

SIX BOOKS FOR THE SICK.

What I Learned After 30 Years.

Which Shall I Send?

- Book 1 on Dyspepsia.
- Book 2 on the Heart.
- Book 3 on the Kidneys.
- Book 4 for Women.
- Book 5 for Men (aged).
- Book 6 on Rheumatism.

No money is wanted. Simply select the book you need. It is my experience as a specialist of 30 years. In the book I tell how at last I found a way to reach difficult, deep-seated diseases. Thirty years of earnest, arduous toil in hospitals and at bedside, made it possible for me to write these books. The books tell how I perfected my prescription - Dr. Shoop's Restorative. How by scientific experiment I traced out the causes that bring on chronic diseases. I found invariably where there was a weakness, that the inside nerves were weak. Where there was a lack of vitality, that the vital nerves lacked power. Where weak organs were found, I always found weak nerves. Not the nerves commonly thought of, but the vital organs nerves. The inside-the-invisible nerves. This was a revelation. Then my real success began. Then I combined ingredients that would strengthen - that would vitalize these nerves. That prescription I called a restorative. It is known the world over now as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. After that I did not fail to cure one case in each hundred. In the extremely difficult cases, my failures for five years were one in each forty treated. I found cancer incurable. Cancer is for surgery, not medicine. Then how to get this prescription to the sick ones everywhere. I must announce it in the public press. But, thought I, will they realize the real truth of my discovery - the real power of Dr. Shoop's Restorative? Then a way came to me - like revelation. "I will offer it to the sick on trial," said I. Then they will know I am sincere. I wrote a reliable druggist in each city and village in America. I got their consent to co-operate with me.

Now to any sick one Dr. Shoop's Restorative Can be Taken on Trial.

For a full month I will let you use it entirely at my risk. Send no money. Just write me for the book you need. When I send it I will tell you of a druggist near you who will permit the month's trial. Use the Restorative a month. Then decide. If you say to the druggist, "It did not help me," that will relieve you of any expense whatever. He will bill the cost to me. This is my way of clearing your mind of all doubt as to what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do. No matter how prejudiced, you cannot dispute this absolute security I offer. You cannot resist an offer like this if you are at all sick. If you have a witness, write me. If you can't do things like you used to do them, tell me about it. Write in confidence. As a physician I will tell you a way to help. Get my book now - to-day.

Address Dr. Shoop, Box, 40, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. Ask Druggists.

GREAT GOD OF NEW YORK.

Dress Placed on Altar and Worshipped.

New York, Nov. 22. - "A Club Woman" writing to the New York Evening Post, says: Like old Athens, New York has an altar for every god, but the chief among them is the great god "Dress." No age is exempt from his influence: from the cradle to the grave - his votaries offer incense and adulation. Is it not a painful spectacle we have witnessed during the past week, the mob of curious gawkers confronting the boxes of ladies of wealth and refinement at the horse show, these same gazers openly commenting upon the dress and personal attractions of our supposed people of fashion? The height of vulgarity was reached by those newspapers which gave a minute description of the "toilettes" of the great ladies. We believe, and hope that those gentlemen were deeply disgusted at this exhibition of bad taste. Seriously speaking, the craze, the absolute madness for extravagant dressing, is a grave menace to our national well-being. Who will first try to stem the tide? To what American woman or group of women shall the honor belong of inaugurating simplicity of dress? There is scarcely any subject of more vital importance now before our countrywomen, for extravagance in dress leads to so many other ills, both social and personal. Oh, for an hour of Emerson, "Hitch your wagon to a star," he cried, but we hitch ours to a dressmaker.

DEATH OF G. A. MONTGOMERY.

Formerly of Leeds County, Ont. - A Regina Pioneer. Regina, N.W.T., Nov. 27. - Major George A. Montgomery, one of the pioneers of Regina, died here on Thursday after an illness of several months. He was born in Leeds County, Ontario nearly eighty years ago. In 1849 he joined the rush to California, crossing the Colorado desert at the head of a party of seventy daring young men. Later he practised law at Merrickville, Ont. He twice unsuccessfully contested Leeds county in the conservative interest for the commons.

