

WHAT IT MEANS TO YOU.

Few People Realize the Importance of Good Digestion until it is Lost. Many people suffer from dyspepsia and do not know it. They feel mean, out of sorts, peevish, do not sleep well, do not have a good keen appetite, do not have the inclination and energy for physical or mental work...

Change in Trade Conditions.

Alderman Kent does not believe Kingston's market will ever again be as large and lively as it once was. He gives a sound reason for his belief. In the years gone by the farmers and country people generally were obliged to come to the city to do their trading and to sell their produce.

ly anticipated, occupied the pulpit in Bethel Congregational church on Sunday evening. After the conclusion of the devotional exercises, which were conducted by the pastor, Rev. D. N. Morden, Mr. Wilson preached a very interesting sermon from the words found in the gospel of St. Luke xix, 41. "And when He was come near He beheld the city and wept over it." The speaker compared the city to a man's soul. Christ, he said, was always drawing nearer and nearer to the souls of those who desired Him. He beheld the city; so will He look into our souls. What brought Peter back to his place? Jesus looked into his face, and that one look from Him was sufficient. Man should pray that he might catch the eye of Christ. Christ wept over the city. There are tears in the eyes of Jesus. Why? It might be wrong theologically, but for his purpose in this instance the speaker thought it was right. The Christ is looking down upon us to-night with love and tender pity in his eyes. Why should he shed tears? They say there is no sorrow in heaven, yet there must be sorrow in the heart of the Saviour as He sees the course some of His children pursue. Christ, contending the speaker, came near unto the city. He came near, and at times, unto our souls, and it is an awful thing to be ignorant of His nearness. It is inexcusable. His life was spent for us. What have we done for Him? Surely we should devote our little day on earth to Him who died that we might live.

Much Interest by Young Men.

For two Sundays A. Margrett has attracted large numbers of young men to the Y.M.C.A. special meetings. Yesterday, when F. G. Lockett announced the first hymn, scores of young men of about twenty years of age awaited eagerly for the coming message. After Mr. De Long had sung an effective solo, Evangelist Margrett stood up, and one of the most telling heart-stirring messages heard for years shot home to the very heart of his youthful audience. The theme was: "The Mad Bargains of Life," wonderfully illustrated by pathetic instances that had touched the speaker's own life. It required no close observer to notice that the appeal when finished had been effective; the very silence of the room told the story. Miss Mabel Bailey brought the service to a close by singing very sweetly "I sat Alone with Life's Memories." Mr. Margrett will hold the concluding service next Sunday, when the building will undoubtedly be packed full with young men.

St. Mary's Cathedral.

All the services in St. Mary's cathedral yesterday were largely attended. The singing by the choir was of fine tone. The altar was magnificently decorated with flowers and illuminated with colored lights and burning tapers and presented a beautiful appearance. In the evening the office of the Forty Hours was brought to a conclusion. The host was carried by the rector of the cathedral in procession around the sides of the sacred edifice, and afterwards the benediction of the Holy Sacrament was imparted. The service was solemn and impressive. The Te Deum was sung. There were a very large number of strangers present.

Bishop At St. Mark's.

The Bishop of Ontario preached at St. Mark's church yesterday morning. A good congregation was present notwithstanding the severity of the weather and the long drives many were obliged to take. The bishop's sermon was most eloquent and earnest, treating in an able manner of the second advent. During the service a handsome brass altar desk, given by Miss G. Patterson and the book of devotion, bound in Turkey morocco, given by Mrs. Catharine Patterson, were consecrated to the use of the church.

Church Items.

Bishop Mills will preach in St. Paul's church next Sunday morning. In the absence, through illness, of Rev. Alexander Laird, Rev. P. J. Jordan and Rev. Mr. Brown occupied the pulpit in Cooke's Presbyterian church yesterday.

Makes A Correction.

The Whig has very naturally been asked to make a correction of a mistake in its social column of Saturday. In referring to the musical evening for St. Mark's church, at Archdeacon Ward's house, Miss Wilmore was credited with being in charge of a "card" table. It should have been "candy" table. There were no cards. "It is not St. Mark's style."

The Case Postponed.

