

SOCIAL SATURDAY NIGHT.

One blessed joy of Christmas, which the young of the day are losing altogether is that which comes from working amongst the evergreens, just plain, simple church trimming—"making beautiful the place of the sanctuary." There's something in the scene of the boughs which heartens up, which never fails to lead subtly back from the time that now is, to the glorious past that was, when the heart was young, and mischief was rife, and over the Christmastide hung the shadow of no cloud. And the boys and girls of nowadays are laying up no such bright and fragrant memory for themselves as poor kids! For nobody turns out to the church trimming, but the few, and they are not of the juveniles.

Long ago, in a long, low wooden schoolhouse, to which you climbed by the most rickety steps, whose small-paned windows looked out to the west over an old church in its quiet churchyard, such a crowd used to gather through the Advent weeks. Young men and maidens chiefly, who found it a most advantageous place for surreptitious courtship. But the boys and girls got the most fun out of it after all, for weren't the spoon-ones' performances cakes and all to them—just? There was one dear pair in particular (they're married long ago) who used to beguile many an hour when a heavy snow storm made it impossible to beg off from bough-cutting, and go bob sleighing on the hill which lay close and convenient outside, and if a respectable married banner, with a family, and a very decent woman, are not deeply sorry for the tricks they played on the team, it's because their consciences are hard indeed. And the joy of being promoted from cutting boughs to making wreaths! When the gentle lady, who always decked the old three-decker pulpit with such perfect art, such loving care, and who never scolded when the wreaths got slowly and surely fatter. And the snowball fights when "bluggy" noses were not uncommon. And the towering rages of the crank or two who were always complaining of the difference between man and their mothers' grandchildren played their pranks. Ah! sure it's no Christmas at all with the church-trimming left out.

One got a glimpse the other day of the nicest bale of Christmas gifts you ever saw, which were being sent by the girls of the cathedral C.C.M.G., which is under the bright and capable superintendency of Miss Bessie, to a Sunday school in an outlying district for a Christmas tree. Dollies, jack knives, strings of the beautifullest beads, toys, looks, and a candy bag with each gift, with a great bunch of scarlet mittens which were just "thrown in" and weren't part of the Christmas presents at all, but will no doubt be much appreciated as supplementary to the toys, though in-tead of them they would no doubt have been heartily despised.

A very large and delightful tea claimed Mrs. Neil Polson as hostess on Wednesday afternoon, and her pretty palm-decked rooms were thronged at the tea hour, in spite of the unpleasantness of out-of-doors. Mrs. Polson received her guests in a handsome black gown with full front of pretty lace, over white satin. Miss Jessie Polson, who received with her mother, looked lovely in a dainty frock of grey, with reflecting touches of white. Mrs. Goodwin and Mrs. Dupuis were in charge of the exceptionally pretty sea table, the colour scheme of which was pink and white, carnations being the flowers, with quantities of smilax everywhere. Mrs. McCann looked after the ice cream, and the girls assisting were Miss Katie Fowler, Miss Katie Murray, Miss Chrissie Fenwick, Miss Bessie Workman, Miss Norval Macdonald, Miss Jessie McCann, and Miss Vera Mundell, the majority wearing pretty summer frocks. A very few of the guests present were Mrs. Macgillivray, Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. Fenwick, Mrs. A. W. Richardson, Mrs. Herbert Robinson, Mrs. Grover, Mrs. A. Strachan, Mrs. J. G. Elliott, Mrs. D. E. Mundell, Mrs. Laird, Mrs. Felix Shaw, Mrs. Kilborn, Mrs. Barler, Mrs. Dyde, Mrs. Bogart, Mrs. Crothers, Mrs. Farrell, Mrs. Coy, Mrs. J. Minnes, Mrs. Workman, Mrs. R. Meek, Mrs. C. Livingstone, Mrs. J. Henderson, Mrs. McLaws, of St. Thomas, and the Misses Lowe, Birch, Porteous, Browne, Oldrieve, Alma Mundell, Louise Fowler, Shaw, Drummond, Dalton, Emily Sears, Fairlie Guber, K. Beaton, Chown, Kearns, Moore, Drennan, Crothers, Ross, Clarke, Miss Davis, of Atlanta, Ga., and Miss Taylor, of Perth.

