VERMONTERS VOTE IN FAVOR OF A LICENSE LAW.

State "Dry" For Fifty Years—Big Cities Roll up a Vote Which the Little Places Cannot Overcome.

White River Junction, Vt., Feb. 4.—The advocates of local option carried the state yesterday, and after half a century of prohibition the cities and towns of Vermont will, after March 1st, be permitted to decide whether or not intoxicating liquors shall be sold in those communities.

The total vote, with four small towns missing, is 30,571 in favor of a license law, and 29,965 opposed, a majority of 1,603 for the law. The missing towns gave a total vote of less than 300 at the last election. It is a coincidence that Vermont voted for prohibition in 1833 by 1,500 majority.

The question before the voters was whether a high license local option law passed by the last legislature should be accepted or rejected. The law was to take effect on March 1st should the people accept, as they did, and December 1st, 1906, should it have been rejected, giving the two legislatures sitting in the meantime, the opportunity of repealing it.

The big cities and towns decided the question. The cities of Burlington, Montpelier, Rutland, St. Albans and Barre, with the village of Bennington, rolled up a majority of 6,291 in favor of the law, a total that the 800 little communities were entirely unable to overcome.

SUNDAY LESSON.

The Church at Corinth Under Review.

The International Sunday school lesson for February 8th, is found in Acts xviii., 1-11. The golden text is I. Corinthians, iii., 11. The time is A. D. 52. The scene of the lesson is at Corinth. The distance from Athens to Corinth by water is about forty miles, and the voyage can be made with a fair wind in four or five hours.

"Corinth," says Prof. Bosworth, "was a great seaport city, midway between Rome and Ephesus. Its life was characterized by a combination of commercial greed, superficial but concealed culture and flagrant sensuality, which made it by far the most difficult of all cities to evangelize."

Both men were tentmakers. During most of Paul's missionary life he had worked for his living. He always maintained that it would have been right for him to receive his living from those for whom he was spending his life, but he shrank from being a burden to anyone, and preferred to earn his own way. The rabbinic laws required every Jew to teach his son some trade. As usual Paul began his work among the Jews.

Constrained by the word: Ramsay translates this, "was wholly absorbed in preaching." Jesus, the Christ of the "Messiah." Think how gallant an assertion it that would be to the Jews, that he had killed Jesus. Blasphemed, uttered bitter and abusive language, probably against Jesus, denouncing Him as an impostor. He shook out His raiment: "The act was symbolic of shaking off all responsibility for those who were in opposition to Paul and his work, as especially bitter here, partly because of his process in winning that great man to the encouragement that God had upheld Moses and Joshua and Elijah. "Be not afraid."

for I am with thee." This is one of the few occasions in Paul's life, when his implacable enemies, the Jews, were beaten at their own game. Paul remained year and a half at Corinth, preaching and teaching the gospel.

Victims of Scarlet Fever.

Lansdowne, Feb. 3.—The dreaded scarlet fever, has claimed another child, the young and only son of N. W. Lawson. The remains were interred in the Union cemetery last Thursday. Another child is now ill, though good hopes are entertained of her recovery.

For Mr. and Mrs. Bowen the dearest of their children, At Ivy Lea Mr. Turkington has lost his little daughter, and two of Mr. Dickie's children, at Rockport, are dead, all from the fever, which seemed to be of a very violent type. The funeral of the late Mrs. John Hollingsworth, Escott, was held in St. John's church Sunday, and was very largely attended. The remains were placed in the vault, Ellsworth Plumstead, the well-known entertainer, gave one of his inimitable concerts in the town hall Wednesday evening last, under the auspices of L. O. L. No. 26. T. Keating is able to be around again after his illness, which he contracted in the general hospital, Brockville, for some time, with blood poisoning, is not improving very much.

KIND OF FEED FOR MILCH COWS.

Prices of Canadian Peas—Annual Pruning of Grape Vines—How to Make Hens Lay in Winter.

"Corn is not a perfect food," said T. C. Raynor, of Rosehall, at the Farmers' Institute meeting at Bell's Corners, on Friday night, "as the capacity of the cow is not sufficient to deal with enough of it. Corn meal will not produce very much milk, and dairy-men should mix it with wheat, bran or chopped feed."

Prof. Will, of Madison, Wis., says it is absolutely necessary to have cow stables well lighted. Sunlight purifies the atmosphere, and is also essential to the health and welfare of the cows.

Mr. McNeill, Dominion fruit inspector, advises farmers in the Ottawa valley to grow more strawberries. He states that an acre of land planted with strawberry plants, properly cared for, will yield from $80 to $120 worth of fruit per year.

The South Oxford Farmers' Institute passed a strong resolution in favor of free rural mail delivery. Prices for Canadian peas have gone up lately in the market. A bushel in some cases to eight and ten shillings per half-case. This gives Canadian growers a return much above any other. They can expect in our own markets.

The scarcity of fuel, and the extent of the suffering due to that scarcity, are indicated by the fact that old fence rails are being sold for firing in Stratford at 10c. each. Returns show that 1,346 farms were located in the Temiskaming district last year.

The membership of Ontario Farmers' Institute now amounts to $24,711 as compared with 21,450 a year ago. Cheekers at a course in Montreal, bringing last week, 12c. to 12c. a lb.; geese brought 9c. to 9c. and turkeys, 13c. to 14c. a lb.