Better Than A Plaster. A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound to the affected parts is superior to any plaster. When troubled with lame back, or pains in the side or chest, give it a trial and you are certain to be more than pleased with the prompt relief which it affords. For sale by all druggists.

The "Delanotte" rubber tires is the most perfect fitting truss made; light in weight; easily kept clean; will never wear out. Sold only at Wade's.

A CITY AUTHOR

A NEW BOOK BY MRS. (PROF.) CARR HARRIS.

A Story of Early Pioneer Days - Sir Sandford Fleming's Views on the New Transcontinental Railway - Notes of the Magazines.

One of the latest books to be issued from the press of William Briggs, Toronto, bears, as author, the name of a well-known Kingston lady - Bertha Wright Carr-Harris, wife of Prof. Carr-Harris. It is entitled, "The White Chief of the Ottawa," and is well illustrated by John Innes. The author explains that it is not fiction, but "something stranger than fiction," a sketch of the life-experiences of Philbrick Wright and his family, the first settlers in the district of Ottawa. With the exception of the love of Abbie and Chrisey, which are based upon fact, the story is mainly a simple recital of actual facts which cannot be controverted. There you find in a nutshell. As a contribution to the history of pioneer life in Canada, the book will be a valuable one. The pioneer days were replete with material for a novelist's pen, and the wonder is that so few writers have grasped the opportunity. Mrs. Carr-Harris has given us a good picture of those early days - the struggles, the hardships, the triumphs of Mr. Wright and family, and the growth of Bytown, the little settlement that so long was to be the beautiful capital of a strong young nation. Into her narrative, the author weaves such stirring incidents as Daulac's immortal stand against the Ironsides, tales of the war of 1812, Champlain's trip up the Gatineau, the Duke of Richmond's visit and death, etc. These are not new themes, nor are any new points brought out, but they are told in direct narration by those who were generally eye-witnesses of the events, and this gives them an added interest. The description of the moose-hunt and the charivari are charmingly told. One must admire the sturdy, honest, resolute character of Mr. Wright, who came from New England to found a settlement at Ottawa, then known only as an Indian hunting ground. Even the family in a backwoods settlement could find opportunities for doing good, and in this case, such opportunities were never neglected. The book which sells at $1.25 (cloth bound) will no doubt be well received.

Sir Sandford's Views. The council of the Quebec Board of Trade have published in pamphlet form the views of Sir Sandford Fleming concerning the new transcontinental railway. Having been at one time the engineer-in-chief of the Intercolonial and the Canadian Pacific railways, there is perhaps no judge of such a question, more competent to survey the territory to be traversed, he knows the difficulties to be overcome and the advantages to be gained. In summing up his views, he says: "I again express the great satisfaction I have in knowing that the policy of the government is to establish a great national railway, and to open up for settlement and human industry the untitled and unoccupied lands of the Dominion. I have the utmost faith in the wisdom of the policy. I have faith in an all-rail means of carrying the products of the farm to the seaboard. This policy is the true and only satisfactory solution of the great problem of transportation in the more northern latitudes of Canada."

On The Banks Of The Besor. From the press of the William Briggs Co., Toronto, comes a neat little brochure entitled "On the Banks of the Besor," or "The Man Behind the Baggage." It is from the pen of C. B. Keeleyside, B.A., B.D., and is one of the London (Ont.) News. A religious pamphlet, or a sermon in book form, having for the text the scriptural story of David's stand on the bank of the Besor, the author, in a worldly and worldly manner of amusement than can be given of reclaiming the lost. The booklet, while containing theological controversy of any form, has an earnest appeal for the better life, which is helpful and inspiring. It introduces Old Testament subjects, and makes them applicable to present day problems. This is one of several bright, helpful little booklets recently written by Mr. Keeleyside.

