NOT DUE TO CLIMATE.

Catarrh Is Found Everywhere.

Catarrh is at home anywhere and everywhere. While more common in cold, changeable climates, it is by no means confined to them, but is prevalent in every state and territory in the union.

The common definition of catarrh is a chronic cold in the head, which, if long neglected, often destroys the sense of smell and hearing; but there are many other forms of the disease, even more obstinate and dangerous.

Catarrh of the throat and bronchial tubes as well as catarrh of the stomach and liver are almost as common as nasal catarrh and generally more difficult to cure.

Catarrh is undoubtedly a blood disease and can only be successfully eradicated by an internal treatment. Sprays, washes and powders are useless so far as reaching the real seat of the disease is concerned.

Dr. McIverney advises catarrh sufferers to use a new preparation, sold by druggists, called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, because actual analysis has shown these tablets to contain certain antiseptic qualities of the highest value and being an internal remedy, pleasant to the taste, convenient and harmless, can be used as freely as required, as well for children as for adults.

An attorney and public speaker, who had been a catarrh sufferer for years says:

"Every fall I would catch a cold which would settle in my head and throat and hang on all winter long and every winter it seemed to get a little worse. I was continually clearing my throat and my voice became effected to such an extent as to interfere with my public speaking.

"I tried troches and cheap cough cures and sometimes got relief, but only for a short time, until this winter when I learned of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, through a newspaper advertisement. Two fifty cent boxes which I bought at my druggist's, cleared my head and throat in fine shape and to guard against a return of my old trouble I keep a box of the tablets on hand and whenever I catch a little cold I take a tablet or two and ward off any serious developments."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets deserves to head the list as a household remedy, to check and break up coughs and colds, because unlike many other catarrh and cough cures these tablets contain no opiate, cocaine or any injurious drug.

FAIR MEETING

WAS HELD IN CITY COUNCIL CHAMBERS.

After the Payment of Fees the Work of Selecting Officers was Proceeded With—Thanks Offered.

The annual meeting of the Kingston District Fair Association was held in the council chamber Wednesday. Ex-Mayor Shaw, president, occupied the chair, while around the horseshoe were seated: Mayor Bell, Alderman Knapp, G. W. Bell, V.S., Col. Hunter, W. H. Godwin, Alderman Kent, Enoch Godwin, James Daley, A. Abernethy.

Secretary Oram read the minutes of the last regular meeting, which were adopted. O. V. Bartels, the treasurer, followed with the financial statement, which has already been published. The balance on hand, as certified by the auditors was $105.18, the receipts having been $5,091.05 and the expenditure $4,985.87. Mr. Godwin moved that the treasurer's report be adopted and referred to the new board. Carried.

The next, and a very important order of business, was the payment of fees. The gentlemen present each extracted a dollar from the depths of their trousers' pockets.

Col. Hunter proposed a vote of thanks to the retiring officers. The fair was handicapped by the absence of farmers and Americans and by other causes; it was a wonder under the circumstances that the association was able to make both ends meet. The motion, seconded by Mr. Godwin, was endorsed.

Alderman Kent proposed an especial vote of thanks to the retiring president for his energetic services. Mayor Bell had pleasure in seconding the vote, to which Mr. Shaw gave a fitting reply. He paid a compliment to the energetic men associated with him and thanked Providence for providing good weather. Secretary Oram had been the right man in the right place.

The election of officers was then proceeded with. It resulted as follows: Honorary presidents, the representatives of the city and county in the house of commons and the legislature; president, Mayor Bell; first vice-president, James McParland; second vice-president, Alderman James Knapp; third vice-president, D. E. Starr; board of directors, Aldermen Kent, McLeod, Craig, Walken, G. W. Bell, W. H. Godwin, A. Abernethy, Chadwick and Shaw; representatives from the county: Messrs. Fair, Spoor, Rankin and Franklin.

A JEWISH WEDDING.

Ceremony In The Local Hebrew Congregational Hall.

A Jewish marriage ceremonial took place last evening in the local Hebrew Congregational Hall, where a large number of invited guests gathered at eight o'clock. The contracting parties were Joseph Cohen, of this city, and Miss Celia Hoffman, New York. Rabbi Shapero performed the ceremony according to the Hebrew rites. The bride was attended by Miss Chiae Abramson, while Samuel Cohen was groomsman. As the bridal party entered the hall and took their places under the canopy, Mrs. Frederick Obendorffer played Mendelssohn's Wedding March. The bride was given away by Joseph Abramson.

