WATER QUESTION AGAIN. The water taken from our harbor, at many different times and points, and under varying conditions, has been examined by the Provincial Board of Health, and with results that are not entirely satisfactory.

It is as Dr. Bryce has said, that bacteria have been found in the stream at a distance of 4,500 feet from the city front—very nearly a mile—and beyond the eddy or river current, caused by the diversion or deflection of the water at or off Point Frederick, the inference is plain that they did not reach that point in the sewage from the city.

MINERS' GREAT SUCCESS. The people have waited a long time for the decision of the coal mine commission, but they have not waited in vain.

Another attempt is being made in the federal parliament to make cigarette smoking by small boys offensive. It may, however, be easier to pass a law than to enforce it.

One thing appears to be certain—there will be a change of government in Britain before long. The question is, who will lead it? A coalition is expected, with Mr. Chamberlain as its leader.

Divine Healer Schlatter is said to have reached Hamilton and says he can raise from the dead. Something out of the common is wanted in the ambitious city of the Spectator man is ever to be saved.

President Castro, of Venezuela, is a shrewd one. He resigns his office at a critical time in order that he may have it pressed upon him by the congress and people. The aforesaid dictator has become a popular hero.

"Too much snobbery," says the Canadian who are serving under imperial officers in South Africa. The war office has not succeeded in bracing up the army, and never will while petticoat influence prevails in London.

The Montreal Gazette, discussing Gagne's performances in the legislature, says "a man cannot always be courteous when in the neighborhood of crooks." This remark is capable of a very wide application, and to some of his political friends.

Calculations in Montreal, made after consultation with the steamship companies, indicate that there will be over one hundred thousand immigrants from the Canadian North West this season. Ours is just now the land of promise.

FIGHT THE GRAPERS OFF. The rumored consolidation of the great corporations, in Montreal, which own and control the electric power, comes as another warning against monopoly.

Public opinion is directed upon the decision of the courts in regard to treating in elections. Most people want to see it stopped whether the candidate has been used to it or not. An amendment to the law will probably be proposed.

The Montreal Star has not heard of Canadians going to the United States to learn the tricks of the machine. No, but we have heard in Ontario of Americans being imported to run the machine. Mr. Whitney had a few of them in the last election. He called them detectives.

Here's a proposition that staggers the intellect! The liquor men of New York state will lease the canal for 10 years, improve and run it for the public benefit, if the proposed excise law is not passed. The scheme is without a parallel, in political history.

A Close Review of Paul's Character. The International Sunday school lesson for March 24th, is a review of Paul's work. The golden text is Matthew, xviii., 20.

The lessons of the present quarter have covered the great missionary work of Paul. They include the work of his second and third missionary tours. His first tour was a comparatively narrow one, including only the islands of Cyprus, and a few cities in the southern part of Asia Minor.

There are a considerable number of men that are mentioned in connection with this period of history, but the most important are Luke, the writer of history; Silas and Timothy, companions and helpers of Paul; Aquila and Priscilla, the faithful and wise man and wife with whom Paul became associated at Corinth, and who came with him to Ephesus.

What are the secrets of his marvelous life? 1. Consciousness of his own salvation. 2. His respect for the sacred trust committed to him.

A prominent business man of Cincinnati came home and found his wife and baby dead, and he himself committed suicide by asphyxiation. The only clue to the mystery is a note left by the man, accusing his wife of killing the baby. The police think the woman may have killed herself and child on account of domestic troubles.

The work of the Alaska boundary commission will not commence until the end of the second week of April, and it is presumed that the commission will hardly conclude its sittings, which will take place in London before the middle of August.

Lord Rosebery moved in the House of Lords today that the house express its approval of the policy of instituting a Council of National Defence. He is in favor of bringing the army up to the requirements of the navy.

The Sultan of Morocco has said of the situation in the Sudan, but the situation is as inexplicable as the pretender has not been captured, and Taza is still held by insurgents. Lord Roberts, in speaking at the dinner on the anniversary of the siege of Lucknow, said more Highlanders had been killed in the South African war, than died by disease.

While a big drove of horses was crossing Red River at Winnipeg, the ice gave way, and fifty-five were plunged into the water. All but two were rescued. Revolutionists captured the capital of Santo Domingo after a sharp fight.

Some people have become very drunk upon it. Dan McOilleuddy has sold the Signal and will enjoy a brief rest from newspaper activity. Lots of men would have been worn out if they had used their heads as much as he has. But our friend is as jaunty and as fresh as ever.
