THE THEATRE.

NOTES AND COMMENTS ON STAGELAND.

Productions Yet To Come to Kingston.—Theatrical Speculators, Not The Playwrights, To Blame For Disgusting Dramas.

"Florodora" will be at the Montreal Academy all next week.

"When Johnny Comes Marching Home" is playing in Philadelphia.

It is said that Belasco, and the Shuberts will build theatres in Boston.

The only play of merit Montreal has this week is "The Belle of New York" at the Academy.

Chorus girls in Chicago refuse to sing or dance to the accompaniment of a non-union fiddle, at vice versa.

In Toronto this week, "David Harvey" is at the Princess and Lewis Morrison in "Faust" at the Grand.

"The Chinese Honeymoon" will, on the 22nd, celebrate its four hundredth performance at the New York Casino.

Don't be misled by a melodrama, founded on the Dreyfus case, has earned large dividends for its promoters on tour.

The "Grand of Oz" is playing to a standing room at the New York Metropolitan.

What charm there is in that production is a mystery.

Dr. Conan Doyle is putting the finishing touches to a new play from his pen, based on his book narrating the adventures of Brigadier Gerard.

A United States judge has decided that unless a play promotes science or useful arts, it is not entitled to a copyright, and can be plagiarized.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell, the English sensational actress, will remain in America till the middle of May. She will return late next season to rake in more American silver.

The return of the fifteenth century morality play, "Everyman," to New York, has developed an increasing interest in this novel presentation, which Charles Frohman has brought from England.

Richard Mansfield will next October present two new plays at his opening of the Lyric theatre, New York. These will be Tolstoy's "Ivan the Terrible," and George Alexander's London version of "Alt Heidelberg."

The musical comedy "Florodora," at the Grand opera house to-night, has a greater mixture of musical elements than any other production of its kind. For instance, in the first act, there are actually several grand opera parts.

C. S. Willard, the English actor, will play a return Canadian engagement shortly. He is to appear in Montreal and Ottawa, and Kingston theatre-goers may have the pleasure of seeing him.

A. J. Small will erect a new Toronto opera house in place of the one recently burned. It is intended to put on only the best plays procurable in the new theatre. The class that has been in vogue in the Toronto will not find a place on the stage of the new building.

Lulu Glaser last week played "Dolly Varden" in New Orleans, whence her tour will gradually proceed northward by way of Texas. This is his first trip through the south as an individual star, and she has attracted enormous audiences universally delighted with the charm of her acting, the beauty of her singing and the delightful quality of her personality.

Kingston is to have a number of first-class productions at the Grand Theatre this season (close). Among those yet to come besides Florodora to-night are Lewis Morris in Faust, "David Harum," "The Devil's Auction," Mrs. L. M. Moynie, "The Prince of Adelaide Thursday," "At Coy Corner," the Field minstrel and Robert B. Mantell.

Every musical comedy presented in New York this season was a success, while a number of spoken plays proved failures. The musical comedy may appear silly, but it's entertaining, and it's entertainment that the working business man and hard-worked people want nowadays. Of course there are some spoken plays which appeal to the people, such as "The Resurrection," "The Sign of the Cross," "The Only Way," etc., and are quite successful. But, at present, the musical comedy holds sway.

The speculative American theatrical managers judge things from a degraded point of view, and that is why so many low and disgusting plays are on the stage to-day. Now come the announcement that the recent gruesome and indignantly scented happenings in Buffalo are to be dramatized—for the intellectual elevation of the people, no doubt. The dramatics are planned for these lurid melodramas, but it is not his fault that such productions as "The Road to Ruin," "Why Women Sin," "The Fatal Wedding," etc., are on the stage. The blame lies with the theatrical projectors, who worship the golden calf.

Martin Harvey has signed contracts with Harrison Grey Fiske and James K. Hackett for another tour of America next season, under their management. They will also direct his succeeding American tours. Mr. Harvey is to begin a season in London in a new play by an American author. With this company he will return to America about Christmas. While under the management of Messrs. Fiske and Hackett he will also appear in an elaborate production of "Hamlet." It is his intention in the future to divide his time about equally between England and this continent. One of the best receptions Mr. Harvey got on his recent tour was in Kingston, much better in proportion than that accorded him in Montreal.

INCIDENTS OF THE DAY.

