WARD SYSTEM AGAIN. Toronto has had an experience with the ward system, and an experience which is not satisfactory. Its board of control has represented the city, and yet the Mail alleges that it has been given occasionally to irritating ward discriminations. The controllers were disposed, naturally enough, to especi ally serve the districts which elected them. To get rid of that feeling and cause for complaint the legislature was asked to amend the Municipa Act so that the controllers could be elected, like the mayor, by the general vote. And yet, according to the desired, and for the reason that the amendment to the law provides for cumulative voting.
