Canadian Woman's News Letter.

From the Canadian Syndicate.

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—Honorable Angus McDonald, Lady Antrim's younger son, and his cousin, Bernard Howard, have decided to remain in Canada a while longer. Mr. McDonald is a handsome lad of about twenty years, with a frank, good-natured face, and a merry boyish laugh. An amusing incident, which happened during his stay here has so far escaped publicity. At a concert in the Russell Theatre he was present with Lady Minto, Lady Antrim, his brother and cousins, and Miss Lambton. His first glance at the programme showed a familiar name, to which his attention was drawn smilingly by the others. As the concert wore to a conclusion, a slight nervousness was evinced by his faint blush, and a shy laugh once in a while. At last "Here it is Angus," whispered some one, and his aunt glanced at him in unforgotten amusement. The singer stepped forward and with a bow toward the vice-regal box began her masterpiece "Angus McDonald." At the first verse, describing the departure of the warrior and his men, his namesake in the box blushed adorably, while joining embarrassedly in the half suppressed laughter of his friends, but when in the following verses the girl reminds her lover of their trysting place in the glen and tells him she will wait for him there on his return, it was too much even for the semblance of gravity, especially as the words were pointed by languishing looks from the singer. Lady Antrim's face wore an expression of amusement mixed with pity for her son's embarrassment, but on the other face amusement predominated. The song ended in a tumult of applause, but only when the opening strains of the prelude showed that the encore was not a repetition of its predecessor, did the Honorable Angus McDonald breathe easily and regain his wonted composure.

The young people of the capital at all times enthusiastic over out-door sports, and skating in particular, have this year become more than ever enamored of the latter graceful art. The competition arranged by Lady Minto, which will take place next month, is probably the cause of this increased interest. Every morning, Rideau Rink is frequented by a band of young people, who give their time to the practice of intricate curves and figures. The ladies' hockey teams, which last year practised vigorously, this year have been neglected, and every spare moment is given to fancy skating. Government House is almost always represented. On the day of Lady Minto's departure for Washington she skated at the rink until luncheon time with Lady Antrim and her other guests, leaving Ottawa at four o'clock. On Monday the remaining members of the party accompanied by Lord Minto, again visited the rink, and spent their last morning in Ottawa there. Intending competitors are much interested in possible rivals. Ottawa is most afraid of a Montreal lady, but Quebec, Toronto, Halifax and even Orillia have also some excellent skaters.

Mrs. Stanley Maude, the new president of the Woman's Art Association of Ottawa is taking a great interest in that organization, and under her guidance, the difficulties which threatened its existence at the beginning of the season have nearly disappeared. The first of a series of art talks and teas will be given early in February, and an interesting round of visits to the art collections of the city has been begun. Back of the Cough

There's more to a cough than the tickling sensation in the throat. There's a cold behind that and a weak spot to be strengthened.

Cough mixtures get as far as the tickling sensation in the throat; that is where their work stops. They may relieve the cough, but they do not cure the cold and certainly will not build up the system. Their action is therefore merely local and of necessity very limited.

Scott's Emulsion does not stop at the throat. It eases that too, but its mission is beyond that. It not only cures the cough, but it cures the cold which is back of the cough. It searches out the real cause of the trouble and corrects the wasting and weakening conditions. In its passage through the body it distributes strength to the worn out tissues, feeds the blood corpuscles and tones up the body. There is nothing better than Scott's Emulsion to build up a run down system after a cold.

Canadian housekeepers will no doubt be delighted to learn that Mrs. Boomer, who is an ex-vice president of the National Council of Women and is now in England, is making an effort to have domestic servants sent to Canada, instead of to South Africa, where they are said not to be needed—though that there should be a spot on the face of the civilized globe, where domestic servants are not needed is rather hard to believe—but to the reflecting person there may seem to be little prospect of improvement in the situation, even if Mrs. Boomer succeeds. Servants brought out to Canada have long shown a tendency, which dates back to the days of Lady Simcoe, who suffered extreme inconvenience from this cause, to desert to the United States; and even when they do stay in the country, they quickly develop all the independence and unreasonableness of the native product. Winnipeg ladies thought, perhaps, that their troubles were ended when the opportunity arose to secure German and Meunonite servants; but according to the latest advices, they are now in more difficulties than ever. The young women, who would probably have been docile enough in the old world, will not endure the slightest infringement on their rights, and if asked to stay in in the evening to wait on guests, they promptly transfer themselves to another employer. They make engagements without, apparently, the slightest intention of keeping them, and have developed a decided fondness for staying only two or three days in a place.

In response to a request from Lord Milner, a hundred and sixty young women—teachers, domestics, lady helps and clerks—were sent out recently, by a London committee, to the Transvaal. Here they found situations awaiting them, while two hotels had been erected for their accommodation at Johannesburg. This looks as if women were in more difficulties than ever, but other reports are not so encouraging. It appears that the average wage paid to women teachers hardly reaches £180 a year, which owing to high prices, is equal to not more than £60 in England. These conditions, however, will probably not operate to the injury of the Canadian teachers. These forty young ladies enlisted for a year in the educational corps at a salary of £100 and expenses, and although it is understood that most of them intend to remain in South Africa, it will not be in the capacity of teachers.

A Chicago paper states that a pair of gloves with an accompanying note sent by the Princess of Wales to a little Canadian child, were recently bought by a loyal Montreal gentleman for £110. This incident, along with the recent famous utterance of Miss Grant of Kingston, may help to convince the good people of the United States, that Canadian loyalty to the empire and to the royal house, is not by any means a thing of the past.

