JOHN H. MILLS. The Leading Auctioneer.

Told in the Twilight.

Life has two sovereign moments—One when we settle down. To some life-worthy purpose; One when we grasp the crown.

May one put in a plea for the shop girls, whose none-to-easy life, is made doubly, trebly, hard at Christmas time?

Certainly they are paid to do their work, but is a question whether they are paid to endure with meekness, the insufferable treatment accorded them by undecided, stingy, querulous, exacting, underbred women.

Mr. Stacey's very pleasant tea was the event for Thursday afternoon. Miss McKoon, the hostess, sister, received with her, adding her quota to Mrs. Stacey's bright and gracious welcome.

Mrs. John Campbell's dance on Tuesday was one of the gayest and most enjoyable events so far this season. The charming hostess spared no pains to make her party pleasant, and deeply appreciative guests are her reward.

A jolly driving party, with Mrs. Roderick Mackenzie as the originator, and Miss Norton-Taylor as guest of honor went out Monday to Westbrook, where they had tea, and then played games, till the time for home-turning arrived.

Mrs. Martin's third dance, which came off on Wednesday, was every whit as good fun as its predecessors. This genial hostess doesn't think of trouble where young people's pleasure is concerned, and her efforts on their behalf are always ably seconded by Mr. Martin, who has a special weakness for seeing the boys and girls enjoy themselves, and the consequence is that when these same boys and girls are under Mr. and Mrs. Martin's hospitable roof, they do enjoy themselves to the full.

Miss Macmorine, and Miss Mildred Macmorine were hostesses at an informal little thimble tea on Monday, when about a dozen pairs of hands busied themselves over pretty trifles for Christmas.

Mrs. Hagne gave an extremely jolly young people's party on Wednesday. Progressive ping-pong, and other games, were the amusement.

Mrs. Adam Shortt will give a small Gained Forty Pounds In Thirty Days.

For several months our younger brother had been troubled with indigestion. He tried several remedies but got no benefit from them.

tea on Wednesday, in honour of some of the students at Queen's. Cards are out for a tea at Mrs. Harry Richardson's on Tuesday.

Mrs. W. J. Crothers will entertain at tea on Thursday of next week.

Mrs. Crumley, who has been more or less ill for upwards of a year, and who lately underwent a serious operation at the General Hospital, has recovered sufficiently to be moved to her home, and is getting along very nicely, and every one who knows this sunny little woman will be glad to hear that there is every reason to believe that she will be able to see visitors by Christmas time.

Mrs. Hemming is spending the week end in Toronto.

Canon and Mrs. Loucks returned today to Pictou.

Mrs. Edward Lewis, who has been a guest at "Bishopscourt" since Monday.

MISS MAY HANDY.

Famous beauty and belle of Baltimore, Washington and New York societies, whose oft-reported engagement to Brown Potter, the New York clubman and society man, is again revived.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Donoghue are visiting in Montreal.

Mr. Burton Horsey, who spent the early part of the week in town, left on Thursday for Montreal, Dr. and Mrs. George Horsey are now staying in Devonshire, Eng.

Mrs. Briggs, who was expected in town yesterday to be the guest of Mrs. McParland, Emily street, is ill with a heavy cold, and so will not arrive till Monday.

Mrs. Henri Panet has been spending the week with Mrs. Birmingham.

Miss Cameron, of Hamilton, is staying with Mrs. D. E. Mundell.

Sir Richard and Lady Cartwright were invited to dine at Rideau Hall, Ottawa, on Wednesday night.

Mrs. S. McKee, of Montreal, (nee Miss Sherb) is visiting her parents in Belleville.

Mrs. Gordon, who has been the guest of Sir Sandford Fleming whilst in Ottawa, has returned to Kingston.

Mrs. Sedgwick was hostess at a very enjoyable luncheon, given in honor of Mrs. Gordon and others.

Colonel and Mrs. Reade entertained at dinner on Wednesday.

Mr. H. McCrea and Miss Grace McCrea, Easton's Corners, are in Kingston for the winter.

Miss Isabel Polson left yesterday for London, to spend a month with her aunt, Mrs. Rollins.

The Rev. C. H. Munro, M.D., of Ethelbert, Man., and wife are in the city prior to leaving for the west.

Dr. Munro was married on Thursday at Toronto to Miss Elena Eyre of Millbrook. The groom, a great grandson of Sir Alexander Mackenzie, the noted explorer, has been for six years one of the medical missionaries of the Presbyterian church in the Canadian west.

The bride is a graduate of the Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, and the Training School for Nurses, Toronto, General Hospital.

During the past two years she has been in Birmingham, Alabama.

Mrs. Laidlaw, mother of Mr. D. G. Laidlaw, is now a guest at her son's home. She lives in Montreal.

The engagement is announced of Miss Clara Oberndorfer to Mr. J. E. Brown, B.E., of Ottawa. The marriage will take place the third week in December.

The dance which is to come off next week is, at present, dividing the honors with the Alma Mater elections as a topic of conversation, and anticipations of a thoroughly enjoyable hop are heard on all sides.

Did you hear of the really clever thing the members of Chalmers church Young People's Society did? It's worth repeating for the benefit of other societies in a similar box.

Among those with whom she has studied are: A. E. Ruf (only teacher of the eminent basso, Eugene Cowles); Madam Hess-Burr, of the celebrated Hess family, Germany; Madam Lillian Bialik and Maud Hayter-Hartley, English contralto, of the Royal Conservatory of Music, London, Eng.; Miss Braniff had the distinction of being presented to Mr. Shakespeare, of London, during his American tour and heard his lectures in which he advocated the use of certain breathing gymnastics that are a part of her method. Those who desire the best instruction would do well to consult with Miss Braniff, Hotel Randolph.

Boys! If you are going to buy your mother a Christmas present give her one of Burrow, Stewart & Milne's razors, they are the best. Sold only by Taylor & Hamilton.

Kingston has twenty school trustees; ten could do the business—some two or three do it—hence the move to reduce the number and have them elected by the city as a whole and not by wards. If it is a good thing to elect aldermen by all, the same rule applies to trustees.

WELL DESERVED. A Tribute To The Hon. E. J. Davis.

"A Tory Traveller" writes this in the Toronto News: "I read in my News where M. Parkinson, school trustee, had spoken highly of Hon. E. J. Davis as commissioner of crown lands. Like a better man, he has not only been elected by the city as a whole and not by wards, but he has been elected by all, the same rule applies to trustees."