After the ceremony, which occupied less than fifteen minutes, a short reception was held by the newly married couple, who received hearty congratulations. A supper was later served in the dining hall, and the rest of the evening devoted to merriment, dancing being the chief feature of the entertainment. The charming bride received a large and beautiful array of gifts.

Marshall—Sharpe.

Last evening the residence of Capt. Sharpe, Arch street, was the scene of a very happy event, the occasion being the marriage of his eldest daughter, Maggie, to W. A. Marshall, eldest son of Robert Marshall, Rideau street. The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. A. Laird, of Cooke's church. The bride was assisted by her sister, Ella, while Joseph, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Only the families of the contracting parties were present at the ceremony. The parlors were tastefully decorated with plants and flowers and the supper was very elaborate. At 9:30 o'clock the bride held a reception, which was attended by a large number of her friends, who called to offer congratulations and say good-bye. The presents were not only numerous but costly and useful. The happy couple left at midnight for Toronto, Buffalo and Chicago, taking with them the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

Wedding On Howe Island.

A wedding ceremony took place in the Church of St. Philomen's, Howe Island, on Wednesday, when Miss Nellie, daughter of Michael Pickett, and Robert Foley, son of ex-Reeve Foley, were united in marriage. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Agnes, and Richard Foley, brother of the groom, was groomsman. Rev. Father O'Gorman performed the ceremony, after which a reception was held at the bride's home. Mr. and Mrs. James Norris and several others from Kingston were among the guests.

Course Disapproved.

The attention of the inland revenue department at Ottawa has been called, through the public press, to a letter written by F. R. E. Campeau, soliciting from cigar and tobacco manufacturers donations in the shape of products of their respective factories. W. J. Gerald, deputy minister, desires to state that the letter was written without the knowledge of the department, and the course pursued by Mr. Campeau meets with its strongest disapproval. The department regrets that such a request should have been made.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Rideau Ward Elector Has Something to Say.

Kingston, Jan. 22.—(To the Editor): In the local conservative sheet of yesterday there appeared a letter signed "Ex-Alderman," criticising the papers for devoting so much space to Alderman Meek's remarks in council on Monday night, and lamenting that other aldermen were not reported as much. The fact of the matter seems to be that Alderman Meek went to the council meeting fully prepared to discuss the issues, while perhaps two-thirds of his comrades went like the unwise virgins, with no oil in their lamps. So it was that our Rideau ward representative was prepared to speak intelligently and with authority—with authority I repeat—on the questions of debate. The facts and figures he presented, along with alderman Craig, showed that he had spent much time in their preparation, and he certainly brought to light many things that the people and their aldermen didn't know better. And he wasn't talking for effect either; he's a man of action as he will show, "Ex-Alderman" and the conservative sheet before the year is out.

Further, it didn't take Alderman Meek long to floor the chairman of the board of works when the latter arose and declared that the city had more assets to show. Our Rideau ward representative denied that point blank, and pointed to his infallible proof—the treasurer's statement. It didn't take Alderman Meek long either to shatter the ridiculous argument of Mayor Bell, and to gain the approbation of several conservative aldermen; and further, it didn't take him two seconds to show Alderman Joseph Boomer Walken, that although he was chairman of parks for several years, he knew but little about the finances when the Ontario ward lawyer stated that the parks' committee paid for the water it used.

That's the man "Ex-Alderman" is sore on, because he has proved himself to be the ablest debater in the city council. The pity is that we have not more of his kind, men who will give of their ability to help their city. Rideau ward is proud of Alderman Meek.—RIDEAU WARD ELECTOR.

Army Service Corps Course Nearing an End.

It has been arranged that the annual inspection of No. 3 company, Army Service Corps, will take place in the armouries on Saturday night, 31st inst., by Col. Montizambert, D. O.C. In order to draw pay, every member of the company must attend parade, and it is hoped that a creditable turn out will follow.

Last night Lieut.-Col. Biggar's lecture was on the subject of "Meat," when the good and bad qualities of cattle were explained.

Hungry Passengers.

The night mail train from the west, due here at 2:30 a.m., did not reach the city till nine o'clock this morning. On account of the wreck above Port Hope, it had to go around by way of Lindsay. At the junction, it was a tired lot of passengers who disembarked and made a raid on the lunch room. Young ladies jumped off on snowy platform in their waists, with their dainty feet displayed, and scampered along to get their little lily-white hands on some choice morsels of food. There was a large crowd of passengers on the train, several Kingston people being among the number. The Belleville people aboard remained in their natural and every-day condition—asleep.

CORNWALL TIES

WITH SMITH'S FALLS ON ITS OWN ICE.

