REQUIEM MASS

CELEBRATED IN ST. MARY'S CATHEDRAL

For The Repose Of The Soul Of The Late Holy Father—Rev. Father Kehoe Preached An Eloquent Sermon.

Solemn requiem mass was celebrated in St. Mary's cathedral at nine o'clock this morning for the repose of the soul of the late holy father, Pope Leo XIII. There was a very large congregation present. The interior of the cathedral was heavily draped in black. Within the chancel railing rested a catafalque bearing a mitre, surrounded by candles, to represent a bier. The mass was sung by Rev. Father O'Connor, Kemptville, assisted by Rev. Father Fallon, Ottawa, as deacon, and Rev. Father Staley, as sub-deacon. Rev. Father Mea was master of ceremonies. The Gregorian mass was chanted. Mr. Kennedy rendered "De profundus" as solo.

Rev. Father Kehoe, rector of the cathedral, preached a most eloquent and touching sermon. His text was: "Behold a great priest who in his days feared God and was found just and was in the time of anger made a reconciliation." The people were assembled, the preacher said, in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ to kneel in spirit beside the bier of the most holy father, Pope Leo XIII. They had come into this temple of prayer and sacrifice to offer up petitions to God to have mercy upon the soul of him whose prayers had so often ascended for them—to unite with the priest at the altar in offering up the most holy sacrifice of the mass for the eternal repose of the soul of him who had so often raised the host upon the altar for them. When we consider the late holy father's most eventful life, his virtues, his zeal, that made him a great leader in the world as well as in the church; when we consider his strong and abiding faith that enabled him to cling to the cross in passing through this desert of the world—then can we truly say of this great shepherd of the fold that "in his days he feared God, and was found just, and that in time of anger he was made a reconciliation."

The Holy Ghost tells us in the life of the royal prophets that a heavy judgment is upon them that bear rule. It has been said that the burden of priesthood that the Lord God assumed for the world is great, and so it is, and may God in His mercy grant, that we who bear it may not learn it to our sorrow at the great day of judgment. The bishop's power to govern the church is heavier still. But far weightier than all is the burden laid of the shoulders of him on whom rests the plenitude of jurisdiction for the church of God—to whom the Blessed God has said: "Feed My Lambs, Feed My Sheep." Let us not then be without fear lest he may have anything to suffer for our frailty, in the other world; for his great kindness and wonderful charity would not allow him to place on us that burden of penance which our sins so many times deserve.

From the hearts of the late holy father's children throughout the world goes forth a most fervent prayer that his venerable brow may be brightened to-day by the glory of the beatific vision of God. May his abode be this day in Zion. May his pure and holy soul be carried by the ministry of God's angels to everlasting bliss into the kingdom where death shall be no more, neither weeping or crying, for old things have passed away and all things are become new. May eternal rest be his, and may the perpetual light of glory shine upon him.

Father Kehoe then spoke of the pope's life and virtues, and what he had done for the church and humanity during his long pontificate. He expressed sorrow that his grace, Archbishop Gauthier, through illness, was unable to preach the sermon, for his grace had enjoyed the personal favor and esteem of the holy father, and would be able to picture the greatness and goodness of his holiness. Father Kehoe also expressed the grateful thanks of the Roman Catholic people to the press for its anxiety regarding the health of the holy father, for the kind things it had said of him in life, and now after his death.

The pope's motto was "Labor Hard and Pray Well." He was one of the most industrious of men the church ever had. All who visited him came away with the intention of doing something for God's kingdom. For twenty-five years he governed the church with zeal, energy and courage. The people have exulted in the blessings that have come to the church in his long and eventful pontificate, and shall still exult, for though dead he yet speaketh—speaketh in his wonderful writings that shall last as long as the church itself. He shall live in the wonderful institutions he established and in the foundations he laid so broad and so deep, and generations to come will bless the day when he was appointed as vicar of Christ on earth, and shall hand his name down to future generations, and speak of him as the great "priest who in his days feared God and was found just and was in the time of anger made a reconciliation."

Made A Mistake.

An ex-mayor and ex-mariner had a grievance to tell of to-day. He visited Lake Ontario Park last evening, taking seven friends with him. He purchased eight ten cent tickets, but made a mistake and took his friends into the five cent seats. The mistake was not discovered until after the performance. He is of opinion that the street railway company owes him a refund of forty cents.

What is Going on in Harbor and Elsewhere.

Richardsons' elevator: Schooner Laura D. from bay ports with grain.

Crawford's wharf: Schooner Acacia from Charlotte with coal; Trailewind cleared for Oswego.

M. T. company elevator: Tug Mary up with three light barges, and cleared down with four grain-laden.

Swift's wharf: Steamers Toronto from Toronto; Cassian from Charlotte; Rideau King cleared for Smith's Falls; Corsican from Montreal to-night; Rideau Queen from Smith's Falls.

The steamer Turret Chief arrived up from Montreal last evening, laden with railway iron. Two weeks ago she took down a cargo of grain. After coaling at Swift's wharf she cleared for Fort William. The big steamer was drawing thirteen and a half feet. Vessels from the west like to coal at Kingston, for here they are not huncoed. Some western coaling places captains find give only 1,500 pounds to the ton, but it is difficult to effect a remedy as much dependence has to be placed in the honesty of dealers. At Kingston when vessels coal at Crawford's, Swift's or Craig's wharves they get 2,000 pounds to the ton.

