OPEN-WORK STOCKINGS.

Man Wouldn't Have Girl Because She Wore Them.

New York, Nov. 20.—At the altar where Miss Margaret McIlhormett and Terrance Sheehan were to be married in Jersey City yesterday, the bride-to-be's shoe became loosened. As the pair of honor tied, it there showed just a bit of open-work stocking.

"I wouldn't marry a girl who wore open-work stockings," exclaimed the bridegroom-to-be.

"You don't have to," replied Miss McIlhormett, who turned on her heel and followed by friends, left Sheehan and the minister by themselves disconsolate and abject.

GOOD PRICES FOR ENGLAND.

Are Offered For Our Fat Chickens

SHIPMENTS TO GO FORWARD FROM CHARLOTTETOWN.

Big Business For Those Who Follow the Departmental Lines—Will be Record Year—Canada's Butter and Cheese Exports Will Total $30,000,000.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—F. C. Hare, head of the poultry branch, department of agriculture, left last evening for Charlottetown to superintend the shipment of 400 cases of fattened chickens, each containing twelve chickens of an average weight of four pounds per bird, to Manchester, by the steamer Manchester Commerce. These chickens have been gathered from all the illustration fattening stations of the maritime provinces. A second large shipment of birds from Ontario and Quebec will be forwarded in the course of a few days from Montreal. A big export business awaits those farmers who go in for raising chickens on the lines suggested by the department, and better prices can also be got in the domestic market. For example, undrawn chickens from the illustration stations have been sold this year in Toronto, Montreal and Sydney, C.B., at prices averaging from ten to twelve cents per pound, which means a very handsome profit. Moreover, the department has been offered twelve cents a pound for all the chickens which have been stored in that city. This applies to birds which are undrawn and have the head and feet attached.

According to advices which have reached the department of agriculture, the exports of cheese and butter from Canada this year promise to make a record. When the season closes, the value of the products shipped to England and abroad will total $30,000,000. Ten years ago the total was only $10,000,000. The four cold curing rooms have been a success, although a remedy to overcome dampness settling on the cheese has still to be devised.

Rev. Mr. Barr, a Canadian by birth but at present in orders in London, England, is in the city on business with the department of the interior. He wants to bring out and settle 2,000 settlers from the Tower Hamlets of London and settle them in Alberta.

He has submitted a scheme in writing to the department, and wants to obtain the land in one district and bring out his immigrants next spring.

IRISH REVOLT.

A New Party Under Healy's Leadership.

London, Nov. 20.—The revolt of the Irish member, Jasper Tully, from the parliamentary leadership of William O'Brien has led to the formation of a new Irish party under the leadership of Timothy Healy, whose policy is announced as that of common sense and moderation.

Only nine members so far have joined the new section, but eighteen others are reported to be ready to adhere to it.

Beware Of Conspiracy.

Dublin, Nov. 20.—John E. Redmond, M.P., had a big reception upon his arrival here, last evening, and a torchlight procession was held in his honor. In the course of a speech he referred to the reported formation of a new Irish party with a nucleus of nine members of the House of Commons, including Messrs. Healey and Tully, which he denounced as an attempt to disrupt a united party. He warned the people to beware of this conspiracy.

Why They Protest.

New York, Nov. 20.—The Tribune's London cable says: The nine Irish members of parliament who have decided not to act with the majority of nationalists have not yet formed themselves into a new organization. The action of the seceders is by way of a protest against the domination of Irish parliamentary party by the United Irish League. Timothy Healey, who wrecked Parnell's party, is believed to be aiming at the leadership of the dauntless nine.

MAD WOLVES RAVAGE FLOCKS.

Rhosce District of France Terrorized by Savage Pack.

London, Nov. 20.—A mob of mad wolves has appeared in the Rhosce district of France and created enormous havoc amongst the flocks. The villagers are in a state of panic, and every night retire to barricaded homes with their sheep. They do not venture abroad after dark, and even in the daytime only in company. The wolves maul every sheep that they encounter. A small farmer had a whole flock of eighteen torn to pieces. Fifty-two sheep belonging to another farmer were so mangled in one night that even their skins were valueless. Requests have been sent to the government for a regiment of Alpine troops to hunt the wolves down in the mountain fastnesses where they take refuge.

