SUMMER HOTEL

DISCUSSED AT A SPECIAL MEETING.

Dr. Drummond Clearly Set Forth the Scheme — An Endeavor Must Now Be Made to Raise the Stock.

A meeting of citizens to consider the question of erecting a summer hotel in Kingston was held in the city council chamber last night. Mayor Bell was moved into the chair. Among those present were: Dr. A. T. Drummond, Toronto; Hon. Mr. Harty, M. P., Edw. J. B. Pense, M.P.P., W. B. Skinner, J. J. Behan, W. F. Nickle, George Mills, Prof. Martin, Dr. Rogers, K.C., Dr. Ryan, R. H. Toye, H. Youlden, J. P. Hanley, John McKelvey, Alderman Mowat, Henry Moore, Alderman McCammon, Edward Steacy, James Redden, Alderman Sears, Alderman Mallen, John Mudie, Dr. Clements, D. G. Laidlaw, Felix Shaw.

Dr. Drummond stated that he had given a great deal of attention to the question of a summer hotel. This city was not progressive, but there was no reason why it should not be. He had spent five pleasant years here and had come to the conclusion that it needed only some persons to give the scheme a start. In his opinion the start should be made by Kingston's own citizens, who should not look to outsiders. One great reason why tourists did not come to Kingston was on account of lack of good accommodation.

On thinking the question over, Dr. Drummond said he had come to the conclusion that there were two sites in Kingston, particularly suitable for a summer hotel—Macdonald Park and the Carruthers property opposite the City park. As the former was unavailable, the Carruthers property remains to be chosen. He outlined the classes of people to whom the hotel would cater—the wealthy tourists, the middle classes, the students and those who travel at all times of the year for a rest. The whole question was whether the hotel would pay or not, and he had come to the conclusion that to lease the building would be the best plan. He had looked carefully into this matter, and on Saturday last he had been able to secure an offer from a large hotel company in the United States to lease the Kingston summer hotel for ten years at a rate of ten per cent. on the cost, which would give the shareholders a dividend of six per cent.

As to the size of the hotel, he thought it best to start on a modern plan of perhaps 100 bed-rooms. The plans he had were prepared by Symons & Rae, Toronto, and called for 118 bed-rooms. The design was of French Chateau style, of brown pressed brick, with sandstone facings, and the intention was to have it not only a summer hotel, but a winter one also. What was wanted in Kingston was not merely a summer hotel. There was also a winter demand. The interior equipment would be of the most modern. The idea was to cut off the upper flat in the winter so as to save expense. The plans allowed for the easy extension of the wings so that double the capacity could be secured.

The total estimated cost was $150,000. The plan Dr. Drummond proposed to finance the scheme was this: To call for forty per cent. of the stock during the first year. There would be $100,000 in bonds.

Hon. Mr. Harty—"The whole thing, gentlemen, is whether we can raise $150,000 or not. Let us get down to that. I have been working on this scheme for twenty-five years. The monied men do not seem to wish to attend the meetings. The people who will benefit principally are the merchants, and if they do not give their aid, then the whole thing will have to be dropped."

Mr. Pense stated that the proposed hotel would not take people from the present hotels, which were merely transient stopping places. What the new hotel would aim at would be to draw to the city a different class altogether. Unless Kingston had a first-class hotel the tourists would not come here. A summer hotel would help the city and it would help the other hotels here. There was a scarcity of hotels down the river, and the overflow of tourists would come to Kingston. Kingston was not dead or even non-progressive; she was having a good awakening. As to the sanitarium hotel scheme, he thought there was no need for any rivalry, in fact each hotel could help the other. He hoped the citizens would go unitedly and help along the scheme which could be made successful. Though there had been failure for twenty-five years, he believed a good time was coming yet.

Dr. Ryan was sorry that more of the business men had not attended the meeting. They should have done so. The great reason why Kingston did not secure large conventions was on account of the meagre hotel accommodation. A large dinner could not ever be held in an hotel here. A new era would be opened if a large hotel were built. To make the scheme a success, not only the wealthy class must be approached; the average citizen must do his share and take stock to whatever amount he can.

Mr. McKelvey said that he had put all the money he could into the proposed sanitarium hotel, and could not take stock in the present proposal. He thought it better to build one first.

John Mudie thought it might be well if the city would take stock to the extent of $50,000. Mr. Steacy, Mr. Skinner, Alderman Sears also spoke. The latter feared that it would be difficult to raise the money in the city.