Cannibals Expert Wooers.

St. Louis Star.
 Miss Agnes McAllister, who spent thirteen years among the cannibal tribes of the dark continent, in an address at Philadelphia recently, declared that the uncivilized man is of ten more delicate and original in his love-making than is the flat pattern product of civilization.
 When a wedding is arranged by the uncivilized people, the head man of the tribes acts as master of ceremonies. The prospective bridegroom is invited to a council and officially notified that the time has come when he must look for a wife and send down Antiquating all this, the young man has been casting his eye about at likely girls, and has probably made a selection. A mutual friend is sent to the girl with the following message: "You tell that woman I like her."
 The messenger returns with the girl's reply: "You tell that man I bear what he says."
 All that sounds very formal, but the young couple understand each other perfectly. Back of these statements are many meetings, in the moonlight, maybe, love-making couched in phraseology poetic and original. Of all people who understand how to express the language of love with the eyes the most expert are those uncivilized Africans.
 Sometimes a young man has to spend much time in propitiating his prospective mother-in-law. He sends a friend to the mother with the message: "I come to tell you I like your daughter."
 She flies into a rage and declares her disapproval, but he goes back at regular intervals with the same message. The mother-in-law's opposition becomes less with frequent presents, and when she is fully won there is a wedding.

To Tax Old Maids.

In the Kansas legislature has been introduced a bill to tax able-bodied bachelors, forty between forty and sixty years, $50 per annum, and to extract $25 a year from able-bodied spinsters between thirty-five and fifty years who have no families to support; these taxes to go into the school fund. Another provision of this measure will bill fines to the school fund the salaries of unmarried state officials. This is a bill, at Gov. Bailey and Lieut. Gov. Hanna, who each said before election that, if elected, he would marry a Kansas woman, but who have not kept this promise, at least each has been "proposed to" by several hundred women.
 If the bill goes through it is obvious that the government can't get their salaries by marrying. It is possible that the old maids of Kansas will prefer to pay the tax to entering wedlock, while the bachelors may consider $50 per annum a cheap price for it.

NEWBURG NEWS

APPEALS MADE IN BEHALF OF MISSIONS.

A Literary Programme of Merit—The Installation of Foresters—A Cheese Meeting—The Session's Results.

Newburgh, Jan. 29.—On Sunday evening last at St. John's church (Anglican), a missionary deputation, consisting of the Venerable Archdeacon Worrell and E. J. B. Pense, M. P.P., Kingston, made the annual missionary appeal to the congregation. Mr. Pense dealt comprehensively with the history of mission work in the various dioceses of the province and of the Kingston diocese in particular, emphasizing (1) the feeling of gratitude which ought to obtain for work accomplished thus far, (2) the feeling of loyalty to the present need of the church, and (3) hopefulness for the future progress of the work. Archdeacon Worrell made a very earnest appeal for the manifestation in the people of that spirit of self-sacrifice seen in the wonderful love of Christ, who suffered and died that men might be saved, compelled and constrained by the necessity laid on him to do the will of the Father. The response to the appeals were generous, about $35 being subscribed at the meeting, which betokens an increase in the total givings over last year.

There was a literary programme at the meeting of the Presbyterian Christian Endeavor society on Tuesday evening. The evening was given to a debate on the subject, "Resolved, that the people of Israel prospered more under the rule of Samuel as judge and prophet than under the reign of David as king." It proved exceedingly interesting and very instructive. The affirmative was upheld by T. A. Dunmoody and Misses Grace Dougan and Mary McKay, and the negative by E. Gandier and Misses Florence Wilson and Elsie Moore. Every paper was good. Rev. J. Gandier presided and the attendance was large. The judges, Messrs. J. W. Thomson and J. M. Denyes awarded the debate to the negative.

The annual meeting of the patrons of Newburgh cheese factory was held in Finkle's hall here this afternoon. It was well attended. The auditor, George Anson Aylesworth read a report showing that this one factory during last season brought over nearly $31,000 into this neighborhood. Last year's totals and averages are the greatest and best in the forty years of this factory's history. Milk enough to fill a mill pond, or to be exact 3,374,285 pounds of milk was made into cheese, which cheese sold for $3,987.56. It required less than ten pounds of milk to make a pound of cheese.

The cheesemaker said the universal rate was lately owing to the many cool nights last summer. Each stand and cow produced $30.21. Mr. Cleall was re-elected manager, salesman and secretary treasurer. One patron wanted to know if we were going to get as good prices for cheese during 1902 as during 1902. He was promptly answered that prospects are better now than they were last January. In order not to avert the owners the same bargains were made, the same officers re-elected, the same regulations adopted as last year. May the same dividends follow. Thomas Winters, will again be maker, than whom there are very few better in the dominion we think.

A SEA TRAGEDY.

Mutinous Crew Who Killed Their Captain and Six Sailors.
 Liverpool, Jan. 29.—Four sailors, who arrived in Liverpool yesterday, have been arrested, charged with perpetrating a horrible sea tragedy. It is stated that they were sailors aboard the barque Veronica, of St. John, N.B., which left Bilboa, Miss., in the latter part of 1902, for Montevideo. The prisoners, it is charged, murdered the captain and six of the crew, set fire to the barque and then escaped in a small boat, taking the negro cook with them. The cook's life was spared on condition that he act as servant. The cook informed the police of the tragedy. The prisoners deny the charge. They say the vessel caught fire, the captain leaving with four men in one boat, and the second officer with the others