Dr. Loir of the Paris Pasteur Institute, has gone to Rhosce to deal with the outbreak of hydrophobia there.

A GREAT GUSHER.

It Leads All The Oil Wells in Canada.

Chatham, Ont., Nov. 20.—The new flowing oil well, Gurd's Gusher, in Raleigh township, nine miles from here, has proved to be the biggest yet struck in Canada. Shipping facilities are inadequate so that the wells only run about four hours every day. Yesterday it flowed 300 barrels of crude oil in four hours and was then shut off as the tanks were all filled. Water and gas are mixed with the oil so that the well must have belched forth 600 barrels of oil and water during the four hours. Speculators are here from all over Canada and the United States. The Standard Oil company is represented by Mr. Rockefeller's private secretary. More wells will be put down at once and the field explored.

LAW IS LAW.

Marriage Ordinance As Shown In Chicago.

TOLD IN COURT

ABOUT THE FORMULA OF A COMMON LAW UNION.

A Restaurant Ceremony—Row Caused by Receipt of Letter by Youth's Father Saying She Was the Daughter of a New Orleans Negress—Wife in the Witness Box.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—The unfolding of the romantic tale of the tempestuous love of "Baby Bill" and his "Little Jo," of the secret common law marriage contracted in a basement restaurant by the simple joining of hands and the solemn agreement to live truly as husband and wife, of the lively, furtive hiding from flat to flat to evade the father of the young man, of long cab rides, quarrels and love-makings and of the final sundering of the slender tie through an anonymous letter warning the father of the ardent young husband, was resumed, when Josephine G. Moffitt, according to her own statement, went on the stand for her cross-examination by the lawyers who are fighting her suite for separate maintenance against young William Pike, the man she calls her husband.

The young woman, dark, beautiful, young and languorously southern in type, met every thrust and parry of the lawyers on the opposite side with skilful fence.

Mr. Pike told about how her husband spent every minute he could be away from his business with her, with the exception of the times when his family was at home. When Pike's parents were away from home, she said, he frequently took her to his father's house.

When her story of the restaurant marriage was reached there was great groaning of necks. According to her direct testimony Pike took her to the restaurant in the basement of the Masonic Temple, and there, in the midst of the meal, the common-law marriage was contracted. It had been planned, she said, to elope to Milwaukee, but Pike feared the publicity and urged that they enter into a mutual consent, declaring that it would be as binding as any other.

"Then," she said, "he took my hand and I took his. He said: 'Jo, will you become my wife?' And I said, 'Yes, Billy. And will you have me for present and the world he told me.' Billy, I do take you for my husband, and I will be a true and good wife to you forever." He repeated the same words to me and said that he took me for his wife. And we stood holding hands while we repeated these words."

Cross-examination failed to materially shake this story.

The anonymous letter received by the father Pike declared that his son had fallen into the hands of an adventurous, daughter of a New Orleans negress.

The plaintiff remained on the stand three hours and she kept, alternately weeping, begging the attorneys not to ask her "such terrible questions" and making "googoo eyes" at the judge. Her characteristic as a "witness" was an undulating serpentine movement of her head and neck, an appealing look into the eyes of the court, holding her chin on one finger of her gloved hand, touching her eyes faintly with a lace handkerchief and when she wished to evade a question presented pitifully and bending her head in a convulsion of sobs behind her fanning picture hat.

ODD NAMES CAUSE DIVORCE.

French Woman Asks Separation on Queer Grounds.

Paris, Nov. 20.—During the hearing of a woman's application for separation from her husband in the civil tribunal of Dunkirk, among other conclusions, presented the following:

"Whereas, Monsieur X, registered his daughter under the names of Marcelle, Menezos, Penine, and Lambine, and his son under the not less odd names of Sidoin, Cornibson, and Ardaleon, which are names not fit to live at home with, she concludes that Monsieur X is the same."

It should be mentioned in this connection that only names found in the calendar may be given to children in France.

SEASON FOR DEER.

Ontario Officials Favor December 1st, as Closing Date.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Messrs. Rogers and Greer, provincial detectives, who have just returned from the north, are in favor of making the season for deer two weeks later than at present, that is, instead of the first two weeks of the month. The reason for this is that during the fine weather the sportsmen killed their two deer each and hung them in the trees. Before the party had completed its bag the mild weather had caused the carcasses of the deer, shot first to spoil, and the hunters went out and bagged more, leaving the first in the trees to rot.