A subscription book was passed around, and a number of amounts set down. However, the response was not what it should have been. Dr. Drummond stated that he had not lost faith in Kingston, but if the present scheme failed he doubted if ever the chance would again be afforded. The city, he declared, was easily capable of subscribing the desired amount.

Mr. Pense regretted that the scheme had again been received in an almost half-hearted way. There was hardly a voluntary subscription, and few words of good cheer had been spoken. He stated that he had voluntarily received a pledge of good subscriptions from two Montreal gentlemen, who recently became residents here.

Dr. Drummond will remain in Kingston another day, and aid in the endeavor to get stock subscribed.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Movements Of The People—What They Are Saying And Doing.

Bishop Mills, on Sunday confirmed thirteen persons, in St. Peter's church, Brockville.

Archie Stewart, medical student, left to-day for Erinsville to spend a month with relatives.

Dr. W. C. and Dr. J. C. Connell attended the funeral in Brockville, on Monday, of the late James Connell.

Hon. J. F. Betts, ex-speaker of the North-West legislature, is in the city, visiting boyhood friends, N. J. Dingman and James McParland.

J. P. Oram left this morning for Halifax to take up his duties as manager of the Standard Life Assurance company for Eastern Canada.

Mrs. Chrysler, Port Hope, arrived in the city, Monday, and with her sister, Mrs. Edsall, Chicago, they will be at 36 Wellington street for the summer.

The appointment of James Quigley, Rideau street, as second engineer at the Royal Military College, has arrived from Ottawa. Mr. Quigley will assume duty at once.

H. W. Reynolds, delegate from the Frontenac cheese board, left this morning for Montreal to attend the convention of dairymen and exporters. He was accompanied by O. C. Bissell.

Thomas Dunlop, of the Dunlop hotel, Atlantic City, will reach Kingston to-morrow to take part in an interesting ceremony, in which a charming young lady of Barrie field, will also participate.

During the absence of John McIntyre, K.C., J. D. Thompson will act as chairman of the board of health. Mr. McIntyre has gone to Vancouver, to attend the annual meeting of the Presbyterian General Assembly.

Mrs. Alfred Hunter, Harrowsmith, has returned from Toronto, where she had been attending the piano recital at the Conservatory of Music, given by her daughter, Ila Bell, who has been attending the conservatory for the past year.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

What is Going on in Harbor And Elsewhere.

Craig's wharf: Steamer Alexandria down.

The schooner Queen of the Lakes cleared for Sodus with felspar.

Garden Island—Steamer Calvin and consort, from Toledo, with timber.

Swift's wharf: Steamers Toronto down; Spartan down; Corsican up.

M.T. company elevator—Tug Bronson up with four light barges and cleared down with four, grain laden; schooner Grampian, from Duluth with 58,000 bushels of wheat; schooner Katie Eccles, from lake ports with 10,000 bushels of wheat; tug Mary cleared for Montreal with one grain-laden barge.

Seized The Piano.

An uptown resident is lamenting the loss of a piano, but the visiting clergymen are not accused of its disappearance. It seems that a year ago a family took their departure to an eastern town, and were anxious to dispose of a piano. The citizen in question agreed to purchase it for $25, and paid the money. Yesterday the whereabouts of the instrument came to the knowledge of a piano dealer here, and he had it seized as his property. The parties who sold it had only purchased it on the instalment plan, and had paid very little of the money. Ever since their departure, the piano dealer had vainly endeavored to locate the missing instrument. Now he has the piano, and the citizen who paid $25 for it has placed his case in the hands of a lawyer.

Will Close Early.

Thomas McAuley, the veteran book seller, has come to the conclusion that it is waste of energy to keep his store open after half-past six o'clock in the evening, and from this date to September 1st, he will close at that hour. "Tom" says that about all he sells after six o'clock are postage stamps, on which he makes one per cent., and not sufficient of these are turned over to pay for the gas he consumes. As he is not a public philanthropist, he does not see that he is called upon to incur expense for the convenience of the community.

Miserable Folks

Could trace both state of mind and body to some one or other form of stomach disorder. Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablet is a "vest pocket" remedy that nature provides and that medical science has proved a wonder in preventing and curing stomach ailments. If you've a symptom of distress in your stomach test the Pineapple cure. 35c. Sold by Henry Wade and H. B. Taylor.—152.

A Popular Station.

A number of officers discussing military affairs last evening gave great praise to the officers in charge of the local artillery station for their kindness and courtesy. The Kingston artillery station, they stated, is the most popular among officers of any in the dominion, and it is because short course officers are kindly received and not frowned down upon as they are in other military schools. Non-commissioned officers, it was said, had the same good words to say of the local artillery station.