Newspaper Picked Up By Reporters On Their Rounds.

Easter goods at Ferguson's. Again we say that the best lettuce is to be had at Carnovsky's.

Miss Edna Mitchell, William street, is visiting Miss Horton, Brockville.

The Queen's Own Rifles, of Toronto, will visit Brantford for Victoria day.

Home grown spinach, in bunches, Saturday morning at Carnovsky's.

The schools closed to-day for the Easter vacation, which extends till the 20th.

Easter novelties for the table at Alexander's, King street.

Some one served with a summons to-day to appear before the magistrate on a charge of forestalling.

C. Lygas, Jr., of the Dominion Express company service, left to-day for a short run on the Ottawa and Montreal route.

George E. Williams, of Montreal, formerly secretary of the Y.M.C.A., is in the city. He is now in the insurance business.

See Ferguson's Klondyke chickens. There is a scarcity of tailors in the city. Some of the shops are very short-handed and are advertising in outside papers for help.

Mr. Armstrong, Joyville, has a cow which recently gave birth to a calf, which at birth weighed one hundred and seven pounds. Mr. Armstrong has some fine specimens of Holstein cattle.

C. B. Holland, the Johannesburg visitor to Kingston, said that he was first piece of custom courtesy he received since leaving South Africa was at the ferry wharf from Capt. Geoghegan, who gave him kindly attention and much information.

Y.M.C.A.'S OBJECT.

What The Association Exists For.

A number of Kingstonians are asking for more information concerning the Y.M.C.A. and its mission. In brief its work consists of the following:

To shield young men from temptation during leisure hours.

To provide a good club in response to their social nature and needs.

To provide social parlors where chums and naturally formed groups can discuss things of common interest.

To lead young men into the Christian life and thus to a higher and nobler manhood.

To provide clean athletics and body building exercises in response to their love of athletics and physical needs.

To befriended young men coming from country homes to the city with its temptations.

To counsel with those in need, visit the sick, secure situations and good boarding houses.

To provide a home with music, books, and other congenial surroundings for those away from home, or whose homes are destitute of such privileges.

To do all of the above and more for boys from twelve to sixteen years of age.

To be the downtown office of the church, and arm of the church reached out to help young men.

A Good Word for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"In December, 1900, I had a severe cold and was so hoarse that I could not speak above a whisper," says Alton Davis, of Freestone, N.Y. "I tried several remedies but got no relief until I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, one bottle of which cured me. I will always speak a good word for that medicine." For sale by all druggists.

Accused of Theft.

The police this morning arrested a young man named Charles Yatsman on a charge of stealing a skiff from a man named Donaldson, of Mellen's Bay, a village east of Cape Vincent, N.Y. Mr. Donaldson came over and secured trace of the skiff at Wolf Point, Wolfe Island, five miles below the city. He went down this afternoon to regain possession of the boat. Yatsman was wanted by the police about a year ago in connection with the theft of some coats from a Barrield farmer.

To Have Another Meeting.

The board of health went into private session yesterday afternoon on the question of increasing the salary of one of the officials. One member of the board wanted the official to give up his position, but the others would not listen to this. A special meeting will be held later when the matter will again be discussed.

A Pleasant Smoker.

The sergeants of "A" Field Battery conducted a jolly "smoker" in their mess rooms last evening, a large number of friends assembling to spend a pleasant evening with the jolly sergeants. An impromptu concert was given, members of the Marks Bros. Dramatic company assisting. At midnight light refreshments were served.

The New Hat.

With the low flat crown and wide brim. Something different from the other styles you have seen. The very latest thing. To be had at Campbell's new hat store.

The Proposed Electric Road.

One of the engineer promoters in the proposed electric road between Toronto and Cornwall reached the city this morning from Toronto, having gone over the proposed route between Toronto and Kingston. They found it very satisfactory. The requirements of such a road, on the way down they secured options on many farms for a right of way, with a view to having the road run along the farm fronts instead of the highroads, but following the line of the latter, it is probable that this scheme will be followed out. A second engineer is in Toronto and will go over the same route next week.

For Easter.

The genuine Stetson hats, the best in America, to be had at Campbell's, Kingston's up-to-date hat store. Open to-night.

Hot X Buns.

If you buy them at Ferguson's, King street, they will be delivered before breakfast on Good Friday. A fine line of Easter eggs, etc.

