

PUTTING IT STRONG.

But Doesn't It Look Reasonable.

This may read as though we were putting it a little strong, because it is generally thought by the majority of people that dyspepsia in its chronic form is incurable or practically so.

The trouble with dyspeptics is that they are continually dieting, starving themselves, or going to opposite extreme or else delaying the already over-burdened stomach with "bitters" after dinner pills, etc., which, in variously increase the difficulty even if in some cases they do give a slight temporary relief.

This is a great secret and this is also the secret of the uniform success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

The tablets will digest the food anyway, regardless of condition of stomach.

The sufferer from dyspepsia according to directions, is to eat an abundance of good wholesome food and use the tablets before and after each meal and the result will be that the food will be digested no matter how bad your dyspepsia may be.

The stomach may be ever so weak yet these tablets will perform the work of digestion and the body and brain will be properly nourished and at the same time a final, lasting cure of dyspepsia will be made because the much abused stomach will be given, to some extent, a much needed rest.

CUT THEM OUT

Result Of a Meeting in Council Chamber.

ABOLISH TOLLS!

IN CITY AND COUNTRY, SAY THE CITIZENS.

This Was the Unanimous Conclusion Arrived at Last Night - The Meeting Largely Attended - The Resolutions Passed.

The toll roads of the country tributary to Kingston must go. The market tolls of the city must go. This was the dominant note sounded at the meeting of merchants and other citizens held in the city council chamber on Tuesday evening.

Mayor Shaw presided, and as he called the meeting to order he saw before him D. A. Weese, A. Abernethy, Alderman Tait, H. Youlden, Dr. Ryan, Lieut.-Col. Hunter, J. D. Thompson, D. Spence, S. Stevenson, N. Rumians, W. J. Fair, N. C. Polson, James Crawford, Charles Smith, J. B. Cook, John Gilbert, Harry Richardson, R. W. Allen, J. R. Black, F. G. Lockett, Joseph Abramson, Edward Crumpley, Edward Steacy, D. G. Laidlaw, John Smith, W. J. Savage, H. J. Wilkinson, Alderman Mallen, Dr. Massie, W. M. Campbell, William Duplop, J. L. Turney, M. Kirkpatrick, Alderman Graham, Dr. Gibson, W. Sawyer, A. Roney, County Commissioner Campbell and Pillar, C. R. Webster, Thomas Lambert, James McLeod, Thomas Polow, M. Abramsky, Benjamin Webster, J. J. Crawford, Archibald Strachan, A. A. Ashley, D. E. Starr, G. Crawford, C. D. Chown, George Sears, R. W. Wright, Dr. Coy, W. H. Medley and a number of others.

On motion of Mr. Crawford, W. A. Weese was unanimously chosen as secretary.

The mayor stated that he had written a letter to Warden Spoor, inviting him and the county councilors to be present at the meeting. The warden had replied that as the county council had met that day he was unable to be present. He had a number of important documents bearing on the question, and the county council would be pleased to meet a city committee at 3 p.m. on Thursday.

Dr. Ryan referred to the good work done by the leaders of the agitation to abolish toll gates, which he characterized as "relics of barbarism."

"That we, the citizens in mass meeting assembled, are convinced that the time has arrived for the abolition of all toll-gates throughout the county; therefore, be it resolved that every effort possible be made to secure the removal of the toll-gates, which we consider a hindrance to our trade. We strongly believe that free roads will enhance the trade of Kingston.

In seconding the motion Mr. Polson stated that the co-operation of the county council was necessary. The Ontario government holds a large claim against these roads, but the government had not taken action to surrender their claim, for which they would doubtless require some compensation.

Alderman Tait did not think the citizens should move until the people of the county had done their duty.

Dr. Gibson called his Shakespearean knowledge into requisition and quoted that the abolition of the toll gates was "a consummation devoutly to be wished." The county people were anxious to see the tolls removed as were the citizens of Kingston. He did not think the county could get until it was in a better financial condition. If the roads were abolished, Wolfe Island and Garsden Island would want free ferries. There was no use trying to frighten rate payers.

What Can the City Offer? County Commissioner Campbell stated that the city had thrown out no inducement to the county to abolish the tolls. The county people had to pay ten cents market tolls when they came to the city.

gates were a hindrance to co-operative dairy work. The motion was then put and carried.

Mr. Richardson moved: "That we, as citizens in mass meeting assembled, request the city council to pass a by-law making the city markets and weighing on city scales free on conditions that the county council of the county of Frontenac abolish the toll gates within its limits; that the city council be requested to name a committee to act jointly with the committee appointed by this meeting to wait on the county council to present the matter; and, further, that the board of trade be requested to name a committee to act jointly with the committees from the other bodies named."

