was also shown by the speaker that under prohibition there was a decrease of crime and prisoners in Connecticut and Iowa; "prohibition not only emptied our jails, but filled our schools and colleges," was the phrase he used to endorse it. Prohibition is a success in Kansas, where, in ten years, the population increased sixty per cent.; field crops, ninety per cent.; produce, eighty-three per cent.; wealth, 124 per cent.; capital invested in manufacturing industries, 159 per cent.; schools, eighty-six per cent.; and churches, 193; "if prohibition will do that for Kansas, it is the kind of law that is wanted in Ontario," remarked the speaker, who said that prohibition was a bar to the success of "the whole woods are full of men who are afraid of touching prohibition for fear of injuring their party." The speaker concluded his interesting address by saying that it was not necessary always to win, but it was to do right. In the evening after the church services, a meeting was held in Chalmers church, which was well filled. Mr. Ferguson was the only speaker. The choir rendered as anthem, "O Worship the King." Rev. Dr. Philip presided.

ANNIVERSARIES. SPECIAL SERVICES IN SEVERAL CHURCHES.

Were of Joyous Character—Special Preachers From Montreal and Belleville—Church Paragraphs.

With appropriate services, the fifty-sixth anniversary of the opening of Cooke's church was observed on Sunday. Under the charge of Leonard Cooke, choir leader, and Miss L. Walker, organist, the service of praise was exceedingly helpful. The anthems were rendered and the solos by Mrs. Nelson and others were thoroughly appreciated by the large congregations present. The preacher for the day, Rev. George F. Johnson, delivered two excellent sermons, and easily held the attention of his audience. Mr. Johnson's discourse, at the morning service, was on Job 14: "Multitudes in the valley of decision." The great truth forced is, that Jehovah's judgment is realized in the decision of man. The secret of success in every department of effort is decision of character. Varied illustrations were given from the history of individuals. Indifference in religion is a form of decision most fatal. In the evening his subject was "The touch of Christ," Matt. viii:3. Jesus touched the leper. Centuries of experience have taught the need of the wonder-working of Christ. In the presence of immensity and eternity men may seem but as a broken reed; yet what a noble creature is man. What a noble and deformed fish is a leper. We are they, sin in its loathsomeness. The disease was hereditary; so in sin, it is incurable, so is sin without the touch of Christ. The tendency these days is to minimize sin; yet the evil is so great that no education, no culture, can remove it. Here see the value of Christ's work. We think of His divine nature and almighty power with the Rosens of the world. The sinner and the Saviour. Jesus cut forth his hand and touched him. Then the thrill of life passed through him. Then he was given back to the happiness of his home. Christ is the power to cleanse the soul from sin. His is the touch of contact, the touch of life. Such was the touch of the blessed woman. Let everyone draw nigh to Christ.

The offertory solo, "A Few More Years Shall Roll," was finely sung by C. B. S. Harvey, at St. George's cathedral, at evensong on Sunday. At morning mass in St. Mary's cathedral on Sunday reference was made to the late Mrs. Ward as one of that church's esteemed benefactresses. Samuel Carsley has retired from active business in Montreal after thirty years' operations. He was a merchant in Kingston from 1862 to 1871. Arthur Stevens, late proprietor of the Terminus hotel, is now connected with the Rosson house, Cornwall. Mr. Stevens was a visitor in the city to-day. Lieut.-Col. Biggar, who is training the Montreal Army Service Corps, will come to Kingston in January to give the local corps a course of instruction lasting five weeks. Postal cards received from New York on Saturday report the arrival there on the 14th of Andrew Chroczek, the Hungarian globe trotter, who passed through Kingston on October 15th. Capt. John Breden has returned from his hunting trip through the north. He was successful in securing the complete set of deer among the lot being a fine buck, with spreading antlers, weighing 340 pounds. Fraser Wyatt, of Exeter College, Oxford, and the United University Club, London, is staying with Prof. Walter like, 40 Frontenac street. Mr. Wyatt is travelling around the world as delegate of the British Navy League, and expects to form many branches of the league in the dominion, as promising as that started in Kingston. Miss M. F. Grady, on leaving Colingwood for Kingston, was presented with a beautiful chateleine hand-bag trimmed with gun metal and contained a pretty sum of money. "Miss Grady," said the Colingwood Bulletin, "had found a high place in the friendship and esteem of her co-workers on the staff and carries away with her the highest respect, not only of the officials of the shipyard, but also of those who had the privilege of her acquaintance."