The suit of a number of landowners of Leeds and Lansdowne against the Gananoque Water Power company, was to have been tried at the present non-jury sitting in the high court, but as Justice McMahon's time here is limited to three days, it had to be postponed. The case would take at least a week for hearing, as seventy-five witnesses are to be examined.

Scotchmen Want It Colder.

The Scotch machinists at the Locomotive Works think that Canada is not a cold place at all. "We have it much colder in Scotland," said one. "In fact we've had the cold here very much. We're waiting to see some of your blasts." The Scotchman was told that the weather last week was the coldest that would be experienced, and he seemed disappointed.

AT THE GRAND.

"The Wizard Of Oz."

"The Wizard of Oz," which will be at the Grand on Wednesday, is described by Amy Leslie, the celebrated Chicago critic, as a veritable world of beauty, melody, laughter and delicious fascination to the eye. "The Wizard of Oz" justifies half of the glowing eulogies paid the production by the Chicago press, local playgoers who are not too jaded or sophisticated to enjoy a clean, refined spectacle will be brimful of gratitude for this latest achievement in the field of extravaganza.

Well Known in Kingston.

A recent issue of the New York Herald contains an article that will be of interest to many Kingston readers, since it concerns a gentleman well-known in this city. The article in question states that Rev. William Russell Bennett will, on December 22nd, be installed as pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Morrisstown, N.J., one of the wealthiest and most aristocratic churches in the state of New Jersey. Mr. Bennett is thirty-five years old, and will receive a salary of $5,000 a year, which includes the manse, a large allowance for books, an allowance for carriage hire and his coal. The installation services will be conducted by Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst, D.D., of New York City. The young pastor is well known in Kingston. Last year he rented James McFarland's residence for the summer months, and while enjoying the invigorating air of Kingston, his young wife, Mrs. Lottie Coleman, took suddenly ill and expired within a short time. The deceased lady was a cousin of Mrs. McFarland. Kingstonians, who deeply sympathized with Mr. Bennett, are pleased to learn of his call to a larger sphere of influence.

Change in Trade Conditions.

Alderman Kent does not believe Kingston's market will ever again be as large and lively as it once was. He gives a sound reason for his belief. In the years gone by the farmers and country people generally were obliged to come to the city to do their trading and to sell their produce. Now, however, conditions are changed. Good general stores have sprung up in every town, village and hamlet in the country. Some of these are conducted on a large scale, and in them the farmer can purchase anything from a hairpin to an anchor. At the same time these country merchants pay the farmer a good price for his produce. Thus it is not to the farmers' interests to trade in the city as extensively as he once did.

Grand Opera House.

The Pan-American Carnival company was at the Grand Opera House on Saturday afternoon and evening, but had small audiences. Of its kind, the show was superior to any yet seen here. The first part was devoted to a miscellaneous collection of comical illustrated scenes and some wonderful feats by a magician. A very pretty scene from "Oto Nadis" was given, and another of unique scenery in the vicinity of the Riding Horse. The eruption on Mont Pelee was horribly realistic.

New Advertisers.

These local merchants were among the new advertisers in the Whig last week: Kemp, Price Co., chocolates and candies. Roney & Co., clothing. D. A. Weese & Co., photographs and fancy goods. Clark Wright & Co., hatters and furriers. Taylor & Hamilton, hardware and tin-smithing. R. Uglov & Co., books and stationery. Ruld & Co., harness, leather goods. Joseph Hiscock, fruits and confectionery. C. L. Bass, jeweller and optician. Dominion Fish Company, fish and fowl. George Mills & Co., hatters and furriers. E. Ashley, jeweller and practical optician. F. Nisbet, books and stationery.

Election Of Officers.

The members of the Knights Templars, Hugh de Paven's Premier Perceptory No. 1, have elected these officers: Pres. perceptory, W. S. R. Murth; constable, A. Shaw; marshal, W. T. Minnes; sub-marshal, W. B. Skinner; chaplain, Dr. A. W. Richardson; almoner, J. Adams; registrar, W. J. Benton; treasurer, J. Hewton; standard bearer, Dr. Hermiton; captain of the guard, H. J. Wilkinson; guard, E. Ball.

D. J. MacKinnon, cheese exporter, has opened an office at 18 Market street, where he will branch out into the provision business. He intends becoming a citizen of Kingston.
