MUCH USEFUL INFORMATION.

Given Out in Addresses by Visiting Oddfellows.

Last night's meeting of Cataragu Lodge, No. 10, I.O.O.F., was attended by many of the delegates at present in the city to attend the annual meeting of the Oddfellows' Relief Association. Several of the visitors delivered interesting addresses on subjects of interest to the order. W. H. Boyle, M.P.O.L., Cunningham, spoke of the progress made in respect to the proposed home for aged Oddfellows. A site of fifty acres has been secured near Oakville, and on this building suitable for the purpose in view will be reared. Joseph Olive, P.G.M., Toronto, advocated sending copies of each issue of the Independent Gold fellow to every member of the order in the dominion. This could be done at a cost per capita of about twenty cents. Short addresses were also delivered by Justice Johnston, the grandmaster, Mr. Moore, Ottawa, and others. Much useful information was exchanged by those who heard the addresses.

THE DOG NUISANCE.

A Citizen Is Doubly Persecuted—Should Be Banished.

"That was a sensible article I read in the Whig of Monday night's issue, on the dog question," said a prominent citizen today. "The dog nuisance, while abated somewhat, is still a source of great annoyance to many. I cannot understand why some people are soothsayers of the comfort of their friends as to prosecute them for keeping dogs. Take my case, for instance—I never owned a dog and never want to, but my two neighbors on either side of me each own a couple of doubtful lineage. These beasts are for the most part allowed the freedom of the back yards at night, and pass the time from sunset to sunrise in a continuous chorus of barks. They have nearly driven me and my family crazy. They are useless, save both of them, neither ornamental nor useful, and we have no harbor for them, beyond human comprehension."

"Then again, I try to keep my place neat and tidy but it is impossible to keep the dogs from defiling my lawn. I have threatened to shoot every dog I caught trespassing on my premises but the animals seem to be aware of my intention, as they do not allow me to see them; but nevertheless they give me reason to know they have been trespassing. If I had my way I would not allow a dog within the municipality. If that scheme is unconstitutional, then I would put on a prohibitory tax and bring about the much desired change in that manner. They are an intolerable nuisance and should be abolished."

Coming To Kingston.

The Watertown Lodge, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will run a excursion from that city to Kingston on Thursday, 16th inst., arriving by special train at half-past eleven o'clock. The B. P. O. Elks is a fraternal society and numbers among its members some of the most prominent men in the United States, it is a purely United States order, founded by Charles A. Vivian, an English actor. It was first known as the Jolly Corks and ninety per cent. of the actors on the United States stage are members. There are several former Kingstons members of the Watertown Lodge. The secretary of the Watertown Lodge is a former Portsmouth boy, Francis J. Dobie. Among those who will accompany the excursion will be Mayor Frank C. Morrison of the fire department, Alderman Wallace, Alderman Earle, Alderman Reblin, Chairman of the Council Roblin, and City Electrician Bundy. These gentlemen are well known to many in Kingston.

Poor Cheese Marketed.

A local cheese exporter stated yesterday that he never saw so much poor cheese brought into the city at one time as lately. Factories sent in this week. Nearly all the factories had cheese of inferior quality, showing that the cause was general, and not confined to one or two factories. He is of the opinion that pastureage had something to do with the matter. As a result of the inferior quality, cheese was cut in price and did not receive as much as they would have got had the cheese been of better grade.

NURSE INJURED

BY RUNAWAY ON THE FERRY WHARF.

Miss Macarthur Knocked Down—

Her Escape Was Miraculous—

Received a Gash on the Side of Her Head.

What very fortunately resulted only in a slight accident, when a fatality seemed certain, occurred on the ferry wharf on Tuesday afternoon. James Devine, Jr., was unloading lumber from his wagon which stood at the corner of the warehouse on the wharf, for the steamer "Pierrepont." A few yards further on sat Miss Macarthur, a professional nurse, intending to leave for New York, after spending her vacation at the family home here.

A short whistle was sounded, after warning was given, and the engine roared right for the place where the ladies sat. One of them jumped to the side of the wharf and was struck by a beam which was leaning against a steamer. The other, the nurse, was lucky in getting out of harm's way and was injured. The nurse, however, jumped over her for an instant she was between the animal's hind feet and front wheels. In short and clever movements she managed to slide the wheels, but the hub of one must have struck her when she fell, for there was a gash in the side of her head.

Miss Macarthur's escape from fatal injuries is a mystery. Had she stood against the warehouse, escape from being crushed to death would seem impossible. It was very fortunate that she was knocked down, and still more so that she used presence of mind to clutch the wheels of the heavy wagon.

Miss Macarthur was assisted to the ferry office and later driven home in a carriage, being forced to postpone her departure till to-day.
