SCHOOL OF FORESTRY.

The course of study in connection with the forestry department of Toronto University has been published, and by next summer, it is announced, the classes will be opened.

The point of the article in the Mail, however, is the reference to the attitude and experience of Queen's College. The local institution is alleged to have been considering the question of forestry for several years, and the minister of education, in a speech last April, when laying the foundation stone of the new School of Mines, said he hoped that room would be made in the building for the teaching of forestry.

The local branch of the British Empire League, last night, decided, on motion of Prof. Baker, of Toronto University, to ask the Canadian executive of the league to take steps to organize branches throughout Ontario.

Notice was given of a motion favoring the appointment of a representative imperial court of appeal and that Canada pay part of the cost of such a court.

St. Clair was thrown against the side of the icy chute, his right leg being so badly ground and mutilated that when the hospital authorities examined him they decided on amputation.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A Matter of Imbroglio. St. Alban's School, Brockville, Jan. 15.—(To the Editor): Reports in Kingston papers give a summary of a sermon lately delivered by a "highly respected Anglican divine," on alleged dining habits at the Royal Military College at Kingston.

As a schoolmaster, I am very deeply interested in everything that concerns the Royal Military College. I have several old pupils in residence at the present time. I hope to introduce many more in the years to come.
