

WILLIAM FLETCHER
CURED OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE
by
Powley's Liquefied Ozone

Bright's disease of the kidneys is one of the most fatal sicknesses there is. It practically means the decay of these important organs. The evidence is found by tests of the urine. The presence of albumen is detected, and in the last stages the presence of minute kidney cells, called casts, is noted. When the disease becomes very deeply seated, the water, instead of being passed off in the system and the sufferer becomes tremendously bloated. Powley's Liquefied Ozone has made some remarkable cures of Bright's disease of the kidneys. Notice the case of Mr. Wm. Fletcher, of Emsdale, Ont. It's remarkable.

For about two years I have been running down in energy and health, caused by kidney disease. Last February I finally collapsed; my body and limbs were terribly swollen. I then sent for my doctor, and he treated my case as best he could, but I was getting worse all the time. Finally my doctor told me if I had any business to settle I had better do so. I got the doctor to draw up my will, as I was informed that I had but a short time to live.

A neighbor, Mr. Conover, came over to see me and advised me to take Ozone, as it had done his wife a world of good. Mr. Conover brought me a bottle from Mr. Cayton's store at Springfield. I had not taken the second dose before I felt an improvement. I have now taken five bottles, and I am a living testimonial of the great curative powers of Powley's Liquefied Ozone.

I and my daughter have done all the work on my farm the latter part of the summer. Since being cured by Ozone, I feel good for another ten years, although I am now 72 years of age.

I am getting stronger every day, and all the praise my neighbors are giving Ozone, and it is worthy of all they can say of it. I hope you may have great success with it.

You are at liberty to publish this for the benefit of others suffering from kidney trouble.
(Signed) WILLIAM X. FLETCHER, Emsdale, Ont.

Powley's Liquefied Ozone strengthens the kidneys, clears out all impurities, and soothes all inflammations of the tracts of the kidneys. The oxygen, in Powley's Liquefied Ozone, makes new tissues. It is this latter quality that makes this preparation so valuable. If there is the least chance, if there is any healthy parts left in the kidneys, the Ozone will bring back all to health. Ozone is life.

THREW IT AWAY

HOW HE GOT RID OF $40,000

Sought Advice of Relatives—Took a Carriage and Gave the Money to Those in Need—Would Not Loan Any.

Toronto, Dec. 9.—Benjamin W. Gist, of Falls City, Neb., threw away $40,000 here in seven days. He is not a drinking man, and is believed to be in his right mind. Young Gist is twenty-one years old, and fell heir to the money he threw away a short time ago, through the death of some relatives. The bulk of it was left to him at the death of an uncle whose favorite he was. When the uncle died Gist was not of age, and another uncle was appointed guardian for him. His guardian said the money should have been divided between the nephews and nieces of the dead man, and there was talk of bringing suit to break the will. The suit was not filed, however, and when Gist became of age there was nothing to do but deliver the legacy over to him.

For several weeks the money remained in the banks untouched, and young Gist says he was thinking all the time of dividing it among his relatives, or at least, of giving them a share of it. He owns a farm and considerable other property in addition to the legacy. The relatives of the young man kept clamoring for a division of the $40,000, and quarrelled among themselves as to how it should be divided. They were not willing to allow Gist to apportion it as he pleased.

"I will see my aunt about it," said the young man. "She will advise me, and I will take her advice."

The aunt lives in Atchison county, Missouri. She thought her own children should have the most of the money. Then Gist went to see an uncle, who said he would rather see the money given to the poor than given to one member of the family. He thought his brother should have divided it among the brothers and sisters instead of giving the entire sum to one nephew.

Young Gist returned home and secured a draft for the $40,000, which he deposited in one of the banks in this city. His relatives knew nothing about it. The next day he hired a carriage, drove to the bank, drew a check for $5,000, asked the cashier to give it to him in gold.

"I shall draw out my entire deposit during the next few days," he said, "and I want all of it in gold."

With the sacks of money in the carriage beside him, Gist went into the district where the poor live and distributed $20 gold pieces among them. To give himself courage he took several drinks, but at no time during the seven days he was seeing gold pieces did he become intoxicated. When he met school children in the streets he gave them gold pieces. Old men and women profited by his liberality and were made comfortable for many months to come by his gifts.

Gist gave away $5,000 the first afternoon, and followed it up the next day by giving away a larger sum. He became reckless at times and, ordering the driver to stop where he found a crowd assembled on the street, handed the gold pieces broadcast. He gave money alike to the deserving and the undeserving, to "the just and the unjust," as he expressed it. His one desire was to get rid of the $40,000 and place it where it could not be collected again. He succeeded in giving it all away. It is said that he paid $100 for a box of cigars and $5 for every drink that was taken at his expense. When he had his shoes shined he paid the bootblack a $20 gold piece and would not accept the change. All he desired was that the money should be placed in circulation.

Several attempts were made to borrow money from him, but Gist refused to loan it. He appeared to know impostors as soon as they approached him, and refused to invest in any of their schemes. If they secured any of his money it was by picking it up from the street where he had thrown it. Soon after Gist had made his last visit to the bank he was arrested by Patrolman Penleton, who found him throwing money into a crowd of people at the Union passenger station. Gist had been drinking some that day, and the policeman sent him to the Central station, where he was held until his relatives could be notified.

Two of his uncles came to the city at once, and the young man was taken into court, where one of the uncles was appointed guardian for him. An effort was made then to recover some of the money Gist had thrown away, but very little of it could be found.

At one street corner where Gist was said to have thrown away something over $2,000 a druggist had picked up ten of the $20 gold pieces and he returned them to the guardian of the young man. Aside from that only a few dollars could be recovered.

"Angel Food" Did It.