The French government does not consider that the practical use of wireless telegraph, except at sea, has been demonstrated as yet. The French government will only permit the installations of wireless system under its own control.

ANGUS McLEOD, M.P., DEAD.

Member for North Ontario Passes Away at Vancouver.

Bracebridge, Ont., Nov. 20.—Angus McLeod, M.P., for North Ontario, died in St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver, B.C., at midnight on Tuesday.

Mr. McLeod, in company with his wife, left Bracebridge early in October for an extended visit through Manitoba and British Columbia. Three weeks ago he was taken ill with typhoid fever and on Friday last took suddenly by worse. Heart failure resulted, from which he never rallied.

Mr. McLeod was a conservative, and was elected to the Dominion parliament at the last general election for North Ontario. He was a member of the Methodist church, and about 45 years of age. The remains will be brought to Bracebridge for interment.

Angus McLeod, was born at Campbellville, Ont., February 5th, 1857. He served in the municipal council of Bracebridge for some years. He was a farmer and lumberman. He married, in 1886, Hannah R. TAKES MYRLE FROM BRIDE.

Pastor Cuts Purity Symbol Off Woman "With a Past."

Berlin, Nov. 20.—The wearing of myrtle is an immemorial custom of German brides. One stern pastor, Dr. Idlar, the rector of Eberswald, so respects the "leaving symbol" that he refused to allow brides "with a past" to wear it. At a recent wedding he refused to perform the ceremony until the bride, whom he considered not entitled to wear the symbol, had removed a few sprigs from her wedding dress. When it was found that the myrtle could not be removed without cutting, the rector stalked into the vestry and returned to the altar with an open pocket-knife. After the bride had been shorn of the myrtle the service proceeded.

AFTER CENTURIES LAPSE.

A Persian Ambassador Will be Sent to Athens.

Athens, Nov. 20.—The exciting announcement that Abraham Khan Dowlati had been appointed Persian ambassador to the Hellenic court, is more interesting than at first appears. Since Darius, in the year 491 B.C., sent heralds to Athens to demand earth and water as symbols of submission, no Persian ambassador has been sent to Athens. Now diplomatic relations are about to be resumed after a lapse of 2,343 years. The event will be celebrated with imposing ceremony. The ambassador will shortly arrive here to present his credentials.

DUCHESS DREADS DEAFNESS.

Wife of Marlborough Improving Under Care.

London, Nov. 20.—The Duchess of Marlborough has been benefited greatly, according to the reports received by the duke, from the treatment for catarrh for which she went to a famous Viennese specialist. The disease caused her the more anxiety because it threatened to injure her hearing, deafness being an ailment to which, it appears, the Vanderbilt family is subject. The duchess had begun to suffer from thickening of the drum of the ear, precisely the form in which the affection has always presented itself in the family.

Death At Deseronto.

Deseronto, Nov. 20.—W. George Eggar, a prominent druggist here for over thirty years, died last night after a severe illness of rheumatism. Deceased leaves a wife, a son and a daughter. His son is a student at the Toronto School of Pharmacy, and at present is in a hospital, suffering from appendicitis, which adds greater sadness to his father's taking away. He was a former Indian agent and a school trustee for many years.

Make Lynch Labor Chief.

New Orleans, Nov. 20.—James M. Lynch, Syracuse, N.Y., president of the International Typographical Union is spoken of as a possible candidate for the presidency of the American Federation of Labor. The faction in the convention which is opposed to the re-election of President Gompers as yet has been unable definitely to fix upon a rival candidate, but Mr. Lynch's name is being strongly urged.

Kaiser A Good Shot.

London, Nov. 20.—Both the German emperor and the king of Portugal spent yesterday out shooting, the former with the Earl of Lonsdale, and the latter in company with King Edward on the royal preserve, near Windsor. Picked Up For Dead.

Schenectady, N.Y., Nov. 20.—William H. Fuller, a blacksmith, had a narrow escape from being executed. He took hold of a live electric light wire to brush it from his face, and he was picked up for dead. Physicians worked over him and brought him to. His escape is declared to be miraculous.
