Inland Chinese Missions.

A large number of people went out "Calderwood," on Thursday, to hear an address by Mrs. Stott, of the Chinese Inland Mission. This interesting woman spoke first of the apathy over missionery work at home, manifested by the majority of people, and then gave a most interesting account of her own special work-the training of young Chinese girls to make good wives for Christian husbands. The workers in China have been much encouraged lately, as during the recent persecutions but two out of two hundred gave up the faith. Another hopeful thing was the fact that but weeks elapsed after the burning of their mission buildings, before work of rebuilding was begun. Several converts are made every month. and a converted Chinaman, is usually a thoroughly converted man.
