

CHANGE OF LIFE.

Some sensible advice to women passing through this trying period.

The painful and annoying symptoms experienced by most women at this period of life are easily overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It is no exaggeration to state that Mrs. Pinkham has over 6000 letters like the following proving the great value of her medicine at such times.

"I wish to thank Mrs. Pinkham for what her medicine has done for me. My trouble was change of life. Four years ago my health began to fail, my head began to grow dizzy, my eyes pained me, and at times it seemed as if my back would fall me, had terrible pains across the kidneys. Hot flashes were very frequent and trying. A friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken six bottles of it and am to-day free from those troubles. I cannot speak in high enough terms of the medicine. I recommend it to all and wish every suffering woman would give it a trial."—Bella Ross, 88 Montclair Ave., Roslindale, Mass.—$6000 fine if original or like letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

TRUANCY CASES.

Police Requested To Act—Revolvers Carried.

As a climax to the truancy case at Frontenac school the secretary of the Board of Education has written to the chief of police, giving the names and addresses of two boys, and stating that they daily annoy the teachers of Ridge school. These boys, the letter goes on to say, are the leaders of a gang. The teachers have done everything possible, and the communication requests the chief to take up the matter and be as strict as possible under the circumstances.

The worst offender is over fifteen years of age, and has been in the school for some time. His presence in the school was tolerated only for his own sake. The principal of Frontenac school wrote to his parents of the boy's actions, but no attention was paid to the letter. The police know that the lad carries a revolver. One of the members of the force stated to-day that he had fourteen witnesses to prove this.

The other boy is not so bad. When his parents were communicated with, they thanked the teachers and did everything possible to control their boy. The method adopted by the members of the teaching staff in dealing with such matters is a good one. First a notice of a pupil's absence is sent to the parents on blanks especially prepared for such use. Next a post card is forwarded, informing the parents of the boy's absence on certain specified days and asking if it was with the parents' consent. The next step is the sending of the truancy card to the police.

The teachers watch the boys closely, and believe that if pupils have, revolvers they do not bring them to the school. Many toy pistols, for firing caps, are taken from the boys. The penalty for disturbing a school, as the charge laid against these two boys reads, is a serious one, a fine of $20 and costs may be inflicted. Kingston now has seven boys in the reformatory at Mimico, and their maintenance costs the city $100 a year, each, or $700 in all. This represents the interest on a capital expenditure, if interest is reckoned at four per cent, of nearly $1,000. Therefore, from the financial standpoint alone, it behooves every citizen to look well after his boys.

A Whig reporter recently saw a crowd of boys on a corner, inspecting a revolver. Every person, young or old, seen with one, should be fined $20.

A DOUBLE LIFE.

Business Man a Successful Burglar.

WAS UP-TO-DATE.

CAPTURED AFTER A DESPERATE STRUGGLE.

Has Been Operating For Many Months—How the Discovery Was Made—He Ran a Crucible and Smelted the Silverware He Received.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 4.—Known to his friends as an energetic business man, whose integrity and effort had won a partnership with his employer, George E. Dickinson, alias Westcott, it is face to face with indisputable evidence that stamps him as the most astute and thoroughly equipped burglar ever captured in this city. He was arrested early last Wednesday morning after a desperate and bloody battle with Policeman Carroll. Two hours after his arrest the police found the clue to the chain of evidence that now binds the prisoner.

He has been operating in the city since October, 1901. Seventeen persons from various parts of the city appeared at police headquarters to-day and identified silverware and other valuables recovered by the police in Dickinson's rooms and valued at about $1,000. He is believed to have committed at least 100 robberies here, while terms of imprisonment in Charleston, Mass., and Trenton, N.J., fill out his criminal record.

The police in carrying on their investigations were amazed by the innumerable precautions that had been taken by the prisoner to cover up his tracks. The climax to their surprise came, however, when they found that he was the junior partner of Well & Dickinson, contractors and importers of notions and shirt waists, with offices at Tenth and Arch streets. When not robbing houses, he moved in good society.

When he, his face battered beyond recognition by the struggle with the officers, was brought to the city hall, he refused to make any statement. In spite of this, the superintendent of police, Mr. Quirk, obtained a clue that led him to fasten upon the prisoner a long series of robberies. This clue was a tintype found in a letter in the prisoner's pocket. It showed Dickinson standing beside a young woman, who is a member of one of Philadelphia's best families. The photograph had been taken, but recently at Long branch, N.J.

This, the name given by the prisoner, and his remark to the lieutenant of the station house when he was captured, that "when you find out who I am you will be surprised," formed the basis of the subsequent developments. Dickinson had given his name as Charles Westcott. The superintendent of police, upon hearing it, remembered that back in 1895, a man bearing the name of George Westcott had been arrested on a similar charge. Owing to lack of evidence he was discharged. Investigation showed that he and Dickinson were the same.