SHOP IS UNFAIR

UNION MEN TRANSGRESS RULES OF ORGANIZATION

Demands Of The Union Must Be Met Or The Shop Will Be Continued Under The Ban—Regular Fines Imposed.

The painters' union has declared a certain shop in this city as unfair, owing to the fact that a union man who went out on strike, secured work in Watertown, but returned and went to work for his former employer without the consent of the union. The union claims that he should have secured permission to do so, despite the fact that he claims to have entered into partnership with his former employer. A fine of $65, with $3 additional for back dues has been registered against the defaulting union man.

Another unionist, formerly employed in the shop now declared unfair, who went to Toronto to work, but subsequently returned and went to work for his former employer, along with a non-union man, has been fined $250, half the regular fine. Until these demands are met either by the employer or his employees, the shop will be continued on the unfair list.

KINGSTON'S SUNDAY.

How a Religious Correspondent Views It.

Kingston Correspondence, Canadian Churchman, Anglican.

The Lord's Day Alliance has apparently bowed to the inevitable and allowed the street cars to run on Sunday. The question may be asked, Who is the worse for it? The great danger with all organizations such as the Alliance is that of their over-doing the thing, and carrying their efforts into the region of fanaticism. The attempt to keep street cars idle on Sunday is of this nature. It is as least a most inconsistent thing to allow cabs and horses, and yet tie up a system of street cars, whose running does not employ as many men as would be engaged in the livery business without them. The Kingston Car Co., however, only runs its cars on Sundays when they are likely to pay. This is wrong. If it is right to run them for the profit of the owners on one Sunday, it is equally right that they should be run for the convenience of the public on other Sundays. It is said that the company recognize this and are working out a scheme by which their profits may be made and the moral atmosphere kept in a due state of purity. This is no less than to organize an open air "religious service" in Lake Ontario Park, whither crowds would go and the cars be filled. On week days, be it observed, this park is the scene of a daily vaudeville performance. It is Montreal's Sohmer or Toronto's Munro on a smaller scale. Now the proposal is simply to vary the entertainment, or rather, perhaps to make it continuous. The singers go before, on Saturday, and the ministers follow after, on Sunday. We sometimes see and hear strange things, but surely this proposal is too preposterous ever to be entertained. Would any self-respecting "minister" allow himself to be used and the gospel degraded in order to raise money for a street car company? Surely not.

Since writing the above, the decision of the privy council on the Lord's Day Act has been received. Now let us have a sensible and broad-viewed act drawn up by the Dominion government and in terms that will be acceptable to all right-thinking people. We want the Sunday to be duly observed and loved for the good it does. Don't let us make it hated by passing legislation which prohibits so harmless a thing as riding on street cars between church hours.

Monday, the 13th, was observed by the Orange Order in this city with the usual parade, music and speeches. A very noticeable thing about the speeches was the absence of bitterness of feeling. The true Orange principle of loyalty was the keynote, it being acknowledged that such a principle was to be found amongst Roman Catholics as well as Protestants. An excellent suggestion was also made that the Orange Order should erect a lasting monument to itself by building, equipping and endowing some such charitable institution as a hospital for consumptives. The Society already has an Orphans' home at Picton, which is said to be an excellent concern. Such work would soon commend itself to the country, and the Orangemen of to-day would find it much more sensible than the effort to fight over again the battles of 300 years ago, or to keep alive the quarrels which ought to have been then forever settled.

A Lengthy Record.

The Clevedon, Eng., Mercury of a recent issue contained the following item regarding Guard Watts, well known to many in Kingston and vicinity:

"In the course of a chat with Guard Watts as to the length of time he has been with the Great Western railroad company, it was learned that he joined the service in 1859, and after his recovery from an illness, owing to an accident to the 'Dutchman' in 1876, he was placed on the Clevedon branch, where he has been working the trains for twenty-five years. During that time he has made 69,700 journeys and covered 355,600 miles. Although he has been in the railway service a long time, he still hopes to continue his duties for a few years."

Guard Watts is a brother of S. N. Watts, Portsmouth, who is on his way to England to visit his relative, whom he has not seen in over forty years.

It Would Look Cosy.

The minister of a little Scotch village was at the bedside of a Scotchman, named Donald, preparing him by pious exhortations for the great journey. "Have you anything on your mind, Donald?" he asked; "is there any question you would like to ask me?" And the minister bent down to listen to the dying man's reply. "Na, meenister, I'm na feared. . . . I wad like to ken the whether there'll be whiskey in heaven?" Upon his spiritual counsellor remonstrating with him upon such a thought at such a moment, he hastened to add, with a knowing look: "Oh! it's no that I mind meenister, I only thought I'd like to see it on the table!"

His Last Hope Realized.

From the Sentinel, Cebo, Mont.

In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1889, the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the big race one fine day in April. During his travelling about and afterwards his tramping upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which, together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhoea, which it seemed almost impossible to check, along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking the first sound sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure and he cannot help but feel grateful. The reason for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by all druggists.