Deseronto Won From Picton, 7 to 2.—Queen's-McGill Hockey Match Causes Interest in Montreal.

McGill will have a very strong team against Queen's to-morrow night in Montreal.

Arthur Irwin was spoken of as manager for the Toronto baseball club, but he will remain with Rochester.

Four Pittsburg, Pa., players have been fined $5 each, one-third of their weekly salary, for rough work in last week's games.

Cardinal and Brockville have asked the K.B.C.-Ramblers for matches next week. Meetings may be arranged for the week following.

Ross Murphy was ruled off twice in the Ontario-Dominion hockey match of the Toronto Bank league, on Tuesday night. His only fault was a bit of body-checking.

The K.B.C.-Ramblers and Beechgroves had a practice match on Rockwood rink last night. The first named team is in fairly good shape to meet Prescott Monday night.

The Pittsburg, Pa., Amateur Hockey league has been organized and will play its matches at Duquesne Garden on Thursday nights. The teams now members are the Guarantee Title and Trust company, Pennsylvania railroad, and the Lawrenceville.

Ottawa's chances of winning the pennant of the Canadian Amateur Hockey league, down east, are good. Montreals are kicking over their defeat of Saturday night at the capital, but the whole truth is that the Ottawa bunch was superior, and won fairly.

For the third time this season the champion Winnipeg Victoria hockey team, who will be in Montreal in ten days' time, to play for the Stanley cup, were beaten by the Winnipeg Rowing club aggregation by a score of 5 to 4. The match was the fiercest ever seen on Winnipeg ice.

The first senior O.H.A. match between Cornwall and Smith's Falls took place in Cornwall last night, and resulted in a tie, each team scoring one goal. "Chaucer" Elliott was referee. The result virtually means that Smith's Falls will win the round, as that team should be able to beat Cornwall on its own ice.

Montreal Gazette: The Queen's-McGill match rivals with the Montreal-Victoria game in the interest displayed, for, although the championship contended for is not an inter-provincial one, yet it is an inter-college one, and the rivalry between the three great Canadian colleges in the line of athletics just at present is very great. Queen's, always so confident of herself in the realm of hockey, is sure to do her utmost to defend her fancied title of supremacy, while the McGill boys, stirred on by the success of the football fifteen, will endeavor to win championship honors for themselves as well.

The Quinte League hockey match in Deseronto, last night, between Picton and Deseronto, resulted in favor of the home team by 7 to 2. Referee Sutherland, of Kingston, ruled players off no less than twenty-two times. Once there were only four players on each side opposing each other. Tripping was the chief offence; notwithstanding his severity, the referee received the commendation of the spectators, even the dear girls saying that he was all right. The Deseronto maidens can scream at a hockey match nearly as well as the Gananoque damsels do at a baseball conflict. Of course the western girls should be adepts at the screech, since they live side by side with the descendants of the warwhoop tribe.

FOOD vs. DRUGS.

A Drug Man's Wisdom That Counts.

It't a shrewd man who, while in the drug business, learns that although drugs are all right in their place, the use of proper food will make medicine unnecessary in the majority of cases.

"Travelling through various towns," writes a drug salesman from Lancaster, Pa., "drinking different waters to which I was not accustomed, eating strangely-prepared meals at irregular hours, I contracted dyspepsia, accompanied by nervousness, loss of sleep and consequently loss of energy. I often had the 'blues,' that indescribably tough feeling which makes one look on the dark side of every picture, and see the shadows of life rather than the substance, imagine the thousand calamities that were never in existence, and so render life almost unbearable. Many thousands of men under the circumstances would have resorted to stimulation from drugs or liquor.

I happened to read an article on Grape-Nuts about a case similar to my own and determined to give the food a trial. It agreed with me from the start and the miserable distress that usually came after eating did not manifest itself when I ate Grape-Nuts. I asked for this food at every hotel at which I stopped and made it the principal part of the meal. My stomach soon got so that I could eat any kind of rich food in connection with Grape-Nuts without it distressing me. My dyspepsia and nervousness disappeared and life looked bright and happy once more. I am now well, healthy, happy and able to work sixteen hours out of the twenty-four and can sleep like a healthy child the other eight hours.

My family soon tires of mushy cereals but we never tire of Grape-Nuts. The children thrive on it and enjoy it. You may publish this if you think it will encourage others to try Grape-Nuts instead of medicine or spirituous remedies that stimulate the system for a time but do not build it up." ### THE BRITISH WHIG.

Was The First Daily in Upper Canada.