In Spring.

The young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of a new hat. He can get the correct thing for small cost at Campbell's. Well stored, 84 Princess street.

Easter-Jenkins-Shirts.

Many very neat stripes and small patterns in the popular black and white colors, $1, $1.50, Jenkins.

The Board of Education finance committee was to have met last night, but a quorum did not appear. The board meeting is called for this evening, but it is not likely one will be held. Holy Thursday and "Florodora" may keep the members away.

WELCOMED HIM.

G. D. HOLLAND, JOHANNESBURG, IS IN KINGSTON.

He Called Here to See Friends Whom He Met in South Africa—Says He Is Being Splendidly Entertained.

A welcome visitor to Kingston is G. D. Holland, of Johannesburg, South Africa, who is registered at the Randolph Hotel. He arrived Wednesday afternoon on the steamer New Island Wanderer, his mission being to see Capt. Bruce Carruthers and Lieut. Clarkson. Mr. Holland is proprietor of the Palace Hotel at Klerksdorp, just west of Johannesburg. He became acquainted with a number of Canadian officers, and when he left the home of the Boers about the middle of January for a trip around the world, he determined to visit Kingston. He is now in the city. He is now in the insurance business.

See Ferguson's Klondyke chickens. There is a scarcity of tailors in the city. Some of the shops are very short-handed and are advertising in outside papers for help.

Mr. Armstrong, Joyville, has a cow which recently gave birth to a calf, which at birth weighed one hundred and seven pounds. Mr. Armstrong has some fine specimens of Holstein cattle.

C. B. Holland, the Johannesburg visitor to Kingston, said that he was first piece of custom courtesy he received since leaving South Africa was at the ferry wharf from Capt. Geoghegan, who gave him kindly attention and much information.

AGED LADY DEAD.

Mrs. W. Warren, 50 Years a Resident At Long Point.

Long Point, April 6.—Death has again visited Mrs. William Warren having passed peacefully away after a short illness, only from Wednesday until Saturday, April 4th. Deceased was eighty-five years of age, and had lived in the neighborhood for over fifty years. She leaves a husband, aged eighty-three years, and two sons, Joseph Warren, Lynhurst; William Warren, Long Point, and two daughters, Mrs. John Morehead, Long Point; and widow of the late Henry Gilbert, Soperston. The funeral service was preached at Lynhurst by Rev. G. Metzler. The pallbearers were D. Townsend, James Townsend, C. J. O'Connor, George W. Lee, Isaac Plunkett and John Plunkett.

Miss Maggie Burns, victim of the shooting accident, has recovered so far as to be removed to her home to-day. A young farmer has come to stay at E. Brown's. Miss E. O'Connor has returned after spending a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. H. Palmer, Watertown. R. J. Green has purchased a horse from Hugh Wilson, Gananoque. R. E. Brown has resigned at school, and has taken a situation at Medicine Hat.

MEDICAL CONVOCATION.

A Large Attendance—Principal Gordon Spoke.

Queen's medical convocation was held this afternoon in Convocation Hall, which was crowded with an interested audience. Chancellor Sir Sanford Fleming presided, and after the devotional exercises by Rev. M. Macgillivray, M.A., delivered a brief address. Then followed the presentation of prizes and scholarships. One student, Mr. J. H. Leonard, was named the chancellor's value $70, which Mr. A. H. Leonard, Kingston, won the honor. He, however, was unable to hold it and a hospital house surgeon, so it passes to G. H. Ward, of Niagara.

The graduates were lauded by the chancellor and Dr. Herald, secretary of the medical faculty. J. L. McEwain was the valedictorian. On account of illness, Dr. R. A. Brown, dean of the Toronto University medical faculty, was unable to be present to address graduates. The address of day was given by Principal Gordon, who was here spoken in any event, but he performed a double duty.

CRYING FOR BREAD.

One of the engineer promoters in the proposed electric road between Toronto and Cornwall reached the city this morning from Toronto, having gone over the proposed route between Toronto and Kingston. They found it very satisfactory. The requirements of such a road, on the way down they secured options on many farms for a right of way, with a view to having the road run along the farm fronts instead of the highroads, but following the line of the latter, it is probable that this scheme will be followed out. A second engineer is in Toronto and will go over the same route next week.