Mr. Stanley Smith, of New York, who has been spending some time in Jamaica, will spend a few hours on Christmas Day, with his sister, Mrs. Buxton Smith, at the deanery. Mr. Ernest Girouard will spend the holidays in Ottawa with Mr. Justice and Madame Girouard. Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Middleton, of St. Louis, Mo., have arrived in town to spend the holidays with Mrs. Middleton, Alfred street. Miss Lorraine Lessie, who has been in Toronto for the past two weeks, will come back to Kingston on Monday. Mr. Sutherland, of the Bank of Montreal, has been transferred to the Brockville branch. He will be very much missed socially, and also from the choir of St. George's Cathedral, of which he was a valuable member. Mr. Pringle, of Queen's, left for his home in Cornwall yesterday, to spend the holidays. Invitations have been received by Napanee friends for the marriage of Mr. William D. Rockwell, D.D.S., and Lillian M., daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Parker, Chicago, to take place there on Christmas day. W. D. Rockwell is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rockwell, Napanee, and formerly of Kingston. People will be sorry to hear that Miss Winnie Hague has been quite ill in Montreal, and it is doubtful if she will be at home for Christmas. Miss Helen Fraser left yesterday for Ottawa, where she will spend the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Fraser. Miss Grace Loucks passed through Kingston to-day, on her way home to Pictou, from Ottawa. Mrs. Goodwin gave a very enjoyable tea on Thursday. The marriage of Miss Edith Caddy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. St. Vincent Caddy, Ottawa, and Mr. Alan Mucklestone, eldest son of the Reverend Canon Mucklestone, Perth, has been arranged to take place early in January, at St. Alban's church, Ottawa. A delightful surprise for Miss Ada Bates came yesterday at school closing time, her scholars giving her two tall, slender cut glass perfume bottles of very beautiful design. The idea, I believe, originated in Miss Nora Kent's thoughtful little head. Colonel Fages has returned from Ottawa. Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre will spend Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Carruthers. Mrs. Ogilvie began the Christmas festivities with a tree yesterday, which came of a little ahead of time, so that Colonel Ogilvie might be present. Major and Mrs. Panet are on pension with Mrs. Broden, Stuart street. Mrs. Mayne has changed her plans and will remain in Kingston until January. Miss Guber gave a jolly little evening party last week for some of her bigger girls, and the youngest of the young set. Mrs. Carruthers will be one of those who will have a Christmas tree on Christmas eve. And Mrs. Kent has also promised a tree to her young people. The Reverend Canon and Mrs. Grout will entertain a Christmas party, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grout, Ottawa. Mr. and Mrs. Trevor Grout, Amprrior, and Mr. Jim Grout, of London. Mrs. Strathy, and Miss Louise Strathy, will spend the holiday time in Montreal.

Mrs. Rowlands arrived yesterday, and is with the Misses Lessie on Gore street. Mrs. Roulen Leonard and Miss Jennie Rowlands will be in Toronto for Christmas. Mr. Justice Britton and Mrs. Britton expect to have a large family gathering at Christmas time. Mrs. Gilbert and Mrs. May are sure to be there, and in all probability Mrs. Schuyler. The Misses Ferguson are comfortably settled in a flat in New York, with their brother. Holidays at "Romilly House" began a day sooner than the girls expected, and they all seem to be eminently satisfied with Miss Guber's little surprise. One hears rumors of some very clever work which is being done under the conching of Miss Mabel Gilder-sleeve, by the newly-formed dramatic club, which numbers amongst its members, Miss Constance Tandy, Miss Frances Sullivan, Miss Marion Redden, Mr. Willie Hartly and Mr. Pringle. Kingston has been singularly deficient in this sort of thing, of late, and the formation of the club is a move in the right direction. A very jolly dance took place in the Whig hall on Tuesday, with Miss Alice

