NEVER WILL BE KNOWN TO HUMAN BEING.

The Difference Between the Labor Strikers and the New York Writer-Settling Down to Ordinary Business in New York.

(Special correspondence letter No. 1,331.) New York, Nov. 21 .- For the last week statisticians have been endeavoring to ligure the cost of the recent strike. One places, the loss to the workingmen at $20,000,000. Another, who says he never was wrong in his nice, puts it up at $140,000,000. Neptune, which is the outer planet of our system, as far as we know, takes over one hundred years to make the circuit of his orbit. Statisticians differ as much, relying on their mathematical accuracy in regard to the distance of Neptune from the earth. Looking these facts, no man living can estimate the cost of the recent strike. Who can give you the cost of the tears and agony, which you cannot put into dollars and cents, and this fact shows conclusively that the amount of the cost will never be known to any hutacts which may not be revealed until stirred this community to its innerthe judgment day. They insisted on the labor marts of world having the sole control of every of Mrs. Molineux, if she had been so work on the face of the earth,

The difference between the labor strikers and myself is this. I believe the right to work should be universal man announced the words, "Not guiland that the poorest man on the footstool of God should have that right for contempt of court vanished from protected against the most powerful the assembled crowd, and each woman organization ever known to man. It in the multitude would have suffered must be constantly borne in mind martyrdom rather than repress the that the poor man has nothing to sell exhaltation which burst spontaneously but the labor of his hands and the from her throat and was manifested genius of his brain. As an atom in almost to hysterics by the clapping of this tremendous aggregation he has their hands. I kept my eye on the no power sufficient to resist the force judge, who tried to look grave and of the organized strikers. If he does angry at the violation of this rule of employer simply refuses to answer fay- might just as well try to stem the orably the demands of labor, and the current of Niagara, for he was swept reason is because there is not sufficient away by the resistless flood that no margin to give him a return for his earthly force could battle with, so he capital. What for ages to come. is that result. Now look at your figtons of coal mined and in the market; Compromise Without Arbitration. he has never imposed a certain profit London Spare Moments. on all that millions of tons. The strikers saved him the trouble. coal delivered in New York at $4 ton has suddenly multiplied to $25 a ton. Who does this hurt ?- Croesus, with his money bags, who quietly enjoys has multiplied capital, which is worth six times and a fraction more to-day than it was on September 1st. 1902, or the laborer, like myself, who sent a prayer to the throne of grace petitioning the Almighty, "Give us this day our daily bread?" The statistician, in enumerating the sources I national wealth upon the world, uses the simile of calling coal "Black Diamonds." Had he lived till to-day he would have seen the force of his simile in the enjoyment of the rich and the suffering of the poor. The one rides in his magnificent automobile, while the poor wretch, ground to the dust, drags his suffering form along the king's highway, praying for that death which cannot come too soon and the name of which is the open se same to the paradise beyond.

The best of life is vet to come, and that there is another and better world than we have ever known in this lower state, and which leads right up to the throne of grace and happiness for evermore. At last our great metropolis is settling down to the ordinary business of life and in a few weeks al classes of the community will be found in their former places. The soldier will be still a soldier, the sailor a sailor, and the laborer will be found paving our streets, and energetic women from the east, west, north and south will be giving us the benefit of their very best experience and showing us the way to the straight and narrow path or the Little Church

Around the Corner. An event occurred in this city a few weeks ago which a culmination of disciples' Daniel Sickles, a gentlemen well nown in Masonic circles and who was acknowledged authority in Masonic affairs, and was also the publisher of the text book of Masonry, the Ahiman Rezon, loved a favorite poem of Tempyson's. called "Sunset and Evening Star." The poem rums as fol-

Too deep for voice or foam.

And after that the dark.

The flood may bear me far.

When I have crossed the bar.
What a wonderful and startling realization of that beautiful poem had this elder prophet in Masonry. He had taken quite a long walk in the afternoon and came down to his dinner with an exhilarated feeling unknown for years and spoke hopefully of his future. He rose from the table and proceeded to his chamber, followed by thing he required. The attendant retired for a few minutes not more than three or four, and returning found the author of the Ahiman Razon lying dead upon his bed. The face of the dead apostle was calm and peaceful as if in the realization of the enjoyments and happiness of that brighter and better land with the anchor of peace to hold him fast in the peltings of the storm and the unshaken hope in his belief that the best of his life was yet to come.

I have been wondering ever since man being. Now, then, for a series of Tuesday last what it is or was that in his own defence and stood like a

POETICAL SELECTIONS.

"Down To Sleep." The New York Mail and Express. November days are clear and bright; Each noon burns up the morning's chill, The morning's snow is gone by night; Each day my steps grow slow, grow light, As through the woods I reverent creep, Watching all things lie "down to sleep."

I never knew before what beds, The forest sifts and shapes, and spreads; I never knew before, how much Of human sound there is in such Low tones as through the forest sweep When all wild things lie "down to sleep.

Each day I find new coverlids Tucked in, and more sweet eyes shut tight; Sometimes the viewless mother bids Her ferns kneel down, full in my sight;
I hear their chorus of "good night:"
And half I smile, and half I weep.
Listening while they lie "down to sleep."

November days are bright and good:
Life's noon burns up life's morning chill:
Life's night rests feet which long have stood.
Some warm, soft bods, in field or wood. The mother will not fail to keep. The Fellow Who Fights Alone.

Denis McCarthy in New York Sun.
The fellow who fights the fight alone,
With never a word of cheer, With never a friend his help to lead With never a comrade near-'Tis he has need of a stalwart hand And heart not given to moan— He struggles for life and more than life, The fellow who fights alone!

The fellow who fights the world alone With never a father's smile. With never a mother's kindly tone,
His sorrowful hours to guile,
Who joins the fray at the dawn of day
And battles till light is flown, Must needs be strong, for the fight is long-The fellow who fights alone!

Ah. bitter enough the combat is With every help at hand, With friends at need to bid godspeed, With spirits that understand; But fiercer far is the fight to one Who struggles along unknown-Oh. brave and grim is the heart of him, The fellow who fights alone!

God bless the fellow who fights alone, And arm his soul with strength Till safely out of the battle rout-He conquering comes at length, Till far and near into every ear.
The fame of his fight is blown. Till friend and foe in the victor know The fellow who fights alone !

A Parable Of Life.

Christian Register.
Once on a Saturday night a minister bent wearily over a half finished sermon. There had been a domestic revolution. The "help" had deserted; the weather was hot; the minister was tired. Canada And Munroe Doctrine. Rochester Union and Advertiser.

Canada is, in fact, protected by the Monroe doctrine. No power on earth would have the temerity to attack Canada, for the simple reason that Uncle Sam would instantly make the quarrel his own. This nation could not permit a hostile foot to be set on the soil of the dominion. But it is not because we are "brothers and cousins" that we stand between the dominion and any possible enemy. Our interest is much larger. It is the interest upon which the Monroe doctrine is founded. No foreign power will be permitted to invade any portion of the American

Religion And Business.

Chicago Chronicle One of Senator "Billy" Mason's stories is about two of his brothers, Ed: and Jim, who dealt in wool at their home in Iowa. Jim went to a revival meeting (unthinkingly, the senator says) and "got religion." In his first burst of enthusiasm he told his brother of how much better he felt since his conversion, and urged Ed. to come into the fold. The latter pondered gravely, for a time and then said "Ain't any doubt but what religion's a good thing; and I'm glad "ou've got it, Jim, but I guess you better let me alone just now," he continued, reflectively. "You see, Jim, one of us has got to weigh the wool.'