"Angel Food" has come to its inheritance at last. Miss Lida Beadle, Lockbridge, Ill., recently contributed a recipe for the delicacy to a newspaper, a copy of which fell into the hands of Prof. W. H. Rickison, of New London, Ind. Although a bachelor, the professor had a sweet tooth, and he constructed a cake as per specifications laid down by Miss Beadle. It was a great success, and as the pedagogogue sat in his lonely study, nibbling at the cake, it occurred to him that he would be worth the living if he had some one to make his "angel food" for him. Within a few hours Miss Beadle received a letter breathing of love and "angel food." Others were exchanged, as well as photographs and other recipes for delicate morsels, and then came their meeting in Kokomo a few days ago. They hurried to a friend of the professor's, and there Rev. G. W. Choate, made them a man and wife and provided Prof. Rickison with "angel food" for life.

Now, Do Be Good.

On the days just before Christmas there is such a rush of procrastinators to the stores, that it becomes hard work to do shopping. The clerks are overdone, and even when stocks are quite full it is not easy to get the attention and chance to examine goods that can be got a week or two earlier.

To the person who knows exactly what he or she wants to buy and knows just where to get it, the difficulty is not so great; but few go out to buy Christmas goods knowing exactly what they are going to get. Most people wish to see the display and to purchase what most strikes their fancy and fits their purses.

And buy at home. Other things being equal, that is to your advantage, and that of your fellow citizens, among whom you earn your living. And a glance over the Whig advertisements which represent all the best in the mercantile life of the city, will convince you that you can be served as well here as anywhere in Canada.

A Slight Mistake.

A painter was once employed in painting an East India ship in the harbor. He was suspended on a stage under the ship's stern. The captain, who had just got into the boat alongside for the purpose of going on shore, ordered the boy to let go the painter. The boy went aft and let go the rope by which the painter's stage was held. The captain, surprised at the boy's delay, called out: "You lazy fellow, why don't you let go the painter?"

The boy replied: "He's gone, sir, pots and all."

The Tidings From Various Points In Eastern Ontario—What People Are Doing and What They Are Saying.

Centreville Items.
Centreville, Dec. 9.—The Farmers' Institute meetings held here on the 3rd inst. were largely attended. The addresses given by Mr. Orr and Miss Rose were attentively listened to. The president, G. A. Aylesworth, also spoke. A special council will hold its last meeting on Monday 15th. W. A. Martin has again been chosen by the reform party as candidate for the county council. The conservatives will hold a meeting here on the 15th for the election of officers. E. Lyons is improving, but slowly.

Very Cold Dip.
Bell Rock, Dec. 9.—Last night was the coldest we have had here this season, the thermometer falling to twenty degrees below zero. There is not much snow but some are using sleighs for light driving. The township collector is making his annual call here this week. There will be a Christmas tree entertainment here for the Sunday school in the Methodist church. W. Brooks, seriously ill, last week, is able to attend business again. Miss Grace Pomeroy spent last week with Mrs. E. M. Yorke, Verona. Miss C. Wood has taken the public school for another year. William Moir is home again from the west. A. Parker has removed his family to Mountain Grove, Bert Conway, Norwood, is visiting his aunt, Mrs. George Moir. Ernest L. Aney is spending a few days at home.

Sunnyside Sayings.
Sunnyside, Dec. 11.—The majority through this section finished ploughing in good shape and threshing is a thing of the past. Our trustees have again secured the valuable services of Miss Buck as teacher for 1903. She has rendered perfect satisfaction. The Rev. Mr. Rodgers, engaged for coming season in Free Methodist church, is highly appreciated by his members and the outside community as well. A. Aylesworth has sold his stock and interest in Burgess farm to W. Richardson, who now takes possession. Mr. Aylesworth has again purchased the toll gate. The K. & P. railway has been greatly improved and is a credit to the company. The gardeners in this section report a successful season and are looking forward for a still better one next year. J. Abrams is improving his property by painting and decorating his buildings. G. Fairbanks has purchased a horse, Harry Redway and family returned from the west and have again settled in the city. Mrs. Flynn, of California, formerly Miss Lizzie Knight, has returned for a visit. A few of our people have been treating themselves to fur coats. Tuesday was eighteen degrees below zero; just about cold enough. A little more snow would make good sleighing.

Black River Bridge Breezes.

Black River Bridge, Dec. 8.—Prohibition day passed off quietly here. Most of the voters in this subdivision turned out and voted with the result that the years were the victors by sixty-six majority. Miss Lena Empey of Pictou spent Sunday with her parents here. Alexander McDonnell's new gasoline mill works like a charm. James Hopner of Pictou, the present popular school teacher has been engaged for another year. Fred Goodman, cheesemaker, left for his home at Shannonville on Monday. The annual cheese meeting was held at the factory on Friday to close up the business for the past year. Every one was well pleased with the season's results, and with the cheesemaker, F. Goodman. He received six and one-half mills this year and is engaged again for 1903 at seven mills. This is the first year for the new stock factory and business was carried on so agreeably and economically that it exceeded the patrons' expectations. Besides paying ten per cent. on the money invested, it paid as a profit about fifty cents on every thousand pounds of milk received. It is expected that a new route will be started another year, greatly enlarging the territory. The old directors, namely, W. J. York, president; Robert Brown, secretary, and John Minkler, were unanimously re-elected. Both evaporators are still running. S. Pierson expects to close down on Wednesday and A. E. Grimmon on Saturday.

Wonderful Egg Producer.

Xmas scarfs at Jenkins'.

Thomas Bealey, aged thirty-two, was accidentally killed in Dakota, while working for a telegraph company. Deceased was unmarried, a native of Easton's Corners, and for some years was employed on the B. & W. railway and made his home in Brockville. About eight years ago he went west.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.