Dean, who has been a very popular visitor in town, as the raison d'être. Miss Helen Taylor and Miss Bothwell, Pe.th, the guests of Mrs. Felix Shaw, Bagot street, for the past few weeks, returned home yesterday. A very interesting golden wedding celebration took place in Ottawa this week, when the sons and daughters and grandchildren met at "Fenwick House" on Sandy Hill, to congratulate its master and mistress, Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Bate, who have attained their golden jubilee. In accordance with Mr. Bate's express wishes, the only people outside the family present were the Rev. A. W. Mackay, rector of All Saints' church, and Mrs. Mackay. No presents were given, but again carrying out Mr. Bate's desires, an amount of money, sufficient to purchase a set of chimes for All Saints' church, was given in gold, in the form of a crystal casket, by the sons, daughters, sons-in-law and daughters-in-law. Numerous city charities received substantial cheques from Mr. Bate and his wife. The day was to have been begun with a celebration of the Holy Communion, but owing to a severe cold which would have prevented Mr. Bate attending, the service was not held.

Several Kingston people went up to be present at the marriage of Miss Lappage, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lappage, Toronto, and Mr. Harry W. Keston, on Thursday. The engagement is announced of Miss Aldyth Balfour, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Balfour, Mountain street, Montreal, and Mr. J. C. Holden, son of Dr. Holden, of St. John, N.B. A pretty wedding took place at the Church of the Advent, Westmont, on Thursday, when Miss Helen Elizabeth Marks, daughter of Mr. Thomas Marks, Western avenue, was married to Mr. Francis Jeffrey Penfold, son of the late Mr. Jeffrey Penfold, of Montreal. Capt. Aubry, of the French navy, a son-in-law of Mr. Justice Wurtelle, has been appointed to the command of the cruiser "Trudy," of the North Atlantic naval division. Mrs. Aubry and her two children will spend the winter in Canada. The engagement is announced of the Rev. J. S. Sutherland, of St. John's church, Halifax, and Miss Cecilia Dickie, daughter of the late Hon. J. B. Dickie, of Truro, N.S. Mr. Eric Kirkpatrick was the energetic secretary of the jolly dance given by the officers and members of the U.C.C. rifle corps last night. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Douglas, of Babco, Arizona, are expected in Ottawa for Christmas. Mrs. E. S. Clouston gave a most enjoyable sliding party in Montreal last week, and all over glorious Canadian sports are being taken up with vigor in the city of the ice palaces.

The engagement of Miss Richardson, daughter of Canon Richardson, of London, Ont., to Mr. L. P. D. Tilley, son of the late Sir Leonard Tilley, has been announced. Major Herbert Carrington Smith left Quebec on Monday night for New York, whence he sails on the St. Paul for England to rejoin his regiment. Major Smith is well known to a great many Kingston people. Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier may remain at Hot Springs, Ark., for Christmas, but will certainly be in Ottawa for the New Year, if all is well. A gathering of a very charming and altogether unique character took place at the residence on Bathurst street, Toronto, of Mr. and Mrs. Barrett, on Wednesday afternoon, when Mrs. Roe, who will be remembered by the older members of the community as Miss Caroline Stanton, a reigning belle of Toronto society in by-gone days, received a visit from her seven married daughters, the only members of her family—Mrs. Caddy, of Ottawa; Mrs. Robert Steele, of Hamilton; Mrs. Sinclair, of Nova Scotia; Mrs. Pike, of New York; Mrs. Barrett, of Toronto; Mrs. Oliver, of Oakville; and Mrs. Walker, of Chicago. These ladies assembled at Hamilton on Thursday of last week, on the occasion of the marriage of their niece, Miss Muriel Steele. Mrs. Roe was unable, through illness, to attend the wedding, a circumstance which was a genuine disappointment to her. The gathering was in all respects a most notable one and could hardly be duplicated in Canada. Seven married daughters, stately and handsome, with a revered mother in their midst, formed a group of which the mother might well be proud.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Cartwright of Toronto are to be in St. Richard and Lady Cartwright's Christmas house party, and the Woman's Morning Musical club is very much in hopes that Mrs. Cartwright will be good enough to give a piano solo at one of their concerts. She is considered by musical Ottawa people to be one of Canada's most brilliant pianistes. Mr. George Drummond, manager of the Bank of Montreal, Pictou, and Miss Drummond, will spend Christmas with their sister, Mrs. George Burn, in Ottawa. The Earl and Countess of Minto were good enough to patronize the skating party given by some of the men of Ottawa on Monday night. The girls looked after the supper, and brought with them several white caped maids to wait on the hungry skaters. Mrs. F. C. T. O'Hara will probably postpone her post-nuptial reception till after Christmas. Pretty Miss Aileen May, who was with the "Wizard of Oz" company, is an Ottawa girl, and the papers in the capital are saying very nice things of her, and those of the other girls belonging to the company. Mr. W. Parker Newton, who resigned his position in the Bank of Montreal, Toronto, some years ago, and went to New York to study art, is to be married to Miss Elizabeth Hedden, of that city on December 30th. Mr. Newton has made a place for himself as an illustrator, and has had a great deal to do in connection with the races for the America's cup. The honeymoon will be spent in Europe. Miss Hora was the guest of honor at a pleasant tea given by Mrs. Bacon in Ottawa, on Tuesday. Mrs. Victor Rivers and Miss Lola Powell were amongst the guests.