Four years ago he went to work for A. Well, a manufacturer and importer of fine notions and shirt waists, with offices at Arch streets. He labored diligently and gave great attention to business. Three months ago he was made junior partner. When the news of Dickinson's arrest was brought to Well, the latter was thunderstruck. He gave the detectives every assistance, however, with the result that in a far-away nook of the firm's offices a suit case was found containing jewelry and silverware. The detectives at Dickinson's apartments at 1602 Spring street. They found these fitted up in costly style. There another basket of silverware was found. Three crucibles were discovered, in which precious metals had been smelted. So careful had he been, however, that his two brothers who had apartments on the same floor, were in ignorance of any of his operations.

Many things found upon Dickinson gave the police an insight into his methods. A bunch of fifty latchkeys was found, and in his rooms were many more that could withstand these keys and picks of the prisoner. When the hundred or more robberies with which Dickinson is charged were first reported to the police, the officers all in every case found a common lot of matches and candle grease. A solution was found when a pocket electric lamp was discovered on the prisoner. Every one of the houses robbed was entered at midnight, so Dickinson was always at his home at a reasonable hour. He never went higher than the first floor. His thefts consisted of silverware principally.

George Dickinson's brother said last night that he had always believed him honest. He had never seen anything to lead him to suspect his brother's dual life. Dickinson is married, but separated from his wife. He was born in Syracuse about thirty-five years ago and later lived in Mechanicsville. He will be formally arraigned to-morrow at Central station.

DYES ARE USED

IN SAUSAGE MANUFACTURE IN MONTREAL.

Chamber of Commerce Has a Heated Discussion Over Government Subsidy to the Railways.

Montreal, Dec. 4.—City Analyst Hersey has reported to the health department that red aniline dyes are commonly used in this city in the manufacture of sausages to give them a bright, fresh appearance. Lismarck and other brown aniline dyes are also used to give a certain class of sausages a smoked appearance.

The council of the board of trade will draft a resolution for communication to the Grand Trunk railway company expressing the council's great satisfaction at the prospects presented by the proposed extension of the company's system across the continent, of improving eastern and western Canada.

The question of government subsidies for new transcontinental railways was a subject that caused a heated discussion at yesterday's monthly meeting of the chamber of commerce, being brought about by a notice of motion which was presented by J. X. Perrault. Mr. Perrault was dead against the government granting any money subsidy or giving land to any railway corporation, and suggested that any government assistance be given by means of ordinary or preferential stocks subscription. This was not acceptable to several of the members, who regarded the scheme as a closer approach to state ownership. The resolution was finally referred to the council for report.

A Word Of Protest.

Slate Falls, Dec. 1.—The merry jingling of the sleigh bells can be heard on all sides. Between fifty and sixty deer were chased down by large packs of hounds and shot by the sports (?) when in the water. Many are found lying dead near the shores of lakes and rivers. One of our neighbors found four carcasses lying on the banks of one of our lakes, and several others have been found by different parties. These deer have been chased by the hounds until their blood is overhauled and then they have taken to the water to rid themselves of the tireless foe. After swimming across a lake a mile or so wide, they lie down on the opposite bank and die. At the present rate of slaughter a very few years will suffice to make that most graceful animal, deer, extinct in this part of Ontario. There were about fifty hounds and about the same number of men in the woods about here this season. It is reported that the government is going to take some action in the next hunting season, and put a stop to hounding. It is to be hoped that they will. James Thompson has just returned from a six months' trip through Manitoba and the North West, and gives a glowing account of that country. A. H. Wensley is again teaching in our school. He has just returned from a visit to his brother, William Wensley, Carlyle, Assa. Mrs. William Thompson is very ill with inflammation of the lungs, and there is little hope of her recovery. To add to all this, Mrs. Krupp will have in her employ 150,000 men now at work in the gun factory in Essen, which plant has also been left to her.

CURES KIDNEY DISEASE. It's a well known fact that the kidneys are accountable for nearly 75 per cent. of the deaths of a year. If you have a headache, if your skin is jaundiced, if you have headaches and neuralgic pains in the head, if your urine is highly colored, and causes pain when urinating, if it is scalding—you can correct this condition by taking Powley's Liquefied Ozone. Just read Mrs. Barriball's letter. It goes to show the value of our preparation.— THE OZONE COMPANY, Ltd., TORONTO, ONT. Gentlemen: About ten years ago I had a bad case of diphtheria, which left a weakness in my whole system, especially a sore throat, which was a great annoyance. I used to get medicine from my doctor, which helped me, but did not cure. I was advised to try "Ozone," which I did, with the result that it cured my throat entirely, and have had no return of the trouble since. I also had kidney trouble, which was very bad. Since taking "Ozone" I have been relieved of this trouble also. We have used the remedy in our family for some time, and so confident are we of its curative powers that we would not be without a bottle of it in the house. We also recommended it to several of our friends, who found it an excellent family remedy. (Signed) Mrs. BARRIBALL, 81 Allan Ave., Toronto. Powley's Liquefied Ozone is oxygen in stable liquid form, its action is diuretic—it cleans out the kidneys and relieves the inflammation that affect those organs. It will stop back pains very quickly. Write our consulting physicians a full statement of your symptoms and get a specialist's advice free of charge. Address all communications to the Consulting Department of the Liquefied Ozone Company, 229 Klaxie Street, Chicago, Ill. 5000 and $1.00 at all Druggists.