William Halley, "Old Timer," in Toronto News.

The first daily paper published in Upper Canada distinguishes the city of Kingston, and the paper was the British Whig, owned and edited by Dr. Edward John Parker. For a picture of Dr. Parker I am indebted to A. B. St. Germain of your northern suburbs, who is a native of Kingston, graduated from a Kingston printing office, and once published a daily paper in Toronto. He has also supplied me with a history of the early days of the Kingston press. The writer himself has a pretty good recollection of the old Kingston newspaper men, including Stephen Myles, of Belleville, who, if alive, is now the father of the Canadian press. Not only is Kingston the place where the first daily paper in Ontario was started, but it is also the place where the first paper in Upper Canada was started on the 25th day of September, 1801, and it was named the Gazette, founded by Stephen Myles and Charles Kondall. It must have been an official gazette, or that an official gazette had preceded it, because the first official gazette in Upper Canada was published in Kingston. The Gazette was discontinued in 1818, when the Kingston Chronicle and the Kingston Herald came into existence. Among the Kingston editors were such well-known men as Chief Justice Hagerman, Col. Cartwright, B. Bidwell and the late Bishop Strachan, of the Episcopal diocese of Toronto.

The Daily News of Kingston was in existence in 1871, when it became the preferred conservative organ under the patronage of Sir John A. Macdonald; over the British Whig, which had long been the favorite conservative paper; but the Whig has ever since been a liberal organ, and the result has been that Kingston, from an ultra tory borough, has become a liberal stronghold. Kingston had once a newspaper too, named the Spectator. I am in doubt as to whether it was after that paper, or a former Spectator published in Hamilton and St. Catharines, that Robert Smiley named his paper the Hamilton Spectator. Smiley graduated from a Kingston office (the Whig), and I am inclined to think it was the Kingston paper he named his own after. The Hamilton Spectator was started as a semi-weekly in 1846, and was made a daily paper in 1850, the first west of Kingston.

In 1842 the newspapers in Upper Canada might be easily counted. I remember the Bytown Packet, the Prescott Telegraph, the Brockville Recorder, the Kingston Whig and Chronicle, the Belleville Intelligencer and Chronicle, the Cobourg Star, the Picton Gazette, the Peterboro Chronicle, the Toronto Banner, Examiner, Colonist, Christian Guardian, Star and Mirror, The Globe was not then in existence.

When Dr. Barker started his Daily British Whig in the early forties he had no uncommon difficulties to contend with. It was all so different on the other side of the line. The postal system was yet under the control of the imperial government, with T. A. Stayner, British deputy postmaster-general, located at Quebec. Postal regulations were very illiberal, and the rates of postage so high as to be prohibitory for the use of the mails, and the mails so slow as to be almost stagnant, so that publishers had to supply their distant subscribers by means of the drivers of stage coaches and other vehicles. The law of libel was very strict and burdensome, because it was the axiom that "the greater the truth the greater the libel," and political rancor was very malignant. Another thing, the "code" was yet recognized by civilized men, and Dr. Barker, the first Canadian editor of a daily paper, was frequently challenged to the field of honor. The writer remembers seeing Dr. Barker in those early days, and noticing the big fur cap with which his head was adorned. He also remembers his bitter controversies with Dr. Stuart, the editor of the News, and his famous "Spring Walks," where he was wont to note all the building improvements in the Limestone City.

When the first Canadian daily newspaper (the Whig) made its appearance some of the American newspapers made merry over the event, piquing the Canadians on their slowness, attacking the postal laws of the time and comparing the backwardness of Canada with the progress, especially in the press, in the United States. All of this is now changed. The press of Canada will compare well with any press in existence in enterprise, intelligence and typography, and perhaps surpass most of its contemporary newspapers in the United States even. Laws have been liberalized, facilities have been increased, support given, and it is in the van with the progress of the age.

To Have A New Store.

Campbell Bros., the Princess street hatters and furriers, moved to-day into the store across the street next to Corbett's hardware, while their store is being rebuilt. There is not likely to be a parade of Irish societies on March 17th. The programme as at present sketched is to have the members of the societies attend mass in the morning of the 17th or on the Sunday preceding. A grand concert will be given in the opera house on the night of the 17th.

Our Coal Is As Clean As Though It Were Washed and Brushed.

Each lump stands by itself. Good solid coal—so much solid fire. After coal reaches the surface of the earth from the mines, impurities are picked out by hand. Therefore it is screened several times before it reaches you, and dirt, slate, etc., really have no chance, if the dealers are careful.
We are very careful.
