DEATH ORDER

The Sentence On Yukon Murderers Stands.

THEY WILL HANG

SIR WILFRID MAY STAY AWAY TILL THE 10TH.

Mr. Schreiber Back From Washington—McGill Man Appointed—General Items From The Capital.

Ottawa, Dec. 23.—At a meeting of the cabinet, on Saturday, an order-in-council was passed allowing the law to take its course in the case of the two Yukon murderers.

The evidence in the Fournier case was only submitted to the justice department on Friday, so that there was no delay in disposing of them.

In fact, this case has been successfully handled throughout, and shows that the administration of justice in the Yukon is well and promptly carried out.

The despatch with which these murderers were tracked down and brought to justice also reflects the greatest credit on the North-West Mounted Police.

About the end of June last Labelle and Fournier murdered and plundered G. Boudoin, L. Bonthelette and A. Constantine, and later Joseph Gibeault.

The crime was the most heinous and deliberate ever recorded, and both men were crafty and astute in their defence.

Mr. Schreiber, deputy minister of railways, has returned from Washington, where he went to get approval of a dam in the St. Lawrence river from Adams Island to Galop Rapids.

MARCONI WINS

The Dominion Government's Help Commended

BRITISH SLOW

SHOULD HAVE TAKEN MORE ACTIVE INTEREST.

High Scientists Impressed Years Ago With the Importance of Wireless Telegraphy—The Cable Shareholders Have Become Frightened.

New York, Dec. 23.—The Tribune's cable says: Marconi's business associates here, had little additional information from the experiments, especially respecting the trans-Atlantic wireless messages.

The receipt of the communication was confirmed, and plans for an extension of the service to the United States coast were vaguely discussed. The British government is censured, in some quarters, for neglecting to take a more active interest in Marconi's experiments, especially when Lord Kelvin and Sir William Preece were impressed, several years ago, with the importance of the wireless system.

The wisdom of the Dominion government in co-operating with Marconi is commended by several English journals, and the interest of the King of Italy in the new system is attributed, by those who talked with him in Rome and Sicily, to his practical knowledge of electrical science.

The shareholders in the cable companies are frightened by Marconi's triumph and offers of stock were plentiful on the stock exchange yesterday.