GOOD WORDS

FROM EARNEST LAYMEN ON SUNDAY-SCHOOL WORK.

Too Many Shes, Not Enough Hes, Amongst Teachers, Responsible For Lack of Order—Enthusiasm Needed—Let All Work Unitedly.

A very large percentage of the members of the Ontario synod, both clerical and lay, had come to town on Monday afternoon and were present at the Sunday school conference held in St. George's hall in the evening, the bishop of the diocese presiding. His lordship expressed his pleasure at the synodical work being opened by such an important conference, and hoped that all would go forth from it filled with enthusiasm to do better than in the past.

Papers and addresses were given on the "Desirability of a Uniform Series of Lessons," on "S.S. Examinations, and the Normal System," on "The Sunday School in Country Parishes," and on "Diocesan Organization," by Rev. J. R. Serson, Rev. J. H. H. Coleman, Rev. W. W. Burton and Dudley Hill, Napanee, in the order named.

The first speaker lamented the lack of interest in Sunday school work, the Sunday school being the weakest part of the church's machinery. The disorder often reminded one of feeding time at the 300. Until a regular pedagogical system was established, good teachers and good results would not be forthcoming.

The second paper pointed the moral of the need of normal classes and a definite system of instruction by drawing attention to the work of army reform now going on in England, which was converting the army into a perfectly running machine, with the object of obtaining the best results for time and labour. Once normal classes are established the priest will find his teachers filled with a zest to learn more. Teachers should know two things on Sunday, What to teach, and how to teach it. Where possible, the priest should get assistance from a trained teacher of the public or high schools, who would always be glad to give his or her services. Normal classes should be advisory, consulting classes, and examinations should be quarterly, as a year in a child's life was an eternity. It was suggested that each deanery offer prizes for competition.

The third speaker urged the need of a carefully kept parish register, that the priest may know just when his children are ready for the school. At least one sermon, setting forth the duties of parents in regard to Sunday schools, should be preached in the year. Pupils should be encouraged by any and every means to bring others to the school. Have a Sunday school choir, and a special organist, and you music will be worth $100 a year to you. Pictures should be used to drive home lessons, and monthly reports, the speaker had found, were of great value in raising standard of lessons, and building up the school.

The fourth speaker struck right out from the shoulder, and coming from a layman, the blows were doubly telling. He hoped people would not go away from the meeting and say how lovely it had all been, how eloquent the addresses were and so practical and do nothing. Enthusiasm was the word of all words best fitted for Sunday school work. The enthusiasm roused by the meeting should be the means of infecting the diocese. Nothing succeeds like success, and nothing fails like failure. Any old way won't do in Sunday school work. He advocated the licensing of a field superintendent, who would go about seeing to Sunday school work in every parish. Mr. Hill's fine address, which later on in the evening received the hearty commendation of his bishop, was accorded vociferous applause.

Voluntary speakers who were limited to five minutes, were Archdeacon Worrell, and Revs. T. Leech, F. D. Woodcock, G. R. Beamish, H. H. Bedford Jones, C. E. S. Radcliffe and G. F. Ruttan, Napanee, one of the church's most useful and faithful laymen. Mr. Leech emphasized the spiritual side of the work, Archdeacon Worrell, strongly advocated normal classes, and Mr. Ruttan, who spoke several times, and always to the point, said he felt that one reason of the failure of Sunday schools, was the commercial spirit drilled into the children at home and in school. They didn't see just what dollars and cents value the Sunday school would have for them, and therefore took no interest in it.

SNAP, PUSH AND GO

Is What One Should Get From Food.

A young St. Louis lady learned a food lesson she won't forget. She says: "I suffered from indigestion for nearly ten years and although I tried all kinds of foods for breakfast I could not eat any of them until one day I discovered Grape-Nuts and now I wonder how I ever did without it.

"I am a stenographer in a business office and need all the energy possible but I formerly spent the greater part of every morning wishing I had gone without breakfast for I was continually reminded of it by the uncomfortable distressed state of my stomach. How much ability I lost through this I could not tell you, but now all is different for I eat some fruit and a saucer of Grape-Nuts and work hard all the morning and never think about my stomach until lunch time comes.

"I feel the good effects of Grape-Nuts in a sharpened brain, better memory and increased thinking capacity. The only difficulty I have about it is that I never want to limit myself to the required amount for I love it so." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There is a reason why Grape-Nuts sharpen the brain.

It's fun to make new and delicious desserts by the recipe book found in each package of Grape-Nuts.

A VETERAN GARDENER.

Forty-five Years Attending the Kingston Market.