Among The Magazines. The Christmas Scribner's is a sumptuous number, filled with fiction gay and bright, with remarkable poems, (which prove that poetry has not gone into eclipse) and with artistic achievements notable for beauty and variety. Color printing has never reached a higher point. John Fox, Jr., whose "Little Shepherd" has been the great book of success of the fall season, contributes a Christmas story to Scribner's delightful in its sentiment. Edith Wharton has a most amusing tale of Venice in the true spirit of comedy, illustrated by Parish. A new writer, Allen Arthur Knipe, M.D., a famous football player in his time, writes the story of a "Sub-masoc." There never was a tale fuller of the spirit of college life and fun. In "Miss Fitzmaurice, Debutante," the novelette which the December Smart Set opens, Frank Lee Benedict has given the best product of his pen.

The total contents, in fiction and verse comprise in quantity that of any other magazine published, and are hits, too, literary and human values which make quality as well.

McClure's Magazine for December, in harmony with the gentleness of the season, moderates a little its strenuous, battering-ram tone of the last few months. It is, in fact, decidedly Christmas, with its beautiful illustrations - many in tint - and amiable fiction - and is all aglow with the spirit of true-time. For the strenuous reader, however, there are articles by Ida M. Tarbell, Ray Stannard Baker and others.

There is increasing curiosity to learn the identity of "Sipina" who contributes to Blackwood the diverting "Personal," political, social and various, which are among the most caustic and humorous of sketches. Whoever it is, he is possessed of a wide range of information and a remarkable assortment of enemies. The fourth instalment is contained in the Living Age for October 24th.

Usually it is the blunders of students that are shown up in humorous sketches of examination papers, but in Mr. Ellis' "Scholarship Howlers," which the Living Age for October 31st reprints from Longman's Magazine, the tables are turned, and the errors do not seem to be perpetrated by teachers. Every contributor to Canadian Magazine for November is a Canadian. The character sketch deals with George E. Drummond, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. E. Stewart, Dominion superintendent of forestry, writes of "The Approaching Timber Famine," and advocates a national preservative policy. Edwin Sandys writes brightly of the young quail, "Robert White, Jr." Augustus Bridle describes the different grades of "The Homes of Workingmen" as illustrated in Toronto. James Hannay deals with the British fair at Flattsburg in 1814, while E. R. Biggar tells about the significance of the Centenary of the British and Foreign Bible Society. The stories are by Frances Harrison, Elizabeth Roberts Macdonald, Albert R. Carman, Benjamin Sulte and L. M. Montgomery.

Leaving - Collins Bay. Collins Bay, Nov. 25. - Practising has begun for the Christmas tree under the able management of the Misses Garrett and Losses. On Sunday evening Mrs. Reese sang in a pleasing manner, "Jerusalem." C. Reese intends having a sale of farm implements on the 30th. He will remove to Syracuse, N.Y. The annual tree-meeting will be held on the 14th of December. J. Shea, soloist, Kingston, is spending a week with his sister, Mrs. J. O'Connell. Mrs. D. J. Rankin is visiting her brother, Mrs. J. Purdy, in Oak Mont, Pa. W. Tait has resumed his old position at the mill. Miss Mary Grasse is attending school in Toronto.

A Sour Stomach And A Sour Temper. Travel hand-in-hand and are the precursors of a nervous and physical wreck. Nine hundred and ninety-nine times in a thousand food ferment (indigestion) is the cause. Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets keep the stomach sweet - aid digestion - keep the nerve centres well balanced - they are nature's panacea - pleasant and harmless. 35c. Sold by Henry Wade and H. B. Taylor. - 88.

Chills, Backache, Constipation, Urinary Troubles, Swelling of Extremities, Pain in Joints or Hips

Any one of these symptoms indicates weakened or diseased kidneys and consequent blood poisoning. Immediate action is necessary. Every hour's delay increases the amount of poisonous matter left in the blood and renders the disease more obstinate.

VERONA BUDGET.

Turkeys Stolen - Many Items About People.