New Year's Cake.—Three pounds flour, one pound sugar, twelve ounces butter, one-half pint milk, in which one teaspoonful soda has been dissolved, three eggs well beaten, three tablespoonfuls caraway seed, one crated nutmeg and one gill rose-water. Cream the sugar and butter, add the eggs, caraway, nutmeg and one-third of the flour. Mix the milk with the rose-water and stir into the paste. Add the balance of the flour and work to a smooth, light dough. Put into round, buttered jelly-pans, one-half inch deep, and bake in a quick oven. It may be made into small, round cakes if desired. Lemon Mince-Meat.—Boil four lemons till quite tender, then pound them in a mortar or chop them up while warm, adding to them two pounds of pounded loaf sugar; let this stand till next day, then add two pounds of suet, two pounds of currants, one pound of raisins chopped, a little brandy, one ounce of mixed spice, and port wine, to taste, say half a pint of brandy and wine together. Mince-Meat A La Royale.—To equal proportions of roast-beef, raisins, currants, suet, candied citron, orange, lemon, spices and sugar, add a proportionate weight of stewed pears and preserved ginger, the grated rind of three dozen oranges and lemons, and also their juice, one bottle of old rum, one bottle of brandy, and two of old port. For an easy-dessert heap slices of stale cake, or fresh sponge cake with alternate layers of fresh grated pineapple, or the tinned stuff will do as well. Cover with a meringue and brown slowly. A good old-fashioned pudding, called jam pudding, is made by chopping fine three tablespoonfuls of suet, adding half a pound of sifted flour, a pinch of salt, and enough water to make a stiff dough. Roll this out an inch thick on a well-floured board, spread thickly with blackberry or currant jam (real jam you know, not tinned stuff), put in a floured cloth, and boil or steam for two hours and a half. One pint of spiced vinegar left from pickles, and two tablespoonfuls of gelatine dissolved, and the whole poured into moulds, will, when cold, make a nice jelly to serve with meat.

The Holden Bros' company produced "The Denver Express" at the Grand Opera house last night. The chief characters were John A. Proston as "Headwood Dick"; Fritz E. Boone, "Sheriff of Cool County"; Roy Foster, "Tommy Tucker"; and Bernice Havard, as "Mabel." The play was decidedly interesting, and the characters were all ably taken. In the fourth act, the Denver express, running across the stage, was a clever piece of mechanism. The specialties included a burlesque on the third act of "Sapho", and several illustrated songs. To-night the company concludes its engagement by producing the much talked-of "Sapho". A Pointer To Advertisers. Oftentimes the only circulation a newspaper has is from the print shop to the sales counter and then back to the graveyard in the newspaper's waste basket. And during the outing no person had ever looked into a copy. Advertisers should put money into living circulation. "Bibby's" Mocha Gloves.