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

Notes Regarding the Movements of Vessels.

Craig's wharf: Steamers Persia and Aberdeen down. Swift's wharf: Steamer Corsican up, on her last trip. The steamship King Ben arrived from Montreal with a general cargo. Mr. C. J. McPherson, of the firm of Tug Hall up with two light, grain-laden. Richardson's elevator: Tug Nellie Reid cleared for Montreal with a grain-laden barge; schooner Granger from bay ports with grain. Crawford's wharf: Schooners Queen of the Lakes and Acadia arrived from Oswego with hard coal; schooners Tradwind and Sufel cleared for Oswego. The steamer Toledo, a large steel vessel, built at Philadelphia for the oil trade, is waiting at the government dry-dock to have its shaft repaired. The Toledo is on its way to the coast. The Barge Sprung Aleak. Saturday the barge Rob Roy, coal laden, reached the Locomotive Works wharf. That night she sprang aleak and pumps had to be kept going to keep her free of water. Sunday workmen were put to the task of discharging the cargo. They were discovered at work by Police Constable Timmer, who reported the fact to the chief of police. But, under the circumstances, it is not likely that the men will be proceeded against. Damaged By Fire. The hammer shop of the axle department, the fitting, finishing and polishing rooms of the spring department, owned by the Gasquoigne Spring and Axle Co., were damaged by fire Saturday afternoon. Had it not been for the abundant supply of water and efficient work of the fire department the loss would have been a quarter of a million. The buildings and machinery were insured in several companies. The loss is estimated at between ten and twelve thousand dollars. As soon as the loss is adjusted work will start on repairs. Death Of Mrs. Nolan. The death occurred on Sunday, in the Hotel Dieu, of Ann McCormick, widow of the late Patrick Nolan. Deceased was ill for the past four months. She was born in the county Tipperary, Ireland, eighty years ago, and came to Canada when young. Her residence in Kingston dates back sixty years. She leaves two sons—Patrick of this city, and John in New York. Her two brothers, Patrick and Thomas, reside in Kingston. The funeral takes place Tuesday morning. Ottawa's Wretched Streets. "I have just got back from Ottawa," said a citizen this morning, "and my visit there has convinced me that Kingston's streets are not the best in Canada. The most wretched street in Kingston is not as bad as the best macadamized in Ottawa. Mud is everywhere—axle-deep—and ruts abound. The street-car track is from three to six inches above the street level, and altogether the streets are in a very bad condition of repair." The Action of Unions. "I would have had the contract for three new residences, and the work would now have been under way, had it not been for the action of the labor unions in this city," declared an architect this morning. "When the three citizens heard that the painters were going to demand increased wages and the cost of all labor would be so great, they decided that they would not build, so long as present conditions prevailed." Farmers Are Well Off. "There is scarcely a farmer in Frontenac county who is not on 'easy street' as a result of the past season's dealing in cheese," remarked a prominent shipper this morning. "In the first place, the flow of milk was abundant, owing to the remarkably luxuriant pasturage. Then, again, the prices realized on the farm for condensed milk were the highest in the history of that organization, and the outcome is increased wealth for the farmer." Removing To Albany. William Cennahan, Main street, will, on Tuesday, remove his family to Albany, N.Y., where he will enter into the retail coal business. He was an enthusiastic member of the 11th Regiment, where he will be much missed, as he was scarcely ever absent from parade. Stop that Cough with Mitchell's Malt Cough Cure. Volume thirteen of the Nineteenth Century series, of the Lincset Publishing company, Brantford, is devoted to political progress. The first ten chapters were written by Thomas McKnight, author of Belfast, and for thirty-three years editor of the Northern Whig. His death in 1894, called for another writer, and C. C. Osborne completed the book, which is thoroughly British and otherwise worthy of a place in this Canadian series, a library in itself and valuable in every home, be it well equipped with a library or devoid of one. The work is a practical review from the era of the French revolution, through the Irish rebellion, Napoleon, and Crimean wars, Indian mutinies, later European and eastern conflicts; then from Pitt's administration to that of Lord Salisbury, through many reforms and controversies, from Canada's political career and United States events to movements in Europe, with chapters upon Egypt, India and Afghanistan. To every phase of public thought and action a fair interpretation and candid verdict is given. The work is invaluable for reference. Fall Importation Of 1902.
