STAGE COSTUME INDECENT. Refused To Wear It-Sued For

Paris, Jan. 11.-Mlle Cartier, young and beautiful, has been summoned by the management of the Theatre Mathurin before court. The management claims $1,000 damages because sh refused to sing a certain role. In her defense Mile. Cartier testified that she did not refuse the role, but refused to wear the costume furnished it, being too much abbreviated for decency. The judges put their heads together, smiled, winked and then directed the actress to appear again in court with the costume on so that the judges could determine whether it is within the bounds of decency or not. The court room certainly will be crowded.
