THE WHIG—70th YEAR, DAILY BRITISH WHIG published each evening at 805-817 King Street, Kingston, Ontario, at six per year...

THE DAILY WHIG, "Opifer per Orbem Decor"

BLAKE VERSUS ROSS, Did Samuel Blake have a quarrel with the local government about anything, or did he become a conservative in pure and unbiased admiration of the party and its methods?

Then "My dear Foy," called upon him, pointed out how important it was that he should counteract, if possible, the Ross manifesto...

NO EVIDENCE OF CRIME, The Mail has a theory of its own, in regard to the North Grey ballots. The judges in the recount found little crosses on four ballots...

EDITORIAL BRIEF'S, You began the New Year right. Keep your good resolutions. The protectionists call on Mr. Ross...

January Weather, Rev. H. Hicks' forecast for first part of January is as follows: Storms in progress at the opening of January will show the influence of Mercury by thick, prolonged clouds...

Small Number Of Appeals, The act of revision met Wednesday afternoon to wind up business for the year. Appeals for allowance and vacancies were considered...

Horror At Wanstead, Some serious reflections follow the reading of the evidence taken at the Wanstead inquest. The first is that the Watford agent should not have given a clearance to the express train...

Restoration and forest-conservation has of late years received careful attention in all civilized countries. In Ontario the extensive public forest reserves not only conserve large tracts of wood fuel, but prevent the drying up of the head-waters of several rivers...

Germany the land is made to grow fuel in another form. A new industry has arisen in the production of crude spirit from potatoes, which is used as cheap fuel in internal-combustion motors...

when it is considered that thirty pounds of oil is equal as a steam producer to 100 pounds of coal, and further requiring no gang of stokers, the oil being led to the furnaces by pumps...

Another most important reserve of fuel the world over is in the form of peat. The most productive area for its use is North Germany, and the adjoining parts of Denmark and Holland. In Friesland there are past bogs 1,500 square miles in extent...

In Canada we have coal deposits of great richness and extent near both our Atlantic and Pacific seaboard as well as great coal areas at various points in the North West prairies...

Extensive coal deposits are found in almost every country of the world. China has an enormous supply as yet almost untouched. In Shan-Si province alone coal seams are unknown that would yield the present annual output of British mines for a period of over three thousand years...

Water power, with which Canada is most abundantly furnished, is beginning to be used to an extent formerly unthought of. The possibility of extensive and economical distribution of power by electric wire gives a greatly added value to the power of falling water which, up to its minimum capacity, is not only perpetual, but is unaffected by labor and other conditions that render fuel power of such uncertain cost.

Mr. Miscampbell, M.P., is posing as a purist in the by-election. Had he not better keep in the background until the charges against him, in the Sault Ste. Marie election, have been disposed of?

Corbett and McGovern, refused permission to box (or fight) to a finish in Louisville and Detroit, have thought of seeing what they can do in Toronto. That would be an honor to Canada and its most religious city!

Rev. J. A. Macdonald, of the Westminster, is now referred to as the able successor of Mr. Willison in the editorship of the Globe. Mr. Macdonald is certainly a very capable man, and his pen does the finest kind of work.

Marconi's contract with the government, in respect of wireless telegraphy, provides that the charges shall not be more than 10c. per word. But he expects the service to be so expeditious that it can be done for a cent a word.

According to Mr. Miscampbell, M.P., the provincial auditor, when examined before the Public Accountants' Committee, could not say whether the books of the local government were kept by double or single entry. Is this not a public libel? Fancy any expert accountant confessing that he did not know his business? Mr. Miscampbell is evidently trifling with Mr. Sprout's reputation.

Toronto building record for last year amounted to $5,624,000. Winnipeg now stands third in the list of importing centres in Canada.

Mad For Show, A woman who has false teeth likes to pretend that she has the toothache occasionally. Is That So? Waterloo Times would have worked well on the Grand Trunk and saved a good many lives. The system of train dispatcher seems to have been very old-fashioned.

What We Escape, Exchange, It is a desecrating that Marconi is not a republican and we would be buying his picture in the United States magazines for the next three years.

Meaning Of The Deal, Toronto Star, A Norwegian man traded his wife for watch. You see when he doesn't want the watch to go, all he has to do is to refrain from winding it, while there's no stopping the woman.

A Poor Experiment, Toronto Mail, Medical science has attempted to make another step in advance by the effort to restore a man's life by hanging him. Yet the ungrateful patient did not arrive the treatment.

Love Laughs At Locksmen, As 8th American Kidney Cure laughs a disease. It's the seemingly impossible doors to disease that it unlocks that makes its cure almost a proof you care to investigate. It is a liquid kidney specific and it never fails. Akes and keeps men "fit" and well. Sold by Henry Wade and H. B. Taylor.

Rev. G. L. Elliott, dentist, Detroit, quitted his entire estate, valued $15,000, to the Children's Free Hospital of Detroit. Relatives claim there is a later will, and will without probate, pending a search for it.

Right Waldron, an elderly farmer in Essex, had the misfortune recently to lose his leg while at work in the woods. He was drawing logs by means of a line when one of them slipped around and broke his leg at the ankle. It was announced at Springfield Mass that the Methodists of the United States had raised more than the $20,000 in respect to the twentieth anniversary offering fund, inaugurated 10 years ago.

Miss G. Hayward was sentenced at Sheldrake, to three years in Kingston Penitentiary, for robbery. News has been received at Ottawa that recent storm played havoc with the telephone line. Siriver Nowar personally welcomed 300 New Year's callers at government house. The Salvation Army in Toronto gave poor children a Christmas dinner Thursday. Sister Armand, Montreal, died on Thursday night. He was a conservative.