Verona, Nov. 26. - McCarter purchased two handsome thoroughbred dogs from W. C. Stedman, Montreal Junction. W. Malcolm Lamson has returned from Gannaqueo to remain for the winter. Master Russell G. G. Aldi, after visiting his sister, Mrs. J. E. Walroth, has returned to his home at Sharbot Lake. Frank Grant, Watertown, N.Y., is visiting his parents and new acquaintances here. G. Jeffrey, Jr., residence in nearing completion. He will manage his father's farm during the coming season. J. McKeever, Jr., has purchased Alex. McMahon's farm. W. Storms returned last week from Edmonton, N.W.T., whither he went on the farm labourers' excursion. W. Kenyon is a very successful potato grower; he exhibited four tubers, of the Chicago market variety, which netted twelve pounds. W. C. Pringle, wife, and little Miss Gladys, were guests at Joseph Perry's last week; they returned to their home at Camden East to-day. Craig Bros. are hauling feldspar to the railway siding here, and will likely continue during winter months. W. Craig, Sr., lately returned from Detroit, Mich.; he sustained a fall while absent, keeping him pretty much confined to his room since his arrival home. The remains of the late Reuben A. Jackson, owner of the Jackson house, arrived on Sabbath last and were placed in the vault here. Bert Grant, spending the summer at Deseronto, in employment of Rathbun Co., is here visiting his parents. The sale at Anson Grant's was largely attended; good prices generally ruled. Our Christmas entertainment promises to eclipse all former efforts. Miss Florence Harvey, Kingston, has kindly consented to contribute to the programme. The quadrille party at the Union hotel was well attended. At a trustee meeting of the Methodist church Edward Creal was appointed caretaker. H. Jeffrey, retiring, Mrs. W. Curran and son, Fenwick, are visiting at Napawan. W. A. Grant has returned from Kingston and resumed his position in K. & P. station here.

Our cheese factory closed Tuesday and the last of the season's make of cheese was shipped out yesterday. J. Hicks, maker, has given entire satisfaction; he will probably be engaged for next season. Local sports have returned with their allowance of deer. The proprietors of the Union and Imperial hotels were numbered with the hunting party. N. Wortelsky, engaged in business with his brother here for some time, has removed to Colebrook, and launched into business for himself under the head of Wortelsky & Co. His many Verona friends wish him good luck. The persons who stole a number of turkeys from Eugene Perry are known. H. McMullen intends running his lime kiln during the coming summer, which means a market for considerable wood.

Oak Leaf Notes. Oak Leaf, Nov. 25. - Mr. Jones, school teacher, is training his scholars for a concert at close of term. R. J. Green, ex-warden, with three fellow sportsmen returned last week from a three-weeks' hunt at Warren, New Ontario. Among their trophies were five fine deer. J. Nixon & Son are again on this street with their steam threshing and engine. Matthew Johnson was taken suddenly ill with congestion on Tuesday, 24th-inst. Aaron Green is disposing of hay and grain, previous to his leaving his farm home in March 1904. Mr. and Mrs. W. Touris, Glen Bush and Miss Faber, Athens, visit at Francis Sheldon's, a day last week.

Uric Acid Poisoning. Failure of the kidneys to throw off waste products of the system is the cause of this dangerous condition. Headache, backache, irritability, Bright's disease, general derangement, all follow. Peck's Kidney Pills restore the kidneys to their proper condition. Nature does the rest. Two weeks' treatment, 25c., at Wade's. Money back if not satisfactory.

CHRISTMAS CANADIAN MAGAZINE

The coloured cover of special design, some seasonable stories and articles, many excellent drawings and coloured reproductions make the Christmas Canadian Magazine attractive. As a Canadian Souvenir to send abroad it is not equalled by any other Canadian publication. The Symposium on "Canada and Mr. Chamberlain," by John Charlton, M.P., Chancellor Wallace, Professor Shortt, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, Walter C. Nichol and Hon. R. P. Roblin adds materially to its value as a souvenir to send to Great Britain. The two coloured plates of a Lake Huron Harbour by Moonlight, and an article on Toronto as a Typical Canadian City add to this value. With the exception of Sarah A. Tooley, who writes of Christmas at Sandringham, and Justin McCarthy, who contributes a story, all the contributors are Canadians. Price 25 cents; all booksellers.
