

Every Woman Should Know.

That Prof. W. Hodgson Ellis, Chief Analyst to the Dominion Government, has recently made a number of analyses of soaps, and reports that Sunlight Soap contains that high percentage of oils or fats necessary to a good laundry soap.

What every woman does not know is that in common soaps she frequently pays for adulterations at the expense of oils and fats. Try Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar—next wash-day, and you will see that Prof. Ellis is right. He should know. 208

TOLD IN THE TWILIGHT.

The essential of the up-to-date girl and woman is a "personality". This does not imply a pert manner or a rudeness in speech or a pretentious style of dress.

Indeed, any of these characteristics is an apparent attempt to force observation and in consequence they are classed as vulgar and "twisty" and cheapening.

A "personality" must be, or seem to be, natural, and with some degree and sort of modest originality. No matter how conspicuous the distinguishing quality may be, it must be, or seem to be, natural, and with some degree and sort of modest originality.

All this is a huge comfort to the girl or woman not particularly beautiful of face or figure. It is likewise a solace for the girl or woman who isn't even pretty, although not really lacking in feature and form.

If you haven't a "personality" acquire one. Simplicity is a back number, so don't try the baby stare temperament. You must appear experienced, and if you are without experience, study the manners and absorb the information of your friends who have learned their lessons. But, mind in this appearance of experience there must not be a touch of trying to "show off." You must be conversant with books and plays and the various cults and religions. You must know a little about art and the opera.

Be sure to read about the important personalities of the day, those in politics and literature, and drama and music. Memorize quotations from the classic and have a stock of epigrams ready for adaptation. If you give yourself this discipline at the same time cultivating a use of languages, you may gain popularity as a conversationalist who entertains while being amusing. It may be well to add a caution—so never try "large language" in your company. It is simple and direct words and explain sentences. As to a manner—be composed, but have a composure peculiarly your own. Affect a color or a way of wearing your hair, and your own mode of salutation and your particular method of being interested in those you meet. You can create your own social atmosphere without being at all artificial. The moment you are, or seem artificial, the moment you lose your "personality."

So advises the Chicago Journal, and if you think the advice useful, here it is for you free, gratis for nothing at all.

A number of the young men of Ottawa gave a pleasant skating on Monday night at Rideau rink when they had the honour of entertaining Lady Minto, and several members of the vice-regal party. Amongst the guests were Miss Cartwright and Miss Effie Fenwick.

Mr. George Beaudry has generously lent Chalmers to Miss Ethel Henry, the beautiful Englishwoman who gave the entertainment at Massey Hall on New Year's night, for the purpose of a dramatic evening, in which she will be assisted by Mr. Beaudry in a sketch entitled "If I Were You," and by Mr. Wilnot Matthews in another, "Mrs. or Miss." Mr. Alfred O. Beaudry will sing, and a very enjoyable programme is promised, for which cards are being sold at Tyrrell's book store. We are told this is a not uncommon mode of procedure in the larger social centers, where the artist is in touch with the social leaders.—Toronto Star.

Mr. and Mrs. Haver Reel entertained at dinner at the Chateau, Quebec, last week, the Rev. Dean Williams and Mrs. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Edson Fitch, Mrs. Gordon, of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Minto, Mr. V. C. Langueco and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pacaud.

The Earl and Countess of Aberdeen have returned to their Scottish home from London, and entertained a large family party at Hadley House, Aberdeenshire, for the Christmas holidays.

Mr. William Stephen, on Montreal, a brother of Lord Mount Stephen has gone to New York on his way to spend a couple of months in the West Indies.

Mme. Albani has received from the royal visit to the Guildhall in October, when she volunteered her services, and sang the National Anthem and "Home, Sweet Home." The gift, says the City Press, is a handsome Irish bowl weighing about 100 ounces, and suitably inscribed. In a letter of acknowledgment Mrs. Albani expresses her high appreciation of the kindness which prompted the gift.—St. James' Gazette.

Her many friends in Ottawa will regret to hear that Lady de Lubiniere, wife of the lieutenant-governor of British Columbia, has been ill for some time.

Mrs. Tyrrell, of Sherborne street, longingly wishes to see on Monday afternoon to introduce her daughter, Miss Marie Tyrrell. The pretty house was bright in its decorations and Mrs. Tyrrell welcomed her friends in the drawing-room, wearing a toilette of soft black voile de soie with lace yoke. Miss Marie Tyrrell wore a very pretty dress of snowy white mousseline de soie, with embellishment of lace and garnitures of white satin ribbon. The skirt was extremely pretty in the fashion of the day with its dainty flounces and arrangement of lace. Mrs. Harley Roberts assisted in the reception in a lovely gown of soft grey silk with embellishment of silk gauze and graceful falling sleeves of the same with glittering passementerie.

Miss Mookridge is to be married. Miss Any Mason in blue and white silk with touches of black, Miss Millicent Henderson also in turquoise blue voile de soie, and Miss Grant Macdonald in soft black voile were with refreshments. The table in one room was brilliant with bright crimson carnations on a centrepiece with embroidered of the same color, and a deep fringed edge of white crimson. In the other an arrangement of rose pink was extremely pretty; the centrepiece being a most beautiful piece of eastern embroidery in silver and gold on white satin, on which were large mail-embossed floral designs. In the evening the young people assembled for a dance, which was delightful and thoroughly enjoyed by all the guests. The presence of numerous young ladies from the R.M.C. being an immense addition to the list of partners. Mr. and Mrs. Tyrrell were the kindest and best of host and hostess, and the hours were small when the last dance was played.

The dance programmes at the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club hall, Montreal, were on sailcloth, fastened with blue and yellow tassels, bearing the logo of the club, and the lettering in gold.

Wright, Lydian Sherwood, and Christie.

A London despatch giving further details of the wedding of Lady Jean's daughter, Miss Madeline Stanley, who was married to the Right Hon. W. Brodie, secretary of state for war, Boston, on their way to their home in Hanover Square. Her soft, bridegroom met for the first time at the altar. A young girl once rushed into the house of a girl friend, and said, "Mary, Mary, I'm to be married in the morning." "Yerrah, to whom?" inquired her friend. "To one of the boys of the Donovans." "To which of them?" asked her friend. "Well," said the bride, "I was rather dark near the fire, and I didn't rightly know which." The judge mentioned another case where a woman called out to her daughter an hour earlier than usual of a morning. "Mollie, get up at once." "Yerrah, for what, mother?" "You're to be married to-day, Mollie." "Indeed, and to whom?" inquired Mollie. "Now, what's that you're saying? The morning—London Daily Chronicle.