Speaking on the motion, Mr. Richardson said that taking an average of $300 to a gate, the county was paying about $42,000 a year for the privilege of being taxed. The county lost just that sum. Both city and county would be better off if the gates were abolished.

In seconding the resolution, Mr. Laidlaw advocated a first move on the part of the city. He believed in free market tolls and free weighing scales. There were legal complications, and it would be well to get legal advice. J. D. Thompson reviewed the past history of the agitation. Kingston threw off some $20,000 or $25,000 a year for the abolition of tolls on the Pittsburg road. Kingston also granted a large amount to the Storrington road. The city had materially assisted the county. It had also abolished tolls for foot passengers crossing Gibraltar bridge.

Dr. Gibson believed the city should go so far as to throw off the market tolls. Mr. Richardson expressed his conviction that if the city council would endorse his motion, he was prepared to reach out to the county first.

Dr. Ryan thereupon moved that Hon. William Hart, E. J. B. Pense, Henry Richardson, Edward Steacy, D. A. Weese and Dr. Ryan be a committee to act with a committee of the council and board of trade and to meet with the county council to formulate a plan for the abolition of tolls in the county of Frontenac and city of Kingston.

The Number Of Gates.

One of the foremost agitators and hardest workers in the present campaign against county and market tolls is Dr. A. Weese, Princess street. He has worked untiringly in this regard, and it was largely due to his personal effort, assisted by that of Mr. Laidlaw, that the meeting last night was so well attended by business men. Mr. Weese also prepared a plan, showing the roads leading to the city and the location of toll gates situated thereon, list so many gates.

"THE IVY LEAF"

It Drew a Good House to the Grand.

The Irish melodrama, "The Ivy Leaf," was performed at the Grand, last night, before a large audience and gave satisfaction. The heroic role of Murty Kerrigan was essayed with much success by Herbert E. Denton. He proved a favorite and his singing of "Your Dear Old Irish Mother," "The Lass From the County Mayo," "In Dear Old Ireland," and "The Ivy Leaf," were well received. Neil Callahan, as Darby Flynn, was also a favorite in song and dance.

PROHIBITION PAMPHLET OF MR. MUDIE CRITICISED

By Mr. Ferguson - Says the Pamphlet Looks to be the Work of an Obscure Stenographer - Some Statements About Prohibition.

In the Salvation Army barracks, Tuesday night, W. P. F. Ferguson, the Chicago temperance orator, devoted nearly two hours to an examination and criticism of John Mudie's pamphlet of prohibition, and the shortcomings of the Ontario Liquor Act of 1902.

The speaker, however, found it inconvenient to accept Friday, and regretted this, but to make up for the discussion of the pamphlet without having Mr. Mudie present.

John McIntyre, K.C., presided, and was supported by several local clergyman. After a selection by the army band, prayer by Rev. Dr. Antiff and a solo by a member of the Salvation Army, Chairman McIntyre explained.

Mr. Ferguson began his address by saying he had been told that he was about to read a pamphlet that represented the work of thirty years of the author, Mr. Mudie having sent out 60,000 copies of the pamphlet, it might be assumed that the case for the defence had been fairly presented and was now resting for the summary of the prosecution ere going to the jury.

The speaker was tempted to doubt that he was discussing the work of a barrister, when he read the author's words that "the prohibitionists have substituted the sword of the spirit for the constable's baton."

On page seven Mr. Mudie states that the prohibitionists could not point out a physician who advocated temperance.

change of sentiment but to the action of the courts. In Rhode Island the liquor dealers moved earth and hell to defeat the prohibitory law.

In the Michigan case a prohibitory law was enacted just prior to the civil war, and was lost sight of for about five years during the troublesome times.

Taking up Massachusetts the speaker quoted from prison reports of 1901, showing that there were eighteen cities anti-prohibition and fifteen prohibition. In the first mentioned cities the arrests for drunkenness were thirty per 1,000 of population, and for other offences seventeen per 1,000.

The speaker also took up the question of divorces in Maine and dealt with it at some length, quoting evidence that disproved the assertions made by Mr. Mudie.

The speaker ridiculed the assertion made by Mr. Mudie, that tyranny existed in Kansas, and pointed out that the same states and penalties existed in Ontario for the proper carrying out of the laws.

The speaker took up one by one the seven questions propounded by Mr. Mudie, and answered them. He quoted from standard medical works, by eminent authors, showing the evil effects upon the physical system occasioned by the use of alcoholic stimulants.