An annual pruning should be given all grape vines at some time during the period of rest, between the late frost frosts and the early movement of sap the following spring, but never prune when the wood is actually frozen. Good authorities advise to prune to the exact time that is best to prune.

It is authoritatively held that cattle can safely be dehorned at any time in the year. Nothing need be put upon the wounds except in fly-time; then use kerosene.

Exposure of dairy cows to winter rains results in serious loss to the dairyman, and the dry cold of winter days calls for additional feed. To produce eggs in winter hens must have warm, comfortable quarters, good food and plenty of it; including a warm mash in the morning. Old beans, boiled two or three hours, and mixed with bran, makes a good mash. The sort of feedings here is to give enough of each kind of feed to keep them hungry for it.

A. McNeillage, editor of the Scottish Farmer, who visited Canada in December, writes in a recent issue of his paper, that the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph is the foremost teaching centre of its kind in the new world.

Farmers intending to purchase new trees should remember that the following varieties of winter apples do best in this district: Wealthy, Canadian Baldwin, Ben Davis, Mann, Scott's Winter, Wolfe River, Golden Russet and McIntosh.

William Henderson, county councillor of Perthshire, Scotland, and the accredited delegate to Canada at the Canadian Cattle Importation Association, arrived in Montreal on Wednesday. He stated that the farmers of Scotland and England wanted Canada to petition the British parliament to remove the embargo on Canadian cattle. He declared that the chief reason for its existence, the old land farmers would benefit by being able to buy the lean cattle, and, after keeping them till they become fat, sell them at a fair profit.

Many farmers in Frontenac county are growing good sized crops of flax. They declare there is nothing better, and no crop that pays more. It is fed to calves, horses and other stock. Flax growing, however, is hard on the land as it is a very rich crop.

"I am a great believer in the value of bran as a food," says Hugh Rankin, the veteran farmer of Colton. "I believe that it pays well to feed it when it costs $15 a ton."

The farmers who attended the Institute meetings at Elginburg on Monday evinced a great eagerness for information. The discussion that followed proved to be very helpful, and many good ideas were interchanged. The farmers fired question after question at the speakers, and kept them busy answering. The latter declared that they had never addressed, and that they had seldom found such a highly intelligent and shrewd body of farmers.

To Regulate Fishing.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—S. T. Bastedo, deputy commissioner of fisheries for Ontario, advised recently to the officials of New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio and Wisconsin, suggesting a joint conference to make uniform the laws and regulations respecting fishing in the great lakes. The suggestion has met with general approval of these officers and a meeting will probably be held in the spring.

Come And Be Astonished.

Prices decreasing; crowds increasing. At Abernethy's shoe sale. When washing greasy dishes or pots and pans, Lever's Dry Soap (a powder) will remove the grease with the greatest ease. Essex county fishermen have appealed to the fishery department asking the prohibition of fishing with gill nets from 25c. ties, puffs, knois and four-hands, 2 for 25c. Jenkins.

OLD GLASGOW.

The City Was Founded 1,800 Years Ago.

We hear a great deal in praise of Glasgow as a model city, and of its municipalizing in the interest of the citizens nearly every public franchise is in the hands of Glasgow. Glasgow was founded by Kentigern or St. Mungo, but the city did not amount to much until after the now much derided (by Scottish home rulers) set of union between Scotland and England, about 200 years ago. That act enabled the merchant adventurers of Glasgow to send out ships to Virginia and Maryland for cargoes of tobacco leaf. Very soon the city became the centre of the tobacco traffic. For a long time thereafter the "tobacco lords" of Glasgow—in their scarlet robes and on their own privileged beat—were almost as strongly marked figures as were the merchants of Venice. When the American colonies revolted and the United States republic was established, Glasgow lost its flourishing tobacco trade, but some of the "tobacco lords" who held heavy stocks made enormous fortunes by the rise in the prices. These fortunes formed the foundation of larger enterprises elsewhere, and the begetting of numerous "merchant princes." When driven from Virginia the merchants established trade with the West Indies, where sugar succeeded tobacco as the staple of trade. Then came cotton, and next iron. Meantime there had been a continuous development of trade with India, with China, with South America, with the United States and ultimately with Australia and New Zealand. Till then the Clyde had been little better than a stagnant ditch, but Glasgow by degrees formed a deep, broad, navigable waterway and then came commerce and ship-building. Now Glasgow is little short of being the wonder of the world—an example for cities and towns.

A "Stocking Social."

Campbell is in Kingston for a week. Fred Avery is visiting Woodstock and other places. Mrs. Norman Switzer was in the village renewing acquaintance. Miss Bradley, of Gananoque, is visiting friends here. Mrs. (Dr.) Kilborn is contemplating a trip to Montreal. The Anglican church is being decorated to-day for the wedding of Miss Maud Gracey, of this place, and Mr. Garrett, Maberly.

What so healthful for the children at any hour, when they ask for food? And little stomachs are always clamoring. John Strange Winter the author of Bootles Baby says: "More fastidious children about their appetite than my own cannot be found. They all take Bovril eagerly. A Cup of Bovril with the addition of a piece of toast makes a thoroughly good meal for any small child."

TAKING STOCK THIS WEEK.

We desire to return thanks to the many buyers who frequented our recent Red Letter Sale. We made an honest effort to place on sale the best qualities of shoes at the lowest prices ever offered in Kingston. Judging by the enormous business done in January our efforts were appreciated. We will note these lines carefully and place them on sale on SATURDAY NEXT at about one-half the price. BETTER WAIT.
