A GREAT QUESTION.

Pastor of Bethel Church Delivers Temperance Address.

He desired, however, that the mem- Toronto Globe. bers of his church and congregation should know just where he stood in reference to one of the greatest questions the people of this province will ticed for taking ducks on a line, which ever be called upon to face. The present is a most critical period, and if. on December 4th, the electors refused to endorse the Ontario prohibition act, the cause of temperance would, in the speaker's judgment, receive blow so serious that it would take many years to recover from its effect. He was not one of those who believed that a prohibitory liquor law would mean the salvation of our young men, for if prohibition does come into force there will be the same need of the gospel of Jesus Christ, and if men are saved at all it will be by personal trust in Christ. But while prohibition will not savetone young man. it will give us better men to savemen who will have stronger wills to resist temptation and be more useful to society and to the church of Christ because of never having been weakened physically, mentally or morally by he use of strong drink.

It is a recognized fact that the sa loons and bar-rooms are responsible for creating the greatest number of drunkards, and it may be safely estimated that seventy-five per cent. of our fellow-men who are addicted to the use of strong drink took their first glass in a saloon or at the bar of some hotel. Abolish the bar-room and the treating system and the temptation to drink is entirely removed. from the vast majority of our young

The peace and, prosperity of Europe depended largely upon the result of the battle of Waterloo. The terrific charge of Napoleon's veteran troops led on by generals who had never known defeat seemed ifresistible but at the right moment - the opportune time-there came from the lips of the "Iron Duke" the memorable command, "Up Guards and at them." Chinaman Shown in New Role.

The mild Celestial has long been noted for intellectual subtlety beyond the comprehension of the Caucasian mind. Whether he smuggles opium, Man Found evades the poll tax or draws to a pair from his sleeve, he maintains a smile that seems the personification of innocence. But Toronto has shown Ottawa, Nov. 25 .- In a militia order | the Chinaman in a new role, that to-day, it is notified that application may explain the apparently incongruous name of the patriotic revolutionary sect. John has shown himself a boxer, not in the heraldic, symbolical sense of the recent uprising that cost his nation the disputed indemnity, but in an actual and substantial mix-up on Yonge street. A young man of the Caucasian race exercised his claim to sovereignty by calling a passing Chinaman a name that can neither be spelled nor interpreted for publication in English, and for fear the Chinaman would be unable to comprehend the words with so foreign an accent he emphasized

Fishing For Ducks.

In India an ingenious scheme is pracis attached at one end to a flexible stick stuck up in the mud, the other extremity having a double pointed needle of bone attached to it. The latter is baited by stringing upon it some grains of corn. Presently along comes Mr. Duck, swallows the needle and finds himself a captive the moment he tries to fly away. In olden times the Cape Cod fishermen depended largely for bait upon the seafowl they took on their voyages. To catch them they threw out fishing lines with hooks on the end, to which were attached chunks of cod liver. The latter floated because of the oil they contained, and murres, gulls and other birds swallowing them were quickly pulled in, skinned and chopped

Roast Peacock. In the old days a peacock was perhaps the most gorgeous and decorative dish on the Christmas Loard. This was prepared by first carefully removing the skin without losing the feathers. The fowl was then dressed, stuffed with all kinds of good things, roasted and finally sewed into its skin, still retaining the brilliant plumage. The beak was gilded, and this dish, fit for a king, was placed upon the table amid the blare of trumpets and the raptur-