To-day S. N. Watts, Portsmouth, the venerable and esteemed market gardener, celebrated the sixty-seventh anniversary of his birth, and received the sincere congratulations of his many friends. He is hale and hearty and bids fair to celebrate many future similar anniversaries. Mr. Watts has been a regular attendant on Kingston market for forty years, and within that time has seen a great many changes. Recounting some of these, he intimated that the latter day people have changed entirely the former mode of doing business, due to changed conditions. For instance, formerly grist mills in this district, as well as farmers, used to sell flour on the market, whole loads attending three times a week, the citizens purchasing their supply therefrom; it is many years ago since a bag of flour has been sold on Kingston market. He also remembers when farmers attended market with loads of cheese and packed butter; cheese is never sold on the market now, and packed butter is a rarity. In the olden days, five farmers attended market for one to-day; the modern dairying industry and growth of villages throughout the district are primarily responsible for the falling off in the attendance.

Mr. Watts also recalls seeing ox carts and ox sleighs come into the city that were marvels of inventive skill. These vehicles were made in the back townships and were entirely of wood, not a single piece of iron—not even a nail or screw—being used in their construction. These backwoods farmer used to make a practice of coming into the city twice a year—in mid-summer when the roads were dry, and midwinter when sleighing was good. They would market their half year's stock of produce, skins, etc., and take home a half year's quantity of supplies on each trip.

Mr. Watts is the oldest member of the Kingston Horticultural and Agricultural societies, and has always taken an active part in the doings of these organizations, and his counsel is yet sought. Should a visitor cross the threshold of his cosy home on the Forty Foot Road, he will find hospitality unbounded. Mr. Watts is a native of the "tight little isle," whose "splendid isolation" and power to conquer is the envy of all jealous nations.

STATIONING COMMITTEE.

A Change in Circuits Was First Considered.

The stationing committee of the Montreal Methodist conference is composed of Revs. M. Benson (president), H. S. Osborne, T. G. Williams, Thomas Griffith, J. C. Antliff, W. J. Wood, J. E. Mavety, Lewis Conley, E. B. Ryckman, W. Pearson, J. T. Pitcher, A. E. Sanderson, F. G. Lett, J. Greenfell, W. H. Sparling, Robert Smith, C. S. Deeprose, W. Howitt, T. B. Conley, W. H. Stevens.

Rev. W. Howitt, Stanstead, was elected secretary of the committee. The committee has added one circuit, Morewood, on the Matilda district, from part of the Chesterfield charge. Island Pond, on the Quebec district has been dropped by readjustment of the work.

Owing to the detention of Rev. Dr. Rose in Ottawa, by the death of Alexander Fraser, there has been a change ordered in the services. The conference missionary meeting will be held in Queen street church on Wednesday night and Dr. Rose's lecture will be given in Sydenham street church on Thursday night.

Are Making Good Time.

Citizens appreciate the fast service now being given by the street railway company, due to the introduction, at considerable cost, of patent spring switches, which operate themselves, saving considerable time. These switches, since their introduction permit of the Portsmouth cars making regular trips in forty minutes or less, effecting a saving of from ten to fifteen minutes on each trip. Thus, by the new system, these cars are enabled to make four additional trips a day, which is quite a consideration, when one is wanting a quick transit. If the unused switch on Princess street was removed, better time still would be made.

Due To Neglect.

A resident of University avenue writes to the Whig complaining of the neglect of the board of works department in leaving that thoroughfare in a bad condition. When the spring scraping was performed, the muck scraped from the road-bed was piled in ridges at either side of the street, where it has since been allowed to remain and harden, becoming dangerous and unsightly. The appearance of the street is spoiled, and it is almost impossible to drive a rig close to the sidewalk without risking the smashing of a wheel or axle.

A House Divided, Etc.

There was trouble in the painters' camp last evening, at a regular meeting of the union. A certain journeyman painter was accused of taking contracts for work at too low a figure; he was urged to raise his prices but refused. Hot words followed, and the outcome was that the painter in question left the meeting, after declaring that he was "through with the union."

A Splendid Lawn.

Queen's University will possess a magnificent lawn as soon as the grass grows thick enough to form a sod. The lawn is located between the two arts' buildings on the south and the physics and mining buildings on the north. It is as level as a billiard table. The campus will also be a fine plot of ground when ready.

Plumbers Would Not Work.

For the second time within a week union plumbers and non-union master painters have come into conflict. A gang of plumbers was sent to a King street residence yesterday to do some work. The men had just nicely started their task when a non-union boss painter entered the building to do some work. The plumbers at once picked up their tools and left.
